INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the greatly expanded 6th edition of Unusual World Coins. With over 150 pages added, over 1,250 new images and as many as 700 new issues this new edition of the classic catalog from the numismatic fringe leaps into the 21st century in a big way.

While the Standard Catalog of World Coins series offers users information and values for circulating and commemorative coins produced under the realm of recognized government authority - Unusual World Coins strives to give the user a glimpse into the murkier side of non-official coin issues from around the world. Though the purpose in producing many of the pieces you will find in Unusual World Coins has changed over the years, the end result is virtually always the same - confusion for coin collectors. Sometimes collectors come across items that look like coins, but can't be found in standard references like the SCWC. What then? Turn to UWC.

It is interesting to note that classic 19th century pieces like the 1848 2 Francs of Moresnet were produced for the same political purposes as the 20th and 21st century coins currently being struck for Nord and Padania. Everyone wants freedom.

Some however, look towards unity. Take the United Transnational Republic 2002 Payola coins or the Amero designed for the Union of North America for instance and compare them to the 1948 Utopia - A World United Dollars. Others hope to improve the world with their coins, as is the case with the over 50 new issues you will find in our new section on West African Tribal coinage, whose revenues benefit the Tribal families they honor.

While others just want a place of their own. Atlantis or Sgarabhaigh for instance or perhaps New Island created out of the fertile imaginations of those looking for something better. But some UWC coin producers are only looking to lay claim, or to establish a collectible for those areas that formerly lacked coins for us to collect. In this 6th edition, many of these new issuing entities have been added such as: Andaman & Nicobar Islands, Redonda, Galapagos Islands, the various Westartica Territories and North Cyprus to name just a few.

And for those who are not new to UWC, those who may be looking to expand their collections in areas already explored, note that many countries in this 6th edition have expanded in marvelous ways. Take some time to review Cabinda, Palestine, Greenland, Italy, Occussi-Ambeno, Middle Earth, Kosovo, Macedonia, Serbia or Montenegro among many others.

No doubt, our little UWC catalog has grown as the market demand for Unusual World Coins of all types has expanded and for those interested in the improved value of their collections this may be the best news of all. Values have increased for all but the most common coins in the Unusual World Coin market. In classic fantasy areas such as China, Germany and India prices have climbed to new peaks and even those formerly thought to be lowly, such as Gold Reef City tokens or those types created purely for fun, such as Purple Shaftieuland are now becoming ardently sought and commanding much higher values.

The Unusual World Coin has finally come into its own and those of us who love this field are enjoying the warmth of the sun on our dark little corner of numismatics.

Best Wishes,

Thomas Michael & George S. Cuhaj

HOW TO USE THIS CATALOG

This catalog series is designed to serve the needs of both the novice and advanced collectors. It provides a comprehensive guide to over 200 years of unusual world coinage. It is generally arranged alphabetically, under issuing country, as named on the coin. In just a few instances, where that name is a province, than those issues are listed under the main country, and then the individual provinces. The following explanations summarize the general practices used in preparing this catalog's listings. However, because of specialized requirements, which may vary by country and era, these must not be considered ironclad. Where these standards have been set aside, appropriate notations of the variations are incorporated in that particular listing.

ARRANGEMENT

Countries are arranged alphabetically. Political changes within a country are arranged chronologically. In countries where Rulers are the single most significant political entity a chronological arrangement by Ruler has been employed. Distinctive sub-geographic regions are listed alphabetically following the countries main listings. A few exceptions to these rules may exist. Please refer to the Country Index found elsewhere in this catalog.

Diverse coinage types relating to fabrication methods, revaluations, denomination systems, non-circulating categories such as patterns, pieforts and sets have been identified, separated and arranged in logical fashion. Chronological arrangement is employed for most circulating coinage, i.e., Monetary reforms will flow in order of their institution. Non-circulating types such as Essais, Pieforts, Patterns, Trial Strikes, Mint and Proof sets will follow the main listings, as will Medallion coinage and Token coinage.

Within a coinage type coins will be listed by denomination, from smallest to largest. Numbered types within a denomination will be ordered by their first date of issue.

IDENTIFICATION

The most important step in the identification of a coin is the determination of the nation of origin. This is generally easily accomplished where English-speaking lands are concerned, however, use of the country index is sometimes required. The coins of Great Britain provide an interesting challenge. For hundreds of years the only indication of the country of origin was in the abbreviated Latin legends. In recent times there have been occasions when there has been no indication of origin. Only through the familiarity of the monarchical portraits, symbols and legends or indication of currency system are they identifiable.

The coins of many countries beyond the English-language realm, such as those of French, Italian or Spanish heritage, are also quite easy to identify through reference to their legends, which appear in the national languages based on Western alphabets. In many instances the name is spelled exactly the same in English as in the national language, such as France; while in other cases it varies only slightly, like Italia for Italy, Belgique or Belgie for Belgium, Brasil for Brazil and Danmark for Denmark.

This is not always the case, however, as in Norge for Norway, Espana for Spain, Sverige for Sweden and Helvetia for Switzerland. Some other examples include:

DEUTSCHES REICH - Germany 1873-1945
 BUNDESREPUBLIK DEUTSCHLAND -
 Federal Republic of Germany.
 DEUTSCHE DEMOKRATISCHE REPUBLIK -
 German Democratic Republic.
 EMPIRE CHERIFIEN MAROC - Morocco.

ESTADOS UNIDOS MEXICANOS -

United Mexican States (Mexico).

ETAT DU GRAND LIBAN - State of Great Lebanon (Lebanon).

Thus it can be seen there are instances in which a little schooling in the rudiments of foreign languages can be most helpful. In general, colonial possessions of countries using the Western alphabet are similarly identifiable as they often carry portraits of their current rulers, the familiar lettering, sometimes in combination with a companion designation in the local language.

Collectors have the greatest difficulty with coins that do not bear legends or dates in the Western systems. These include coins bearing Cyrillic lettering, attributable to Bulgaria, Russia, the Slavic states and Mongolia, the Greek script peculiar to Greece, Crete and the Ionian Islands; The Amharic characters of Ethiopia, or Hebrew in the case of Israel. Dragons and sunbursts along with the distinctive word characters attribute a coin to the Oriental countries of China, Japan, Korea, Tibet, Viet Nam and their component parts.

The most difficult coins to identify are those bearing only Persian or Arabic script and its derivatives, found on the issues of nations stretching in a wide swath across North Africa and East Asia, from Morocco to Indonesia, and the Indian subcontinent coinages which surely are more confusing in their vast array of Nagari, Sanskrit, Ahom, Assamese and other local dialects found on the local issues of the Indian Princely States. Although the task of identification on the more modern issues of these lands is often eased by the added presence of Western alphabet legends, a feature sometimes adopted as early as the late 19th Century, for the earlier pieces it is often necessary for the uninitiated to laboriously seek and find.

Except for the cruder issues, however, it will be found that certain characteristics and symbols featured in addition to the predominant legends are typical on coins from a given country or group of countries. The toughra monogram, for instance, occurs on some of the coins of Afghanistan, Egypt, the Sudan, Pakistan, Turkey and other areas of the late Ottoman Empire. A predominant design feature on the coins of Nepal is the trident; while neighboring Tibet features a lotus blossom or lion on many of their issues.

Coins from some fantasy lands often carry unique languages. The fantasy realms of Middle Earth, for example, use elvish and other languages unique to those places as created by J.R.R. Tolkien.

We also suggest reference to the Index of Coin Denominations presented here and also the comprehensive Country Index, where the inscription will be found listed just as it appears on the coin for nations using the Western alphabet.

DATING

Coin dating is the final basic attribution consideration. Here, the problem can be more difficult because the reading of a coin date is subject not only to the vagaries of numeric styling, but to calendar variations caused by the observance of various religious eras or regal periods from country to country, or even within a country. Here again with the exception of the sphere from North Africa through the Orient, it will be found that most countries rely on Western date numerals and Christian (AD) era reckoning, although in a few instances, coin dating has been tied to the year of a reign or government. The Vatican, for example dates its coinage according to the year of reign of the current pope, in addition to the Christian-era date.

Countries in the Arabic sphere generally date their coins to the Muslim era (AH), which commenced on July 16, 622 AD (Julian calendar), when the prophet Mohammed fled from Mecca to Medina. As their calendar is reckoned by the lunar year of 354 days, which is about three percent (precisely 2.98%) shorter than the Christian year, a formula is required to convert AH dating to its Western equivalent. To convert an AH date to the approximate AD date, subtract three percent of the AH date (round to the closest whole number) from the AH date and add 622. A chart converting all AH years from 1010 (July 2, 1601) to 1421 (May 25, 2028) is presented as the Hejira Chart on page 35.

The Muslim calendar is not always based on the lunar year (AH), however, causing some confusion, particularly in Afghanistan and Iran, where a calendar based on the solar year (SH) was introduced around 1920. These dates can be converted to AD by simply adding 621. In 1976 the government of Iran implemented a new solar calendar based on the foundation of the Iranian monarchy in 559 BC. The first year observed on the new calendar was 2535 (MS), which commenced March 20, 1976. A reversion to the traditional SH dating standard occurred a few years later.

Several different eras of reckoning, including Christian and Muslim (AH), have been used to date coins of the Indian subcontinent. The two basic systems are the Vikrama Samvat (VS), which dates from Oct. 18, 58 BC, and the Saka era, the origin of which is reckoned from March 3, 78 AD. Dating according to both eras appears on various coins of the area.

Coins of Thailand (Siam) are found dated by three different eras. The most predominant is the Buddhist era (BE), which originated in 543 BC. Next is the Bangkok or Ratanakosindsok (RS) era, dating from 1781 AD; followed by the Chula-Sakarāt (CS) era, dating from 638 AD. The latter era originated in Burma and is used on that country's coins.

Other calendars include that of the Ethiopian era (EE), which commenced seven years, eight months after AD dating; and that of the Jewish people, which commenced on Oct. 7, 3761 BC. Korea claims a legendary dating from 2333 BC, which is acknowledged in some of its coin dating. Some coin issues of the Indonesian area carry dates determined by the Javanese Aji Saka era (AS), a calendar of 354 days (100 Javanese years equal 97 Christian or Gregorian calendar years), which can be matched to AD dating by comparing it to AH dating.

The following table indicates the year dating for the various eras, which correspond to 2011 in Christian calendar reckoning, but it must be remembered that there are overlaps between the eras in some instances.

Christian era (AD)	2011
Muslim era (AH)	AH1432
Solar year (SH)	SH1389
Monarchic Solar era (MS)	MS25668
Vikrama Samvat (VS)	VS2068
Saka era (SE)	SE1933
Buddhist era (BE)	BE2554
Bangkok era (RS)	RS230
Chula-Sakarāt era (CS)	CS1373
Ethiopian era (EE)	EE2005
Korean era	4344
Javanese Aji Saka era (AS)	AS1944
Fasli era (FE)	FE1421
Jewish era (JE)	JE5771

Coins of Asian origin - principally Japan, Korea, China, Turkestan and Tibet and some modern gold issues of Turkey - are generally dated to the year of the government, dynasty, reign or cyclic eras, with the dates indicated in Asian characters which usually read from right to left. In recent years, however, some dating has been according to the Christian calendar and in Western numerals. In Japan, Asian character dating was reversed to read from left to right in Showa year 23 (1948 AD).

More detailed guides to less prevalent coin dating systems, which are strictly local in nature, are presented with the appropriate listings.

Some coins carry dates according to both locally observed and Christian eras. This is particularly true in the Arabic world, where the Hejira date may be indicated in Arabic numerals and the Christian date in Western numerals, or both dates in either form.

The date actually carried on a given coin is generally cataloged here in the first column (Date) to the right of the catalog number. If this date is by a non-Christian dating system, such as 'AH'(Muslim), the Christian equivalent date will appear in parentheses(), for example AH1336(1917). Dates listed alone in the date column which do not actually appear on a given coin, or dates which are known, but do not appear on the coin, are generally enclosed by parentheses with 'ND' at the left, for example ND(1926).

Timing differentials between some era of reckoning, particularly the 354-day Mohammedan and 365-day Christian years, cause situations whereby coins which carry dates for both eras exist bearing two year dates from one calendar combined with a single date from another.

Countermarked Coinage is presented with both 'Countermark Date' and 'Host Coin' date for each type. Actual date representation follows the rules outlined above.

NUMBERING SYSTEM

Items listed in this catalog mostly carry an X# prefix. In addition, some still carry KM# prefixes. These generally have been previously listed in the Standard Catalog series of books. When number prefixes have changed, the previous number is incorporated in the listing as a cross reference. Some Chinese coins include references to E. Kann's (K#) Illustrated Catalog of Chinese Coins and T.K. Hsu's (Su) work of similar title.

The use of additional prefix letters in the catalog number often describe the coinage types: M for Medallion (items struck to a standard denomination size and weight, but lacking denomination in the design), MB for Medallion Bullion (struck to a bullion weight standard of 1/10, 1/4, 1/2, or Ounce and its multiples), P for Piefort (a double weight coin) or Pn for Pattern. These designations have previously been used in the Standard Catalog series and have been continued here.

DENOMINATIONS

The second basic consideration to be met in the attribution of a coin is the determination of denomination. Since denominations are usually expressed in numeric, rather than word form on a coin, this is usually quite easily accomplished on coins from nations, which use Western numerals, except in those instances where issues are devoid of any mention of face value, and denomination must be attributed by size, metallic composition or weight. Coins listed in this volume are generally illustrated in actual size. Where size is critical to proper attribution, the coin's millimeter size is indicated.

The sphere of countries stretching from North Africa through the Orient, on which numeric symbols generally unfamiliar to Westerners are employed, often provide the collector with a much greater challenge. This is particularly true on nearly all pre-20th Century issues. On some of the more modern issues and increasingly so as the years progress, Western-style numerals usually presented in combination with the local numeric system are becoming more commonplace on these coins.

Determination of a coin's currency system can also be valuable in attributing the issue to its country of origin. A comprehensive alphabetical index of currency names, applicable to the countries as cataloged in this volume, with all individual nations of use for each, is presented in this section.

The included table of Standard International Numeral Systems presents charts of the basic numeric designations found on coins of non-Western origin. Although denomination numerals are generally prominently displayed on coins, it must be remembered that these are general representations of characters, which individual coin engravers may have rendered in widely varying styles. Where numeric or script denominations designation forms peculiar to a given coin or country apply, such as the script used on some Persian (Iranian) issues. They are so indicated or illustrated in conjunction with the appropriate listings.

MINTAGES

Quantities minted of each date are indicated where that information is available. For combined mintage figures the abbreviation "Inc. Above" means Included Above, while "Inc. Below" means Included Below. "Est." beside a mintage figure indicates the number given is an estimate or mintage limit.

MINT AND PRIVY MARKS

The presence of distinctive, but frequently inconspicuously placed, mintmarks indicates the mint of issue for many of the coins listed in this catalog. An appropriate designation in the date listings notes the presence, if any, of a mint mark on a particular coin type by incorporating the letter or letters of the mint mark adjoining the date, i.e., 1950D or 1927R.

The presence of mint and/or mintmaster's privy marks on a coin in non-letter form is indicated by incorporating the mint letter in lower case within parentheses adjoining the date; i.e. 1927(a). The corresponding mark is illustrated or identified in the introduction of the country.

In countries such as France and Mexico, where many mints may be producing like coinage in the same denomination during the same time period, divisions by mint have been employed. In these cases the mint mark may appear next to the individual date listings and/or the mint name or mint mark may be listed in the Note field of the type description.

Where listings incorporate mintmaster initials, they are always presented in capital letters separated from the date by one character space; i.e., 1850 MF. The different mintmark and mintmaster letters found on the coins of any country, state or city of issue are always shown at the beginning of listings.

METALS

Each numbered type listing will contain a description of the coins metallic content. The traditional coinage metals and their symbolic chemical abbreviations sometimes used in this catalog are:

Platinum - (PT)	Copper - (Cu)
Gold - (Au)	Brass -
Silver - (Ag)	Copper-nickel- (CN)
Billion -	Lead - (Pb)
Nickel - (Ni)	Steel -
Zinc - (Zn)	Tin - (Sn)
Bronze - (Ae)	Aluminum - (Al)

During the 18th and 19th centuries, most of the world's coins were struck of copper or bronze, silver and gold. Commencing in the early years of the 20th century, however, numerous new coinage metals, primarily non-precious metal alloys, were introduced. Gold has not been widely used for circulation coinages since World War I, although silver remained a popular coinage metal in most parts of the world until after World War II. With the disappearance of silver for circulation coinage, numerous additional compositions were introduced to coinage applications.

Most recent is the development of clad or plated planchets in order to maintain circulation life and extend the life of a set of production dies as used in the production of the copper-nickel clad copper 50 centesimos of Panama or in the latter case to reduce production costs of the planchets and yet provide a coin quite similar in appearance to its predecessor as in the case of the copper plated zinc core United States 1983 cent.

Modern commemorative coins have employed still more unusual methods such as bimetallic coins, color applications and precious metal or gem inlays.

OFF-METAL STRIKES

Off-metal strikes previously designated by "(OMS)" which also included the wide range of error coinage struck in other than their officially authorized compositions have been incorporated into Pattern listings along with special issues, which were struck for presentation or other reasons.

Collectors of Germanic coinage may be familiar with the term "Abschlag" which quickly identifies similar types of coinage.

PRECIOUS METAL WEIGHTS

Listings of weight, fineness and actual silver (ASW), gold (AGW), platinum or palladium (APW) content of most machine-struck silver, gold, platinum and palladium coins are provided in this edition. This information will be found incorporated in each separate type listing, along with other data related to the coin.

The ASW, AGW and APW figures were determined by multiplying the gross weight of a given coin by its known or tested fineness and converting the resulting gram or grain weight to troy ounces, rounded to the nearest ten-thousandth of an ounce. A silver coin with a 24.25-gram weight and .875 fineness for example, would have a fine weight of approximately 21.2188 grams, or a .6822 ASW, a factor that can be used to accurately determine the intrinsic value for multiple examples.

The ASW, AGW or APW figure can be multiplied by the spot price of each precious metal to determine the current intrinsic value of any coin accompanied by these designations.

Coin weights are indicated in grams (abbreviated "g") along with fineness where the information is of value in differentiating between types. These weights are based on 31.103 grams per troy (scientific) ounce, as opposed to the avoirdupois (commercial) standard of 28.35 grams. Actual coin weights are generally shown in hundredths or thousands of a gram; i.e., 0.500 SILVER 2.9200g.

WEIGHTS AND FINENESSES

As the silver and gold bullion markets have advanced and declined sharply in recent years, the fineness and total precious metal content of coins has become especially significant where bullion coins - issues which trade on the basis of their intrinsic metallic content rather than numismatic value - are concerned. In many instances, such issues have become worth more in bullion form than their nominal collector values or denominations indicate.

Establishing the weight of a coin can also be valuable for determining its denomination. Actual weight is also necessary to ascertain the specific gravity of the coin's metallic content, an important factor in determining authenticity.

TROY WEIGHT STANDARDS

24 Grains = 1 Pennyweight
480 Grains = 1 Ounce
31.103 Grams = 1 Ounce

UNIFORM WEIGHTS

15.432 Grains = 1 Gram
0.0648 Gram = 1 Grain

AVOIRDUPOIS STANDARDS

27-11/32 Grains = 11 Dram

437-1/2 Grains = 1 Ounce
28.350 Grams = 1 Ounce

BULLION VALUE CHARTS

Universal silver, gold, and platinum bullion value charts are provided for use in combination with the ASW, AGW and APW factors to determine approximate intrinsic values of listed coins. By adding the component weights as shown in troy ounces on each chart, the approximate intrinsic value of any silver, gold or platinum coin's precious metal content can be determined.

Thus, using a $27.50 silver spot price, the intrinsic value of a silver coin with a .6822 ASW would be indicated as $19.25, based on the application of the silver bullion chart. This result is obtained by moving across the top to the $27.50 column, then moving down to the line indicated .680 in the far left hand corner which reveals a bullion value of $18.70. To determine the value of the remaining .0022 of ASW, return up the same column to the .002 line, the closest factor available, where a $0.55 value is indicated. The two factors total $19.25, which would be slightly less than actual value.

The silver bullion chart provides silver values in thousandths from .001 to .009 troy ounce, and in hundredths from .01 to 1.00 in 50¢ value increments from $15.00 to $30.00. If the market value of silver exceeds $30.00, doubling the increments presented will provide valuations in $1 steps from $31.00 to $60.00. The gold/platinum bullion chart is similarly arranged in $10 increments from $1,200 to $1,400.

Valuations for most of the silver, gold, platinum and palladium coins listed in this edition are based on assumed market values of $35-40 per troy ounce for silver, $1,500 to $1,550 for gold, $1,750 to $1,800 for platinum, and $775 to $800 for palladium. To arrive at accurate current market indications for these issues, increase or decrease the valuations appropriately based on any variations in these indicated levels.

COUNTERMARKS/COUNTERSTAMPS

There is some confusion among collectors over the terms "countermark" and "counterstamp" when applied to a coin bearing an additional mark or change of design and/or denomination.

To clarify, a countermark might be considered similar to the "hall mark" applied to a piece of silverware, by which a silversmith assured the quality of the piece. In the same way, a countermark assures the quality of the coin on which it is placed, as, for example, when the royal crown of England was countermarked (punched into) on segmented Spanish reales, allowing them to circulate in commerce in the British West Indies. An additional countermark indicating the new denomination may also be encountered on these coins.

Countermarked

Counterstamped

Countermarks are generally applied singularly and in most cases indiscriminately on either side of the "host" coin.

Counterstamped coins are more extensively altered. The counterstamping is done with a set of dies, rather than a hand punch. The coin being counterstamped is placed between the new dies and struck as if it were a blank planchet as found with the Manila 8 reales issue of the Philippines. A more unusual application where the counterstamp dies were smaller than the host coin in the revalidated 50 centimos and 1 colon of Costa Rica issued in 1923.

PHOTOGRAPHS

To assist the reader in coin identification, every effort has been made to present actual size photographs. Obverse and reverse are illustrated, except when a change in design is restricted to one side, and the coin has a diameter of 39mm or larger, in which case only the side required for identification of the type is generally illustrated. All coins up to 55mm are illustrated actual size, to the nearest 1/2mm up to 25mm, and to the nearest 1mm thereafter. Coins larger than 55mm diameter are illustrated in reduced size, with the actual size noted in the descriptive text block. Where slight change in size is important to coin type identification, actual millimeter measurements are stated.

VALUATIONS

Values quoted in this catalog represent the current market and are compiled from recommendations provided and verified through various source documents and specialized consultants. It should be stressed, however, that this book is intended to serve only as an aid for evaluating coins, actual market conditions are constantly changing and additional influences, such as particularly strong local demand for certain coin series, fluctuation of international exchange rates and worldwide collection patterns must also be considered. Publication of this catalog is not intended as a solicitation by the publisher, editors or contributors to buy or sell the coins listed at the prices indicated.

All valuations are stated in U.S. dollars, based on careful assessment of the varied international collector market. Valuations for coins priced below $100.00 are generally stated in full amounts - i.e. 37.50 or 95.00 - while valuations at or above that figure are rounded off in even dollars - i.e. $125.00 is expressed 125. A comma is added to indicate thousands of dollars in value.

For the convenience of overseas collectors and for U.S. collectors doing business with overseas dealers, the base exchange rate for the national currencies of approximately 180 countries are presented in the Foreign Exchange Table.

It should be noted that when particularly select uncirculated or proof-like examples of uncirculated coins become available they can be expected to command proportionately high premiums. Such examples in reference to choice Germanic Thalers are referred to as "erst schlage" or first strikes.

TOKEN COINAGE

At times local economic conditions have forced regular coinage from circulation or found mints unable to cope with the demand for coinage, giving rise to privately issued token coinage substitutes. British tokens of the late 1700s and early 1880s, and the German and French and French Colonial emergency emissions of the World War I era are examples of such tokens being freely accepted in monetary transactions over wide areas. Tokens were likewise introduced to satisfy specific restricted needs, such as the leper colony issues of Brazil, Colombia and the Philippines.

This catalog includes introductory or detailed listings with "Tn" prefixes of many token coinage issues, particularly those which enjoyed wide circulation and where the series was limited in diversity. More complex series, and those more restricted in scope of circulation are generally not listed, although a representative sample may be illustrated and a specialty reference provided.

MEDALLIC ISSUES

Medallic issues are segregated following the regular issue listings. Grouped there are coin-type issues, which can generally be identified as commemoratives produced to the country's established coinage standards but without the usual indicator of denomination. These pieces may or may not feature designs adapted from the country's regular issue or commemorative coinage, and may or may not have been issued in conjunction with related coinage issues.

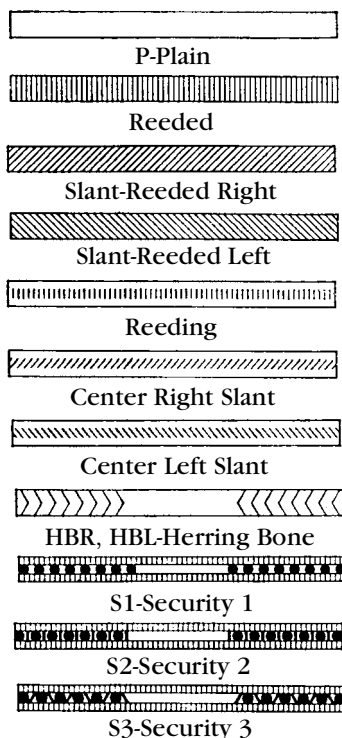

RESTRIKES, COUNTERFEITS

Deceptive restrike and counterfeit (both contemporary and modern) examples exist of some coin issues. Where possible, the existence of restrikes is noted. Warnings are also incorporated in instances where particularly deceptive counterfeits are known to exist. Collectors who are uncertain about the authenticity of a coin held in their collection, or being offered for sale, should take the precaution of having the coin authenticated by a third-party grading service.

NON-CIRCULATING LEGAL TENDER COINS

Coins of non-circulating legal tender (NCLT) origin are individually listed and integrated by denomination into the regular listings for each country. These coins fall outside the customary definitions of coin-of-the-realm issues, but were created and sold by, or under authorization of, agencies of sovereign governments expressly for collectors. These are primarily individual coins and sets of a commemorative nature, marketed at prices substantially in excess of face value, and usually do not have counterparts released for circulation.

EDGE VARIETIES

SETS

Listings in this catalog for specimen, proof and mint sets are for official, government-produced sets. In many instances privately packaged sets also exist.

Mint Sets/Fleur de Coin Sets: Specially prepared by worldwide mints to provide banks, collectors and government dignitaries with examples of current coinage. Usually subjected to rigorous inspection to insure that top quality specimens of selected business strikes are provided.

The Paris Mint introduced polyvinyl plastic cases packed within a cardboard box for homeland and colonial Fleur de Coin sets of the 1960s. British colonial sets were issued in velvet-lined metal cases similar to those used for proof sets. For its client nations, the Franklin Mint introduced a sealed composition of cardboard and specially molded hard clear plastic protective container inserted in a soft plastic wallet. Recent discovery that soft polyvinyl packaging has proved hazardous to coins has resulted in a change to the use of hard, inert plastics for virtually all mint sets.

Some of the highest quality mint sets ever produced were those struck by the Franklin Mint during 1972-74. In many cases matte finish dies were used to strike a polished proof planchet. Later on, from 1975, sets contained highly polished, glassy-looking coins (similar to those struck by the Bombay Mint) for collectors over a period of 12 years.

Specimen Sets: Forerunners of today's proof sets. In most cases the coins were specially struck, perhaps even double struck, to produce a very soft or matte finish on the effigies and fields, along with high, sharp, "wire" rims. The finish is rather dull to the naked eye.

The original purpose of these sets was to provide VIPs, monarchs and mintmasters around the world with samples of the highest quality workmanship of a particular mint. These were usually housed in elaborate velvet-lined leather and metal cases.

Proof Sets: This is undoubtedly among the most misused terms in the hobby, not only by collectors and dealers, but also by many of the world mints.

A true proof set must be at least double-struck on specially prepared polished planchets and struck using dies (often themselves polished) of the highest quality.

Modern-day proof quality consists of frosted effigies surrounded by absolute mirror-like fields.

Listings for proof sets in this catalog are for officially issued proof sets so designated by the issuing authority, and may or may not possess what are considered modern proof quality standards.

It is necessary for collectors to acquire the knowledge to allow them to differentiate true proof sets from would-be proof sets and proof-like sets which may be encountered.

CONDITIONS/GRADING

Wherever possible, coin valuations are given in four or five grades of preservation. For modern commemoratives, which do not circulate, only uncirculated values are usually sufficient. Proof issues are indicated by the word "Proof" next to the date, with valuation preceded by the word "value" following the mintage. For very recent circulating coins and coins of limited value, one, two or three grade values are presented.

There are almost no grading guides for world coins. What follows is an attempt to help bridge that gap until a detailed, illustrated guide becomes available.

In grading world coins, there are two elements to look for: 1) Overall wear, and 2) loss of design details, such as strands of hair, feathers on eagles, designs on coats of arms, etc.

The age, rarity or type of a coin should not be a consideration in grading.

Grade each coin by the weaker of the two sides. This method appears to give results most nearly consistent with conservative American Numismatic Association standards for U.S. coins. Split grades, i.e., F/VF for obverse and reverse, respectively, are normally no more than one grade apart. If the two sides are more than one grade apart, the series of coins probably wears differ-ently on each side and should then be graded by the weaker side alone.

Grade by the amount of overall wear and loss of design detail evident on each side of the coin. On coins with a moderately small design element, which is prone to early wear, grade by that design alone. For example, the 5-ore (KM#554) of Sweden has a crown above the monogram on which the beads on the arches show wear most clearly. So, grade by the crown alone.

For Brilliant Uncirculated (BU) grades there will be no visible signs of wear or handling, even under a 30-power microscope. Full mint luster will be present. Ideally no bag marks will be evident.

For Uncirculated (Unc) grades there will be no visible signs of wear or handling, even under a 30-power microscope. Bag marks may be present.

For Almost Uncirculated (AU), all detail will be visible. There will be wear only on the highest point of the coin. There will often be half or more of the original mint luster present.

On the Extremely Fine (XF or EF) coin, there will be about 95% of the original detail visible. Or, on a coin with a design with no inner detail to wear down, there will be a light wear over nearly all the coin. If a small design is used as the grading area, about 90% of the original detail will be visible. This latter rule stems from the logic that a smaller amount of detail needs to be present because a small area is being used to grade the whole coin.

The Very Fine (VF) coin will have about 75% of the original detail visible. Or, on a coin with no inner detail, there will be moderate wear over the entire coin. Corners of letters and numbers may be weak. A small grading area will have about 66% of the original detail.

For Fine (F), there will be about 50% of the original detail visible. Or, on a coin with no inner detail, there will be fairly heavy wear over all of the coin. Sides of letters will be weak. A typically uncleaned coin will often appear as dirty or dull. A small grading area will have just under 50% of the original detail.

On the Very Good (VG) coin, there will be about 25% of the original detail visible. There will be heavy wear on all of the coin.

The Good (G) coin's design will be clearly outlined but with substantial wear. Some of the larger detail may be visible. The rim may have a few weak spots of wear.

On the About Good (AG) coin, there will typically be only a silhouette of a large design. The rim will be worn down into the letters if any.

Strong or weak strikes, partially weak strikes, damage, corrosion, attractive or unattractive toning, dipping or cleaning should be described along with the above grades. These factors affect the quality of the coin just as do wear and loss of detail, but are easier to describe.

In the case of countermarked/counterstamped coins, the condition of the host coin will have a bearing on the end valuation. The important factor in determining the grade is the condition, clarity and completeness of the countermark itself. This is in reference to countermarks/counterstamps having raised design while being struck in a depression.

Incuse countermarks cannot be graded for wear. They are graded by the clarity and completeness including the condition of the host coin which will also have more bearing on the final grade/valuation determined.

Coin Alignment

Medal Alignment

COIN vs MEDAL ALIGNMENT

Some coins are struck with obverse and reverse aligned at a rotation of 180 degrees from each other. When a coin is held for vertical viewing with the obverse design aligned upright and the index finger and thumb at the top and bottom, upon rotation from left to right for viewing the reverse, the latter will be upside down. Such alignment is called "coin rotation." Other coins are struck with the obverse and reverse designs mated on an alignment of zero or 360 degrees. If such an example is held and rotated as described, the reverse will appear upright. This is the alignment, which is generally observed in the striking of medals, and for that reason coins produced in this manner are considered struck in "medal rotation". In some instances, often through error, certain coin issues have been struck to both alignment standards, creating interesting collectible varieties, which will be found noted in some listings. In addition, some countries are now producing coins with other designated obverse to reverse alignments which are considered standard for this type.

ALAND ISLANDS

In April 1991 the Aland Islands attempted to issue their own coinage. Being a semi-autonomous territory of Finland, they intended to extend their independence to include a coinage right, but Finland strongly objected and the issue was quickly withdrawn. Mintages listed below are the official limits, but relatively few examples are known to exist.

ANGUILLA

On June 16, 1967, the Provisional Government of Anguilla unilaterally declared its independence and seceded from the Federation. Later, on July 11, 1967, a vote of confidence was taken and the results favored independence. Britain refused to accept the declaration (nor did any other country recognize it) and appointed a British administrator whom Anguilla accepted. However, in Feb. 1969 Anguilla ousted the British emissary, voted to sever all ties with Britain, and established the Republic of Anguilla. The following month Britain landed a force of paratroopers and policemen. This bloodless counteraction ended the self-proclaimed republic and resulted in the installation of a governing commissioner. The troops were withdrawn in Sept. 1969, and the Anguilla Act of July 1971 placed Anguilla directly under British control. A new constitution in 1976 established Anguilla as a self-governing British dependant territory. Britain retains power over defense, police and civil service, and foreign affairs.

PRIVATE PATTERNS

Hodgkin, Taylor and Tyndall Series

Port Phillip, Kangaroo Office

These extremely rare gold patterns originated from a commercial venture set up by Messrs. Hodgkin, Taylor and Tyndall of England. Their idea was to buy up gold dust and use it to strike their own gold of 1/4, 1/2, 1 and 2 ounces which they proposed to pass on as bullion currency from their store in Melbourne. The dies were cut by W. J. Taylor and the machinery provided. This equipment arrived at Hobson's Bay on October 23, 1853, but before it could be removed and set up at the store, known as the Kangaroo Office, the availability of the British sovereign pre-empted the venture.

AVRAM

Prince John, the Duke of Avram, set up a private banking operation including the issuing of his own coins and script in Strahan, Tasmania. This popular tourist attraction soon came under investigation by the Australian government. Charges of setting up an illegal bank brought Prince John into court, but was later found to be not guilty. Therefore his Royal Bank must be considered a legal institution.

This issue is enameled on a goldine plated metal.

CEARA

A state in northeastern Brazil just north of Pernambuco. While experiencing a coin shortage, Ceara passed a law on October 3, 1833 authorizing the countermarking of copper coinage. These countermarked coins were to circulate at ½ of the host coins face value. The law was repealed in November 1834.

Counterfeit countermarks are prevalent in this series. All silver coins bearing any form of the star countermark for Ceara are considered spurious and many copper host examples with the bulbous star are also considered counterfeit.

Coins of 10, 20, 40, and 80 Reis were countermarked CEARA in a 5-pointed star to indicate a 50 percent reduction in value (to 5, 10, 20, and 40 Reis).

NOTE: Values given are for most common host coins.

ICO

Ico is a city in the state of Ceara in north-eastern Brazil. It was the center of a revolutionary movement from 1829 to 1832. Various copper and silver coins bearing ICO, IGO and YCO countermarks are thought to have been produced after the revolt and are considered post revolutionary fantasies. Some coins bearing countermarks of JCO and JGO are thought to be private countermarks from the revolutionary period. The coins listed here are all considered counterfeits or fantasies produced sometime after the revolution.

REPUBLIC OF PIRATINI

A revolt in 1835 in the southern Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sol brought about the brief establishment of the Republic of Piratini. At the time a set of arms was created and all coins then circulating in the area were countermarked with the oval symbol of two clasped hands holding a sword with liberty cap at point, surrounded by rays. Very few legitimate examples of these types exist today, but many fantasies, jewelers imitations and counterfeits are known. Most of the imitations bear the name of the republic or the date of it's establishment and display a bold straight sword, while the original has no dates or wording and a slightly curved sword. All examples listed here are counterfeits, imitations or fantasies.

BRITISH HONDURAS

BRITISH COLONY

COUNTERMARKED COINAGE

It is generally believed that the crowned 'GR' monogram was placed on certain coins to make them acceptable as trade items with local indigenous peoples. This mark did not affect their currency status, although in light of the Revolutionary War of 1810-20 it may have been an attempt to localize and keep coins in the colony at a time when the supply of Spanish coins dwindled. This spurious Crown/'GR' countermark is believed to have been done in London ca.1915-1920. It appears on other coins also such as a Barbados penny dated 1788, Mexico Mint 8 reales dated 1797, 1/2 real dated 1774, Madrid Mint 2 reales dated 1793, Panda Potosi Mint 1/2 real dated 1808. Usually attributed to Jamaica in error. Crown over countermark in octagonal indent on English countermarked Spanish Colonial 8 Reales.

MONETARY SYSTEM

Cash Coin System

1 Tael = 800-1600 Cash*

*In theory, 1000 cash were equal to a tael of silver, but in actuality the rate varied from time to time and from place to place.

Dollar System

10 Cash (Wen, Ch'ien) = 1 Cent (Fen, Hsien)

10 Cents = 1 Chiao (Hao)

100 Cents = 1 Dollar (Yuan)

1 Dollar = 0.72 Tael

Tael System

10 Li = 1 Fen (Candareen)

10 Fen (Candareen) = 1 Ch'ien (Mace)

10 Ch'ien (Mace) = 1 Liang (Tael)

DATING

Most struck Chinese coins are dated by year within a given period, such as the regnal eras or the republican periods. A 1907 issue, for example, would be dated in the 33rd year of the Kuang Hsu era (1875 + 33 - 1 = 1907) or a 1926 issue is dated in the 15th year of the Republic (1912 + 15 - 1 = 1926). The mathematical discrepancy in both instances is accounted for by the fact that the first year is included in the elapsed time. Modern Chinese Communist coins are dated in western numerals using the western calendar, but earlier issues use conventional Chinese numerals. The coins of the Republic of China (Taiwan) are also dated in the year of the Republic, which is added to equal the calendar year. Still another method is a 60-year, repeating cycle, outlined in the table below. The date is shown by the combination of two characters, the first from the top row and the second from the column at left. In this catalog, when a cyclical date is used, the abbreviation CD appears before the AD date.

Dates not in parentheses are those which appear on the coins. For undated coins, dates appearing in parentheses are the years in which the coin was actually minted. Undated coins for which the year of minting is unknown are listed with ND (No Date) in the date or year column.

Feng Kuo-chang Issues

In 1920 the Peking government authorized the Wuchang mint in Hupeh to strike silver dollar coins with the likeness of former president Feng Kuo-chang. It is not known whether Wuchang actually made such coins, but leading numismatists living in China from the 1930s onward, have considered these as fantasies.

MEDALLIC COINAGE

1897 Contribution Issue

The Junta or Delegation of the Cuban Revolutionary Party established in New York City in 1892 decided to issue coins besides bonds and stamps. In 1897 the designs were created by Philip Martiny and a contract was signed with the Gorham Manufacturing Company. Because of the urgency the words UN PESO were replaced by SOUVENIR as patents were being sought. The Type I were struck at the Dunn Air-Brake Company located in Philadelphia from dies and polished flans provided by the Gorham Company. A total of 858 pieces were struck and 30 pieces were destroyed as being defective.

A total of 4,286 pieces were struck of Type II at Providence, Rhode Island as a progressive die break halted production. The balance of 4,856 pieces of Type III were struck the following day completing the original order of 10,000.

In March, 1898 the Junta authorized the Gorham Company to mint 1,000 UN PESOS.

In 1902 the balance of unsold SOUVENIR PESOS of Type III were deposited in the National Treasury and remained there for over 50 years.

Note: In 1815 the British Government counterfeited a similar French Gold 20 Francs of that year with the bust of Louis XVIII on them. The difference is that the British counterfeits had an 'R' mint mark and unusual reverse legend. They were made to pay the troops, who then could pay for what they wanted in a currency that the locals would accept.

Note: All of the patterns in this section are of spurious origin. It is thought they were produced clandestinely by a workman at the Philadelphia mint, where the original die making tools were still preserved, in the early 1900's. The "unauthorized" 1/8 Dollar Patterns may be distinguished from the "official" pieces by the presence of flowing "lazy" eights in the date, as contrasted to the "block" eights used on regular Hawaiian coinage.

HEJAZ

COUNTERMARKED COINAGE

These spurious or questionable countermarks found on Maria Theresa restrike thalers appeared in the numismatic market in the early 1970s. Many of these are much larger than the official countermark. There does not appear to be any signs of heavy circulation wear on the reverses, merely flattened designs from the heavy countermarking.

Silver Coins

Silver coins of various sizes were also countermarked al-Hejaz. The most common host coins include the Maria Theresa Thaler of Austria, and 5, 10, and 20 Kurush or Qirsh of Turkey and Egypt. The countermark occurs in various sizes and styles of script. These countermarks may have been applied by local silversmiths to discourage re-exportation of the badly needed hard currency and silver of known fineness.

Some crown-sized examples exist with both the al-Hejaz and Nejd countermarks. The authenticity of the silver countermarked coins has long been discussed, and it is likely that most were privately produced. Other host coins are considered controversial.

MIDDLE EARTH

Middle Earth was the creation of J.R.R. Tolkien as the location of the epic The Lord of the Rings. The races, language and genealogy he created as a base for the characters in the story have given generations of readers fertile ground for exploration into the world of fantasy. Called a trilogy, it is really six books, and for a fuller story one must add The Hobbit as well as The Silmarillion.

Inspired by the rich texture of such a fantasy world, Tom Maringer of Springdale, Arkansas, has taken but three mentions of coinage in the epic and has developed a coinage system not only for the Hobbits, but also for many of the other races in the book such as the immortal elves, the sturdy dwarf lords, the hardy horsemen and even the folk from the far south who use strange elephantine beasts in war and commerce. On his website, Maringer has changed the names of the folk who use these coin types from those used in the Lord of the Rings.

MINERVA

On January 19, 1972, the North and South Minerva Reefs (situated 400 miles south of Fiji, and previously unclaimed by any nation) were occupied and claimed under international law by the founders of the State of Minerva. These men immediately began a bold, sophisticated plan of landfill and seawall development to literally create from one barren reef the land needed for a city-state of 30,000 inhabitants.

The Republic of Minerva was dedicated to the principles of capitalism and free enterprise. Its government was limited to the protection of its citizens against force and fraud. Other world governments were officially notified of the existence of the newly created island and its government. Landfill operations were proceeding apace, and recognition had been received from the first of the world's countries - when disaster struck.

On June 21, 1972, Minerva was forcibly invaded by the Kingdom of Tonga, its nearest neighbor (260 miles distant). Unable to defend the island effectively, its government was forced into exile pending resolution of the conflict.

NEJD

KINGDOM

Abd Al-Aziz bin Saud

COUNTERMARKED COINAGE

Silver Coins

Following the defeat of the Ottomans in 1916, silver coins of various sizes were also counter-marked 'Nejd'. The most common host coins include the Maria Theresa thalers of Austria, British India Rupees, and 5, 10, and 20 Kurush or Qirsh of Turkey and Egypt. The countermark occurs in various sizes and styles of script. These countermarks may have been applied by local silversmiths to discourage re-exportation of the badly needed hard currency and silver of known fineness.

Some crown-sized examples exist with both the 'al-Hejaz' and 'Nejd' countermarks. The authenticity of the silver countermarked coins has long been discussed, and it is likely that most were privately produced. Other host coins are considered controversial.

SULTANATE

MEDALLIC COINAGE

A series of 3 silver and 4 gold medalllic coins were produced in AH1391/1971AD and are inscribed STATE OF OMAN (Dawlat Uman). These were issued by the exile government of Imam Ghalib Ibn Ali in Dammam, Saudi Arabia, and distributed from a post box in Amman, Jordan. The Imamate had enjoyed effective autonomy in the interior of Oman from 1920-54, at which time the Sultan resumed direct control. Imamist forces in Oman were finally driven out in 1959. The Imam has been in exile since 1955.

WWII GERMAN
OCCUPATION*FANTASY TOKEN
COINAGE*Lodz Ghetto 1942-1944

Lodz was a major industrial city in western Poland before World War II and site of the first wartime ghetto under German occupation (May 1940). It was also the last ghetto to close during the war (August 1944). Legitimate token coinage was struck in 1942 and 1943, in the name of the Jewish Elders of Litzmannstadt. This genuine series can be found listed in the Standard Catalog of World Coins. Most of the real pieces have seen very little circulation, but are commonly found in conditions from slightly to badly corroded. The badly corroded specimens have the appearance of zinc. This fantasy token is of a denomination never used for the original issues.

GOLD MINE INGOTS

During the late 19th and early 20th century, Russian law provided that gold mine owners who supplied gold to the mints should receive back whatever silver was recovered during refining of the gold. The silver was returned in the form of circular ingots of various weights which resembled coins. These pieces have often been erroneously described as Russian trade coins for use in Mongolia, China, and Turkestan.

Note: Both the Dolya and the Zolotnik are weights, not denominations.

PRETENDER COINAGE

With the death of James II on September 16, 1701, James Francis Edward Stuart became the Stuart claimant to the throne of England and Scotland. He was to become known in Jacobite circles as James III of England and James VIII of Scotland. He attempted two invasions of England - one in 1708 and another in 1715.

Norbert Roettiers prepared dies on two occasions for coins for the would-be king. One set was for an English crown of 1709 and the second group was for a crown and a guinea of 1716 for Scotland and a 1716 guinea for England. No contemporary strikings are known for the 1716 dies. The dies came into the hands of one Matthew Young and in 1828, Young struck various pieces, after which the dies were destroyed. (Modern copies of this restrike do exist.)

MEDALLIC COINAGE

Largesse Money

Largesse is defined as a generous giving. The throwing of coins to the people is believed to have begun with Gustavus Vasa I (1528). It became the practice to throw coins to the people at coronations and royal funerals, while more important persons were presented with medals to commemorate the occasion.

Specially struck largesse coins of a somewhat uniform size and weight began with Carl X Adolf coronation in 1654. The coins from 1654 until and including the Coronation piece of Gustaf III (1772) are of a 2 mark denomination. The pieces after that date thru Carl XIV funeral piece of 1844 are of a one-third Riksdaler denomination. It was due to the unseemly conduct of the people and the resultant deaths of some, that after this issue the practice of throwing the coins to the public was discontinued and instead they were distributed to the garrison and honored guests and carried no monetary designation. However, it may be noted that these subsequent issues with no relation to the monetary system were circulated as coin of the realm.

Shooting Festival

The listings which follow have traditionally been categorized in many catalogs as Swiss Shooting Thalers. Technically, all are medalllic issues rather than coins, excepting the Solothurn issue of 1855. According to the Swiss Federal Finance Department, the issue was legally equal to the then current-silver 5 Francs issue to which it was identical in design, aside from bearing an edge inscription which read, EIDGEN FREISCHIESSEN SOLOTHURN (National Shooting Fest Solothurn).

For the silver issues of 1855-1885, the presence of the denomination was only intended to indicate these coins were of the same weight and fineness as prescribed for legal tender coins.

Beginning with the issues of 1934, denominations and sizes were no longer the same as regular Swiss legal tender issues. These coins all have legends indicating that they could only be redeemed during and at the shooting fest of issue.

Exceptional quality BU examples for 1934 and 1939 will command a premium over the prices listed.

CAPTAIN J.W. HASELTINE RESTRIKE ISSUE

The restrikes listed below were produced by Captain J.W. Haseltine, a Philadelphia coin dealer in 1874. The dies were originally engraved by Robert Lovett, Jr. in Philadelphia for the Confederacy. Only 12 pieces were struck in Copper-Nickel and as hostilities broke out between the North and the South, Lovett stored the dies and the original cents.

(In 1961 Robert Bashlow, a New York coin dealer, obtained the defaced cent dies. He ordered a set of transfer dies prepared from August Frank Co. of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and using a wide variety of metals and even including red fibre he had over 25,000 examples struck as follows: Bronze (20,000); Silver or Goldine (5,000 each); Copper-Nickel-Zinc, Aluminum, Lead, Tin, Zinc or red fibre (50 pieces each); Gold or Platinum (3 pieces each). Uniface impressions in gold or silver have been noted.)

J.W. SCOTT
 RESTRIKE ISSUE

Restruck counterstamped 1861-O half dollar. Liberty's appearance is slightly flattened. Both known examples grade AM-55 on the confederate side.

After producing two pieces in 1879 the legend around the eagle was still visible and J. W. Scott decided to shave the eagle effigy of the following 500 pieces producing a more realistic version of a restrrike. The original four pieces struck at the New Orleans mint using the 1861-O half dollar Liberty Seated die mated with the new Confederate Arms die were all struck in proof. It has been noted that the original proof Liberty Seated die used had a crack protruding from the center of her nose to the edge. A few similar circulation strikes used in the later "shaved flange" process also bare this flaw and are considered much scarcer.
