The Republic of Cuba, situated at the northern edge of the Caribbean Sea about 145 km. south of Florida, has an area of 110,860 sq. km. and a population of 11.4 million. Capital: Havana. The Cuban economy is d on the cultivation and refining of sugar, which provides 80 percent of export earnings.

The native Amerindian population of Cuba began to decline after the European discovery of the island by Christopher Columbus in 1492 and following its development as a Spanish colony during the next several centuries. Large numbers of African slaves were imported to work the coffee and sugar plantations, and Havana became the launching point for the annual treasure fleets bound for Spain from Mexico and Peru. Spanish rule, marked initially by neglect, became increasingly repressive, provoking an independence movement and occasional rebellions that were harshly suppressed. It was US intervention during the Spanish-American War in 1898 that finally overthrew Spanish rule. The subsequent Treaty of Paris established Cuban independence, which was granted in 1902 after a three-year transition period. Fidel Castro led a rebel army to victory in 1959; his iron rule held the subsequent regime together for nearly five decades. He stepped down as president in February 2008 in favor of his younger brother Raul Castro. Cuba's Communist revolution, with Soviet support, was exported throughout Latin America and Africa during the 1960s, 1970s, and 1980s. The country is now slowly recovering from a severe economic downturn in 1990, following the withdrawal of former Soviet subsidies. Cuba portrays its difficulties as the result of the US embargo in place since 1961.

The Republic of Czechoslovakia, located in central Europe, had an area of 49,365 sq. mi. (127,859 sq. km.). Capital: Prague (Praha). Industrial production in the cities and agriculture and livestock in the rural areas were the chief occupations.

The Czech lands to the west were united with the Slovak to form the Czechoslovak Republic on October 28, 1918 upon the dissolution of the Austrian-Hungarian Empire. Tomas G. Masaryk was the first president. In the 1930s Hitlet provoked Czechoslovakia's German minority in the Sudetenland to agitate for autonomy. The territory was broken up for the benefit of Germany, Poland and Hungary by the Munich agreement signed by the United Kingdom, France, Germany and Italy on September 29, 1938. On March 15, 1939, Germany invaded Czechoslovakia and incorporated the Czech lands into the Third Reich as the "Protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia." eastern Slovakia, was constituted as a republic under Nazi infulence. A government-in-exile was set up in London in 1940. The Soviet and American forces liberated the area by May 1945. After World War II the physical integrity and independence of Czechoslovakia was re-established, while bringing it within the Russian sphere of influence. On February 23-25, 1948, the Communists seized control of the government in a coup d'etat, and adopted a constitution making the country a "people's republic." A new constitution adopted June 11, 1960, converted the country into a "socialist republic." Communist infulence increased steadily while pressure for liberalization culminated in the overthrow of the Stalinist leader Antonçin Novotny and his associates in January, 1968. The Communist Party then introduced far reaching reforms which received warnings from Moscow, followed by occupation of Warsaw Pact forces on August 21, 1968 resulting in stationing of Soviet troops. Student demonstrations for reform began in Prague on November 17, 1989. The Federal Assembly abolished the Communist Party's sole right to govern. In December, 1989, communism was overthrown. In January, 1990 the Czech and Slovak Federal Republic (CSFR) was formed. The movement for a democratic Slovakia was apparent in the June 1992 elections with the Slovak National Council adopting a declaration of sovereignty. The CSFR was disolved on December 31, 1992, and both new republics came into being on January 1, 1993.

See the Czech Republic and Slovakia sections for additional listings.

MONETARY SYSTEM:

SPECIMEN NOTES:

Large quantities of specimens were made available to collectors. Notes issued after 1945 are distinguished by a perforation consisting of three small holes or a letter S (for Solvakia). Since the difference in value between issued notes and specimen notes is frequently very great, both types of notes are valued. Earlier issues recalled from circulation were perforated: SPECIMEN or NEPLATNE or with a letter S for collectors. Caution should be exercised while examining notes as examples of perforated notes having the holes filled in are known.

NOTE AVAILABILITY:

The Czech National Bank in 1997 made available to collectors uncirculated examples of #78-98, as a full set or in issue groups. As the notes were demonetized they had no cancellation holes nor were overprinted. These notes have regular serial #'s and thus can not be distinguished from regular uncirculated notes of the period.

The Kingdom of Denmark, a constitutional monarchy located at the mouth of the Baltic Sea, has an area of 43,094 sq. km. and a population of 5.48 million. Capital: Copenhagen. Most of the country is arable. Agriculture, which used to employ the majority of the people, is now conducted by large farms served by cooperatives. The largest industries are food processing, iron and metal, and shipping. Machinery, meats (chiefly bacon), dairy products and chemicals are exported.

Once the seat of Viking raiders and later a major north European power, Denmark has evolved into a modern, prosperous nation that is participating in the general political and economic integration of Europe. It joined NATO in 1949 and the EEC (now the EU) in 1973. However, the country has opted out of certain elements of the European Union's Maastricht Treaty, including the European Economic and Monetary Union (EMU), European defense cooperation, and issues concerning certain justice and home affairs.

The commonwealth of Dominica, situated in the Lesser Antilles midway between Guadeloupe to the north and Martinique to the south, has an area of 754 sq. km. and a population of 72,500. Capital: Roseau.

Dominica was the last of the Caribbean islands to be colonized by Europeans due chiefly to the fierce resistance of the native Caribs. France ceded possession to Great Britain in 1763, which made the island a colony in 1805. In 1980, two years after independence, Dominica's fortunes improved when a corrupt and tyrannical administration was replaced by that of Mary Eugenia Charles, the first female prime minister in the Caribbean, who remained in office for 15 years. Some 3,000 Carib Indians still living on Dominica are the only pre-Columbian population remaining in the eastern Caribbean.

The Dominican Republic, occupying the eastern two-thirds of the island of Hispañiola, has an area of 48,730 sq. km. and a population of 9.50 million. Capital: Santo Domingo. The agricultural economy produces sugar, coffee, tobacco and cocoa.

Explored and claimed by Christopher Columbus on his first voyage in 1492, the island of Hispaniola became a springboard for Spanish conquest of the Caribbean and the American mainland. In 1697, Spain recognized French dominion over the western third of the island, which in 1804 became Haiti. The remainder of the island, by then known as Santo Domingo, sought to gain its own independence in 1821, but was conquered and ruled by the Haitians for 22 years; it finally attained independence as the Dominican Republic in 1844. In 1861, the Dominicans voluntarily returned to the Spanish Empire, but two years later they launched a war that restored independence in 1865. A legacy of unsettled, mostly non-representative rule followed, capped by the dictatorship of Rafael Leonidas Trujillo from 1930-61. Juan Bosch was elected president in 1962, but was deposed in a military coup in 1963. In 1965, the United States led an intervention in the midst of a civil war sparked by an uprising to restore Bosch. In 1966, Joaquin Balaguer defeated Bosch in an election to become president. Balaguer maintained a tight grip on power for most of the next 30 years when international reaction to flawed elections forced him to curtail his term in 1996. Since then, regular competitive elections have been held in which opposition candidates have won the presidency. Former President (1996-2000) Leonel Fernandez Reyna won election to a second term in 2004 following a constitutional amendment allowing presidents to serve more than one term.

The Republic of Ecuador, located astride the equator on the Pacific coast of South America, has an area of 283,560 sq. km. and a population of 13.93 million. Capital: Quito. Agriculture is the mainstay of the economy but there are appreciable deposits of minerals and petroleum. It is the world's largest exporter of bananas and balsa wood. Coffee, cacao and shrimp are also valuable exports. What is now Ecuador formed part of the northern Inca Empire until the Spanish conquest in 1533. Quito became a seat of Spanish colonial government in 1563 and part of the Viceroyalty of New Granada in 1717. The territories of the Viceroyalty - New Granada (Colombia), Venezuela, and Quito - gained their independence between 1819 and 1822 and formed a federation known as Gran Colombia. When Quito withdrew in 1830, the traditional name was changed in favor of the "Republic of the Equator." Between 1904 and 1942, Ecuador lost territories in a series of conflicts with its neighbors. A border war with Peru that flared in 1995 was resolved in 1999. Although Ecuador marked 25 years of civilian governance in 2004, the period has been marred by political instability. Protests in Quito have contributed to the mid-term ouster of Ecuador's last three democratically elected Presidents. In 2007, a Constituent Assembly was elected to draft a new constitution; Ecuador's twentieth since gaining independence.

The Arab Republic of Egypt, located on the northeastern corner of Africa, has an area of 1,001,450 sq. km. and a population of 81.71 million. Capital: Cairo. Although Egypt is an almost rainless expanse of desert, its economy is predominantly agricultural. Cotton, rice and petroleum are exported.

The regularity and richness of the annual Nile River flood, coupled with semi-isolation provided by deserts to the east and west, allowed for the development of one of the world's great civilizations. A unified kingdom arose circa 3200 B.C., and a series of dynasties ruled in Egypt for the next three millennia. The last native dynasty fell to the Persians in 341 B.C., who in turn were replaced by the Greeks, Romans, and Byzantines. It was the Arabs who introduced Islam and the Arabic language in the 7th century and who ruled for the next six centuries. A local military caste, the Mamluks took control about 1250 and continued to govern after the conquest of Egypt by the Ottoman Turks in 1517. Following the completion of the Suez Canal in 1869, Egypt became an important world transportation hub, but also fell heavily into debt. Ostensibly to protect its investments, Britain seized control of Egypt's government in 1882, but nominal allegiance to the Ottoman Empire continued until 1914. Partially independent from the UK in 1922, Egypt acquired full sovereignty with the overthrow of the British-backed monarchy in 1952. The completion of the Aswan High Dam in 1971 and the resultant Lake Nasser have altered the time-honored place of the Nile River in the agriculture and ecology of Egypt. A rapidly growing population (the largest in the Arab world), limited arable land, and dependence on the Nile all continue to overtax resources and stress society. The government has struggled to meet the demands of Egypt's growing population through economic reform and massive investment in communications and physical infrastructure.

The Republic of El Salvador, a Central American country bordered by Guatemala, Honduras and the Pacific Ocean, has an area of 21,040 sq. km. and a population of 7.07 million. Capital: San Salvador. This most intensely cultivated country of Latin America produces coffee (the major crop), sugar and balsam for export. Gold, silver and other metals are largely unexploited.

El Salvador achieved independence from Spain in 1821 and from the Central American Federation in 1839. A 12-year civil war, which cost about 75,000 lives, was brought to a close in 1992 when the government and leftist rebels signed a treaty that provided for military and political reforms.

On January 1, 2001, a monetary reform established the U.S. dollar as the accounting unit for all financial transactions, and fixed the exchange rate as 8.75 colones per dollar. In addition, the Central Reserve Bank has indicated that it will cease issuing coins and notes.

The Republic of Estonia is the northernmost of the three Baltic states in eastern Europe. It has an area of 45,226 sq. km. and a population of 1.31 million. Capital: Tallinn. Agriculture and dairy farming are the principal industries. Butter, eggs, bacon, timber are exported.

After centuries of Danish, Swedish, German, and Russian rule, Estonia attained independence in 1918. Forcibly incorporated into the USSR in 1940 - an action never recognized by the US - it regained its freedom in 1991, with the collapse of the Soviet Union. Since the last Russian troops left in 1994, Estonia has been free to promote economic and political ties with Western Europe. It joined both NATO and the EU in the spring of 2004.

The republic of Fiji consists of about 320 islands located in the southwestern Pacific 1,770 km. north of New Zealand. The islands have a combined area of 18,270 sq. km. and a population of 931,750. Capital: Suva, on the island of Viti Levu. Fiji's economy is d on agriculture, tourism and mining. Sugar, fish, timber, coconut products, and gold are exported.

Fiji became independent in 1970, after nearly a century as a British colony. Democratic rule was interrupted by two military coups in 1987, caused by concern over a government perceived as dominated by the Indian community (descendants of contract laborers brought to the islands by the British in the 19th century). The coups and a 1990 constitution that cemented native Melanesian control of Fiji, led to heavy Indian emigration; the population loss resulted in economic difficulties, but ensured that Melanesians became the majority. A new constitution enacted in 1997 was more equitable. Free and peaceful elections in 1999 resulted in a government led by an Indo-Fijian, but a civilian-led coup in May 2000 ushered in a prolonged period of political turmoil. Parliamentary elections held in August 2001 provided Fiji with a democratically elected government led by Prime Minister Laisenia Qarase. Re-elected in May 2006, Qarase was ousted in a December 2006 military coup led by Commodore Voreqe Bainimarama, who initially appointed himself acting president. In January 2007, Bainimarama was appointed interim prime minister. In September 2009 Fiji was suspended from the British Commonwealth.

The Republic of Finland, the second most northerly state of the European continent, has an area of 338,145 sq. km. and a population of 5.24 million. Capital: Helsinki. Electrical, optical equipment, shipbuilding, metal and woodworking are the leading industries. Paper, wood pulp, plywood and telecommunication equipment are exported.

Finland was a province and then a grand duchy under Sweden from the 12th to the 19th centuries, and an autonomous grand duchy of Russia after 1809. It won its complete independence in 1917. During World War II, it was able to successfully defend its freedom and resist invasions by the Soviet Union - albeit with some loss of territory. In the subsequent half century, the Finns made a remarkable transformation from a farm/forest economy to a diversified modern industrial economy; per capita income is now among the highest in Western Europe. A member of the European Union since 1995, Finland was the only Nordic state to join the euro system at its initiation in January 1999.

FIUME

Fiume (Rijeka) is a major port and industrial center of Croatia, located on the Kvarner Gulf of the Adriatic Sea. The port was a primary for the Yugoslav Navy.

By the 10th century, a recognizable settlement had developed at the present site of Fiume. It was incorporated into Austria in 1471, was made a free port in 1717, was united to Croatia in 1776, and was declared an autonomous city of the Austrian crown in 1770. The French occupied the city during 1809-14, after which it alternated under Austrian, Hungarian and Croatian rule until after World War I when set up as a free city. On September 1919, the Italian military commander D'Annunzio occupied Fiume with his troops, and he proclaimed the "Reggenza Italiana del Carnaro" and the Fiume free State, waiting for the annexation to Italy. Mussolini, who up to the time, had liked enterprise of Fiume, he was obliged by European diplomacy to change direction and, on January 1921 he sent regularly Italian troops to expell D'Annunzio from Fiume. Notes of Austro-Hungarian bank with Fiume overprint circulated since April 1919 up to February 1921. On January 1924, Mussolini proclaimed the Fiume's annexation to Italy. Occupied by the Germans during World War II, Fiume was liberated by the Yugoslavs in May, 1945 and transferred to Yugoslavia by the Italian Peace Treaty of 1947.

The French Republic, largest of the West European nations, has an area of 547,026 sq. km. and a population of 64.05 million. Capital: Paris. Agriculture, manufacturing and tourism are the most important elements of France's diversified economy. Textiles and clothing, iron and steel products, machinery and transportation equipment, agricultural products and wine are exported.

Although ultimately a victor in World Wars I and II, France suffered extensive losses in its empire, wealth, manpower, and rank as a dominant nation-state. Nevertheless, France today is one of the most modern countries in the world and is a leader among European nations. Since 1958, it has constructed a hybrid presidential-parliamentary governing system resistant to the instabilities experienced in earlier more purely parliamentary administrations. In recent years, its reconciliation and cooperation with Germany have proved central to the economic integration of Europe, including the introduction of a common exchange currency, the euro, in January 1999. At present, France is at the forefront of efforts to develop the EU's military capabilities to supplement progress toward an EU foreign policy.

French Indo-China (l'Indo-Chine) was located on the Indo-Chinese peninsula of Southeast Asia. It was a French colonial possession from the later 19th century until 1954. A French Governor-General headed a federal-type central government and colonial administration, but reported directly to France which retained exclusive authority over foreign affairs, defense, customs, finance and public works. The colony covered 286,194 sq. mi. (741,242 sq. km.) and had a population of 24 million. It consisted of 5 protectorates: Tonkin (northern Vietnam), Annam (central Vietnam), Cochin-China (southern Vietnam), Laos and Cambodia. Principal cities were: Saigon, Hanoi, Haiphong, Pnom-Penh and Vientiane. From 1875 to 1951, the exclusive right to issue banknotes within the colony was held by the Bank of Indochina (Banque de l'Indochine). On December 31, 1951 this privilege was transferred to the Issuing Authority of the States of Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam (Institut d'Emission des Etats du Cambodge, du Laos et du Vietnam).

From the moment of their conquest, the Indochinese people resisted French rule. The degree of resistance varied, being strongest in central and northern Vietnam, but was evident throughout Indochina. There were unsuccessful attempts by Vietnamese nationals, headed by Nguyen Ai Quoc (later known as Ho Chi Minh), to gain recognition/independence at the Versailles Peace Conference following World War I.

Japan occupied French Indochina at the start of World War II, but allowed the local French (Vichy) government to remain in power until March 1945. Meanwhile, many nationalists (communist and non-communist alike) followed Ho Chi Minh's leadership in the formation of the League for Independence of Vietnam (Viet-Minh) which took an active anti-Japanese part during the war. France reoccupied the area after the Japanese surrender, and established the Associated States of Indochina, with each of the five political subdivisions having limited independence within the French Union. Disagreement over the degree of independence and the reunification of the three Vietnamese subdivisions led to armed conflict with the Viet-Minh and a protracted war (The First Indochina War). In 1949/1950, in an attempt to retain her holdings, France recognized Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam as semi-independent self governing States within the French Union, but retained financial and economic control. Fighting continued and culminated with the French military disaster at Dien Bien Phu in May 1954. The subsequent Geneva Agreement brought full independence to Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam (temporarily divided at the 17th parallel of latitude), and with it, an end to French rule in Indochina.

Although the origin of the German Empire can be traced to the Treaty of Verdun, 843, that ceded Charlemagne's lands east of the Rhine to German Prince Louis, it was for centuries little more than a geographic expression, consisting of hundreds of effectively autonomous big and little states. Nominally the states owed their allegiance to the Holy Roman Emperor, who was also a German king, but as the emperors exhibited less and less concern for Germany the actual power devolved on the lords of the individual states. The fragmentation of the empire climaxed with the tragic denouement of the Thirty Years War, 1618-48, which devastated much of Germany, destroyed its agriculture and medieval commercial eminence and ended the attempt of the Hapsburgs to unify Germany. Deprived of administrative capacity by a lack of resources, the imperial authority became utterly powerless. At this time Germany contained an estimated 1,800 individual states, some with a population of as little as 300. The German Empire of recent history (the creation of Bismarck) was formed on April 14, 1871, when the King of Prussia became Emperor Wilhelm I of Germany. The new empire comprised four kingdoms, five grand duchies, 13 duchies and principalities, three free cities and the nonautonomous province of Alsace-Lorraine. Prior to the German unification in 1871 the various German States enjoyed varying degrees of political independence including the right to coin and issue money. Most of the paper currency issues of the German States from the middle of the 18th century until the unification are valued in thalers and gulden denominations with the gulden usually worth about half the thaler. There are a few exceptions such as the "Franken" valued notes of the Napoleonic Kingdom of Westphalia and the early "Pfund Banco" notes of the Prussian "Giro und Lehnbank."

After the unification many of these banks issued currency under the new mark system. These notes are listed in the Regional Bank listing which follows this section.

Bank notes of the German States prior to the unification in 1871, official government issues and local bank issues are listed together under the various states.

MONETARY SYSTEM:

Until 1871 the Mark (Marck) was a measure of weight.

North German States until 1837

2 Gulden = 1 Reichsthaler
1 Speciesthaler (before 1753)
1 Convention Thaler (after 1753)

North German States after 1837

30 Groschen = 1 Thaler
1 Vereinsthaler (after 1857)

South German States until 1837

120 Convention Kreuzer = 2 Convention Gulden = 1 Convention Thaler

ANHALT-CÖTHEN, DUCHY OF

Anhalt-Cöthen was raised from a principality to a duchy when it entered the Confederation of the Rhine in 1807. In 1828 the main Anhalt-Cöthen line died out, whereupon the princes of Anhalt-Cöthen-Pless became the dukes of Anhalt-Cöthen. This line died out in 1847, whereupon its territories were jointly administered by Anhalt-Bernburg and Anhalt-Dessau. In 1863, after the Anhalt-Bernburg line died out, the three Anhalt duchies were united into one.

1866 Issue

Issued after the Prussian Landtag had been suspended. The ostensible reason was the mobilization of the Prussian Army and the Overend, Gurney crisis in Britain. It seemed more probable that this was one of Bismarck's methods of raising money when he was denied it during the Prussian Constitutional Conflict; hocking shares of the Cologne-Minden Railroad Company was another. When it re-assembled, the Landtag declared the issue illegal. The issue was legalized after the government asked the Landtag for an indemnity and the Landtag granted it.

1870 Issue

Issued at the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian War by Prussia on behalf of the North German Confederation. The arms of the North German Confederation are at upper left: a shield divided into three bars of sable, argent and gules. The North German Confederation became the German Empire on January 18, 1871 after Bavaria, Württemberg, Baden, and the southern portion of Hesse-Darmstadt agreed to join.

SAXE-COBURG AND GOTHA, DUCHY OF

Although unified under one duke in 1826, Coburg and Gotha remained independent of each other in many respects. Coburg and Gotha each had their own Diet. In economic terms Gotha was in the orbit of Frankfurt/Main, Coburg in that of Nuremberg. This explains the separate issues of treasury vouchers for Coburg and Gotha.

Schleswig-Holstein, Duchies of

Danish until 1864. An uprising against Danish rule occured 1848-1850; after a short period of Austro-Prussian military government in 1851, the duchies were restored to Denmark. After Austria and Prussia defeated Denmark in 1864, the duchies were under the military government of Austria and Prussia. Both duchies were annexed by Prussia in 1866.

Germany, a nation of north-central Europe which from 1871 to 1945 was, successively, an empire, a republic and a totalitarian state, attained its territorial peak as an empire when it comprised a 208,780 sq. mi. (540,740 sq. km.) homeland and an overseas colonial empire.

As the power of the Roman Empire waned, several warlike tribes residing in northern Germany moved south and west, invading France, Belgium, England, Italy and Spain. In 800 AD the Frankish King Charlemagne, who ruled most of present-day France and Germany, was crowned Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire. Under his successors, this empire was divided into France in the West and Germany (including the Emperor's title) in the East. Over the centuries the German part developed into a loose federation of an estimated 1,800 German States that lasted until 1806. Modern Germany was formed from the eastern part of Charlemagne's empire.

In 1815, the German States were reduced to a federation of 32, of which Prussia was the strongest. In 1871, Prussian Chancellor Otto Von Bismarck united the German States into an empire ruled by Wilhelm I, the Prussian king. The empire initiated a colonial endeavor and became one of the world's greatest powers. Germany disintegrated as a result of World War I, and was reestablished as the Weimar Republic. The humiliation of defeat, economic depression, poverty and discontent gave rise to Adolf Hitler in 1933, who reconstituted Germany as the Third Reich and after initial diplomatic and military triumphs, led it to disaster in World War II. During the postwar era, the western provinces were occupied by the Allied forces while the eastern provinces were occupied and administered by the Soviet Union. East Germany and West Germany were established in 1949.

The post-WWII division of Germany ended on Oct. 3, 1990, when the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) ceased to exist and its five constituent provinces were formally admitted to the Federal Republic of Germany. An election held on Dec. 2, 1990 chose representatives to the united federal parliament (Bundestag), which then conducted its opening session in Berlin in the old Reichstag building. The Capital remained in Bonn until 1999.

For subsequent history, see German Federal Republic and German Democratic Republic.

The German Democratic Republic (East Germany), located on the great north European plain, ceased to exist in 1990. During the closing days of World War II in Europe, Soviet troops advancing into Germany from the east occupied the German provinces of Mecklenburg, Brandenburg, Saxony-Anhalt, Saxony and Thuringia. These five provinces comprised the occupation zone administered by the Soviet Union after the cessation of hostilities. The other three zones were administered by the United States, Great Britain and France. Under the Potsdam agreement, questions affecting Germany as a whole were to be settled by the commanders in chief of the occupation zones acting jointly and by unanimous decision. When Soviet intransigence rendered the quadripartite commission inoperable, the three western zones were united to form the Federal Republic of Germany, May 23, 1949. Thereupon the Soviet Union dissolved its occupation zone and established it as the Democratic Republic of Germany, Oct. 7, 1949. East and West Germany became reunited as one country on Oct. 3, 1990.

The United Kingdon of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, (including England, Scotland, Wales and Norhtern Ireland) is located off the northwest coast of the European continent, has an area of 94,227 sq. mi. (244,046 sq. km.), and a population of 59.45 million. Capital: London.

The economy is d on industrial activity, trading and financial services. Machinery, motor vehicles, chemicals and textile yarns and fabrics are exported.

After the departure of the Romans, who brought Britain into an active relationship with Europe, Britain fell prey to invaders from Scandinavia and the Low Countries who drove the original Britons into Scotland and Wales, and established a profusion of kingdoms that finally united in the 11th century under the Danish King Canute. Norman rule, following the conquest of 1066, stimulated the development of those institutions which have since distinguished British life. Henry VIII (1509-47) turned Britain from continental adventuring and faced it to the sea - a decision that made Britain a world power during the reign of Elizabeth I (1558-1603). Strengthened by the Industrial Revolution and the defeat of Napoleon, 19th century Britain turned to the remote parts of the world and established a colonial empire of such extent and prosperity that the world has never seen its like. World Wars I and II sealed the fate of the Empire and relegated Britain to a lesser role in world affairs by draining her resources and inaugurating a worldwide movement toward national self-determination in her former colonies.

By the mid-20th century, most of the former British Empire had gained independence and had evolved into the Commonwealth of Nations. This association of equal and and autonomous states, set out to agree views and special relationships with one another (appointing High Commissioners rather than Ambassadors) for mutual benefit, trade interests, etc. The Commonwealth is presently (1999) composed of 54 member nations, including the United Kingdom. All recognize the monarch as Head of the Commonwealth; 16 continue to recognize Queen Elizabeth II as Head of State. In addition to the United Kingdom, they are: Antigua & Barbuda, Australia, The Bahamas, Barbados Belize, Canada, Grenada, Paupa New Guinea, St. Christopher & Nevis, St. Lucia, St. Vincent & the Grenadines, Solomon Islands.

PRIVATE AND COMMERCIAL JOINT STOCK BANKS

This series of note issues is very extensive, starting in the mid-18th century and extending into the earlier years of the 20th century. The history of these issues and their impact on the economic life of Great Britain is totally interwoven with the history of the country itself, and is a very complex story. There were literally hundreds of different banks, with the greatest concentration of note issues taking place during the first part of the 19th century. As centralization became stronger the need and influence of private note issues became less, until it finally ceased altogether.

In accordance with the Bank Charter Act of 1844, the number of issuing banks in England and Wales decreased considerably. In 1900 notes of the following banks were still in circulation.

The Hellenic Republic of Greece is situated in southeastern Europe on the southern tip of the Balkan Peninsula. The republic includes many islands, the most important of which are Crete and the Ionian Islands. Greece (including islands) has an area of 131,940 sq. km. and a population of 10.72 million. Capital: Athens. Greece is still largely agricultural. Tobacco, cotton, fruit and wool are exported.

Greece achieved independence from the Ottoman Empire in 1829. During the second half of the 19th century and the first half of the 20th century, it gradually added neighboring islands and territories, most with Greek-speaking populations. In World War II, Greece was first invaded by Italy (1940) and subsequently occupied by Germany (1941-44); fighting endured in a protracted civil war between supporters of the king and Communist rebels. Following the latter's defeat in 1949, Greece joined NATO in 1952. A military dictatorship, which in 1967 suspended many political liberties and forced the king to flee the country, lasted seven years. The 1974 democratic elections and a referendum created a parliamentary republic and abolished the monarchy. In 1981, Greece joined the EC (now the EU); it became the 12th member of the European Economic and Monetary Union in 2001.

Greenland, an integral part of the Danish realm, is a huge island situated between the North Atlantic Ocean and the Polar Sea, almost entirely within the Artic Circle. It has an area of 2.166 million sq. km. and a population of 57,564. Capital: Nuuk (Godthab). Greenland is the world's only source of natural cryolite, a fluoride of sodium and aluminum important in making aluminum. Fish products and minerals are exported.

Greenland, the world's largest island, is about 81% ice-capped. Vikings reached the island in the 10th century from Iceland; Danish colonization began in the 18th century, and Greenland was made an integral part of Denmark in 1953. It joined the European Community (now the EU) with Denmark in 1973, but withdrew in 1985 over a dispute centered on stringent fishing quotas. Greenland was granted self-government in 1979 by the Danish parliament; the law went into effect the following year. Denmark continues to exercise control of Greenland's foreign affairs in consultation with Greenland's Home Rule Government.

Grenada, located in the Windward islands of the Caribbean Sea 145 km. north of Trinidad, has (with Carriacou and Petit Martinique) an area of 344 sq. km. and a population of 90,343. Capital: St. George's.

Carib Indians inhabited Grenada when COLUMBUS discovered the island in 1498, but it remained uncolonized for more than a century. The French settled Grenada in the 17th century, established sugar estates, and imported large numbers of African slaves. Britain took the island in 1762 and vigorously expanded sugar production. In the 19th century, cacao eventually surpassed sugar as the main export crop; in the 20th century, nutmeg became the leading export. In 1967, Britain gave Grenada autonomy over its internal affairs. Full independence was attained in 1974, making Grenada one of the smallest independent countries in the Western Hemisphere. Grenada was seized by a Marxist military council on 19 October 1983. Six days later the island was invaded by US forces and those of six other Caribbean nations, which quickly captured the ringleaders and their hundreds of Cuban advisers. Free elections were reinstituted the following year and have continued since that time. Hurricane Ivan struck Grenada in September of 2004 causing severe damage.

The Republic of Guatemala, the northernmost of the five Central American republics, has an area of 108,890 sq. km. and a population of 13 million. Capital: Guatemala City. The economy of Guatemala is heavily dependent on resources which are being developed. Coffee, cotton and bananas are exported.

The Mayan civilization flourished in Guatemala and surrounding regions during the first millennium A.D. After almost three centuries as a Spanish colony, Guatemala won its independence in 1821. During the second half of the 20th century, it experienced a variety of military and civilian governments, as well as a 36-year guerrilla war. In 1996, the government signed a peace agreement formally ending the conflict, which had left more than 100,000 people dead and had created, by some estimates, some 1 million refugees.

MONETARY SYSTEM:

1 Peso = 100 Centavos to 1924
1 Quetzal = 100 Centavos, 1924-

Availability of Early Bank Issues

A rising inflation from about 1900 to 1924 created a need for more and more bank notes to be listed. Their value decreased, higher denominations were introduced, and by the time of the 1924 currency reform it took 60 old pesos to equal 1 new quetzal. The Caja Reguladora reissued notes of 20 Pesos or more into the new system but all lower peso values ceased to circulate. Many notes of these earlier banks are still readily available today.

The Bailiwick of Guernsey, a British crown dependency located in the English Channel 48 km. west of Normandy, France, has an area of 78 sq. km., including the Isles of Alderney, Jethou, Herm, Brechou and Sark, and a population of 58,681. Capital: St. Peter Port. Agriculture and cattle breeding are the main occupations.

Guernsey and the other Channel Islands represent the last remnants of the medieval Dukedom of Normandy, which held sway in both France and England. The islands were the only British soil occupied by German troops in World War II. Guernsey is a British crown dependency, but is not part of the UK. However, the UK Government is constitutionally responsible for its defense and international representation.

United Kingdom bank notes and coinage circulate concurrently with Guernsey money as legal tender.

Hawaii consists of eight main islands and numerous smaller islands of coral and volcanic origin situated in the central Pacific Ocean 2,400 miles (3,862 km.) from San Francisco. The archipelago has an area of 6,471 sq. mi. (16,641 sq. km.) and a population of 1.1 million. Capital: Honolulu. The principal industries are tourism and agriculture. Cane sugar and pineapples are exported.

The islands, originally populated by Polynesians who traveled from the Society Islands, were discovered by British navigator Capt. James Cook in 1778. He named them the Sandwich Islands. King Kamehameha the Great united the islands under one kingdom (1795-1810) which endured until 1893 when Queen Liliuokalani, the gifted composer of "Aloha Oe" and other songs, was deposed and a provisional government established. This was followed by a republic which governed Hawaii until 1898 when it ceded itself to the United States. Hawaii was organized as a territory in 1900 and became the 50th state of the United States on Aug. 21, 1959.

The Republic of Honduras, situated in Central America between El Salvador, Nicaragua and Guatemala, has an area of 43,277 sq. mi. (112,088 sq. km.) and a population of 6.48 million. Capital: Tegucigalpa. Tourism, agriculture, mining (gold and silver), and logging are the chief industries. Bananas, timber and coffee are exported.

Once part of Spain's vast empire in the New World, Honduras became an independent nation in 1821. After two and a half decades of mostly military rule, a freely elected civilian government came to power in 1982. During the 1980s, Honduras proved a haven for anti-Sandinista contras fighting the Marxist Nicaraguan Government and an ally to Salvadoran Government forces fighting leftist guerrillas. The country was devastated by Hurricane Mitch in 1998.

The Hungarian Republic, located in central Europe, has an area of 93,030 sq. km. and a population of 9.93 million. Capital: Budapest. The economy is d on agriculture and a rapidly expanding industrial sector. Machinery, chemicals, iron and steel, and fruits and vegetables are exported.

Hungary became a Christian kingdom in A.D. 1000 and for many centuries served as a bulwark against Ottoman Turkish expansion in Europe. The kingdom eventually became part of the polyglot Austro-Hungarian Empire, which collapsed during World War I. The country fell under Communist rule following World War II. In 1956, a revolt and an announced withdrawal from the Warsaw Pact were met with a massive military intervention by Moscow. Under the leadership of Janos Kadar in 1968, Hungary began liberalizing its economy, introducing so-called Goulash Communism. Hungary held its first multiparty elections in 1990 and initiated a free market economy. It joined NATO in 1999 and the EU in 2004.

The Republic of India, a subcontinent jutting southward from the mainland of Asia, has an area of 3,287,590 sq. km. and a population of 1,147.9 million, second only to that of the Peoples Republic of China. Capital: New Delhi. India's economy is d on agriculture and industrial activity. Engineering goods, cotton apparel and fabrics, handicrafts, tea, iron and steel are exported.

Aryan tribes from the northwest infiltrated onto the Indian subcontinent about 1500 B.C.; their merger with the earlier Dravidian inhabitants created the classical Indian culture. The Maurya Empire of the 4th and 3rd centuries B.C. - which reached its zenith under Ashoka - united much of South Asia. The Golden Age ushered in by the Gupta dynasty (4th to 6th centuries A.D.) saw a flowering of Indian science, art, and culture. Arab incursions starting in the 8th century and Turkic in the 12th were followed by those of European traders, beginning in the late 15th century. By the 19th century, Britain had assumed political control of virtually all Indian lands. Indian armed forces in the British army played a vital role in both World Wars. Nonviolent resistance to British colonialism led by Mohandas Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru brought independence in 1947. The subcontinent was divided into the secular state of India and the smaller Muslim state of Pakistan. A third war between the two countries in 1971 resulted in East Pakistan becoming the separate nation of Bangladesh. India's nuclear weapons testing in 1998 caused Pakistan to conduct its own tests that same year. The dispute between the countries over the state of Kashmir is ongoing, but discussions and confidence-building measures have led to decreased tensions since 2002. Despite impressive gains in economic investment and output, India faces pressing problems such as significant overpopulation, environmental degradation, extensive poverty, and ethnic and religious strife.

RULERS:

British to 1947

Note: Staple holes and condition:

Perfect uncirculated notes are rarely encountered without having at least two tiny holes made by staples, stick pins or stitching having been done during age old accounting practices before and after a note is released to circulation. Staples were officially discontinued in 1998.

PERSIAN GULF

Known as "Gulf Rupees." Intended for circulation in areas of Oman, Bahrain, Qatar and Trucial States during 1950's and early 1960's. "Z" prefix in serial #.

INDIA - BRITISH

The civilization of India, which began about 2500 B.C., flourished under a succession of empires - notably those of Chandragupta, Asoka and the Mughals - until undermined in the 18th and 19th centuries by European colonial powers.

The Portuguese were the first to arrive, off Calicut in May 1498. It was not until 1612, after the Portuguese and Spanish power had begun to wane, that the British East India Company established its initial settlement at Surat. Britain could not have chosen a more propitious time. The northern Mogul Empire, the central girdle of petty states, and the southern Vijayanagar Empire were crumbling and ripe for foreign exploitation. By the end of the century, English traders were firmly established in Bombay, Madras, Calcutta and lesser places elsewhere, and Britain was implementing its announced policy to create such civil and military institutions as may be the foundation of secure English domination for all time. By 1757, following the successful conclusion of a war of colonial rivalry with France during which the military victories of Robert Clive, a young officer with the British East India Company, made him the most powerful man in India, the British were firmly settled in India as not only traders but as conquerors. During the next 60 years, the British East India Company acquired dominion over most of India by bribery and force, and governed it directly or through puppet princelings.

Because of the Sepoy Mutiny of 1857-58, a large scale mutiny among Indian soldiers of the Bengal army, control of the government of India was transferred from the East India Company to the British Crown in 1858. At this point in world history, India was the brightest jewel in the imperial diadem of the British lords of the earth, but even then a movement for greater Indian representation in government presaged the Indian Empire's twilight hour less than a century hence - it would pass into history on August 15, 1947.

All private bank issues ceased by 1862.

INDIA - PRINCELY STATES

Only four Native States ever prepared bank notes for issue - Jammu and Kashmir in 1876, Dhrangadhra and Hyderabad in 1918, and Kutch in 1946. Kutch never released its notes, while those of Jammu and Kashmir were recalled shortly afterward. Dhrangadhra's notes may have been used briefly. Only Hyderabad's issues enjoyed a lengthy circulation until their withdrawal about 1953.

As World War II progressed, the British Indian colonial coinage became in short supply, especially after the Japanese had invaded Burma and then the Imphal-Kohima-Manipur region of India in 1943-1944. A number of the Native States devised CASH COUPONS to meet the shortage - small ticket-like cardboards, some were prepared from postage or revenue stamp plates, others created with coin pictures, etc. Most were tightly controlled, as attested by their series letters and control numbers - and apparently very few were saved by the populace.

Except for small hoards of Bikaner, Bundi, Indergadh and Junagadh, few specimens have survived since their period of issue. India had few paper money collectors during World War II.

Other Indian state notes may exist.

For purposes of visual clarity, bank notes are shown in this section at 42% of actual size; cash coupons are shown at 65 to 70% of actual size; and stamp money at 100%.

The Republic of Indonesia, the world's largest archipelago, extends for more than 4,827 km. along the equator from the mainland of southeast Asia to Australia. The 13,667 islands comprising the archipelago have a combined area of 1,919,440 sq. km. and a population of 237.5 million, including East Timor. Capital: Jakarta. Petroleum, timber, rubber and coffee are exported.

The Dutch began to colonize Indonesia in the early 17th century; the islands were occupied by Japan from 1942 to 1945. Indonesia declared its independence after Japan's surrender, but it required four years of intermittent negotiations, recurring hostilities, and UN mediation before the Netherlands agreed to relinquish its colony. Indonesia is the world's largest archipelagic state and home to the world's largest Muslim population. Current issues include: alleviating poverty, preventing terrorism, consolidating democracy after four decades of authoritarianism, implementing financial sector reforms, stemming corruption, holding the military and police accountable for human rights violations, and controlling avian influenza. In 2005, Indonesia reached a historic peace agreement with armed separatists in Aceh, which led to democratic elections in December 2006. Indonesia continues to face a low intensity separatist movement in Papua.

MONETARY SYSTEM:

1 Gulden = 100 Cents to 1948
1 Rupiah = 100 Sen, 1945-

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

A. VARIATIONS

This listing does not include the wide range of variations in the emergency paper money, e.g.

COLOR: In most cases only the main colors are listed; green may vary from blue-green to yellow-green, red from dark stone red to red-orange, etc.

PAPER: White, brown, thin (rice paper), thick, with or w/o wmk., and even notebook paper are used for the notes.

UNDERPRINT (unpt.): Is sometimes clear, but mostly vague or almost absent.

NUMBERING: There is a wide range of combinations, 1 to 5 letters, 5 or 6 digits, square or round digits, differences in style of the letters (sans serif or not).

STAMPS or POSTMARKS: In most cases not listed as it is easy to produce hand stamped notes, and falsifications do exist.

The Islamic Republic of Iran, located between the Caspian Sea and the Persian Gulf in southwestern Asia, has an area of 1,648,000 sq. km. and a population of 65.87 million. Capital: Tehran. Although predominantly an agricultural state, Iran depends heavily on oil for foreign exchange. Crude oil, carpets and agricultural products are exported.

Known as Persia until 1935, Iran became an Islamic republic in 1979 after the ruling monarchy was overthrown and the shah was forced into exile. Conservative clerical forces established a theocratic system of government with ultimate political authority vested in a learned religious scholar referred to commonly as the Supreme Leader who, according to the constitution, is accountable only to the Assembly of Experts. US-Iranian relations have been strained since a group of Iranian students seized the US Embassy in Tehran on 4 November 1979 and held it until 20 January 1981. During 1980-88, Iran fought a bloody, indecisive war with Iraq that eventually expanded into the Persian Gulf and led to clashes between US Navy and Iranian military forces between 1987 and 1988. Iran has been designated a state sponsor of terrorism for its activities in Lebanon and elsewhere in the world and remains subject to US and UN economic sanctions and export controls because of its continued involvement in terrorism and conventional weapons proliferation. Following the election of reformer Hojjat ol-Eslam Mohammad Khatami as president in 1997 and similarly a reformer Majles (parliament) in 2000, a campaign to foster political reform in response to popular dissatisfaction was initiated. The movement floundered as conservative politicians, through the control of unelected institutions, prevented reform measures from being enacted and increased repressive measures. Starting with nationwide municipal elections in 2003 and continuing through Majles elections in 2004, conservatives reestablished control over Iran's elected government institutions, which culminated with the August 2005 inauguration of hardliner Mahmud Ahmadi-Nejad as president.

The Republic of Ireland, occupying five-sixths of the island of Ireland located in the Atlantic Ocean west of Great Britain, has an area of 70,280 sq. km. and a population of 4.16 million. Capital: Dublin.

Celtic tribes arrived on the island between 600-150 B.C. Invasions by Norsemen that began in the late 8th century were finally ended when King Brian Boru defeated the Danes in 1014. English invasions began in the 12th century and set off more than seven centuries of Anglo-Irish struggle marked by fierce rebellions and harsh repressions. A failed 1916 Easter Monday Rebellion touched off several years of guerrilla warfare that in 1921 resulted in independence from the UK for 26 southern counties; six northern (Ulster) counties remained part of the UK. In 1949, Ireland withdrew from the British Commonwealth; it joined the European Community in 1973.

Additional information on bank notes of Northern Ireland can be found in Paper Money of Ireland by Bob Blake and Jonathan Callaway, published by Pam West.

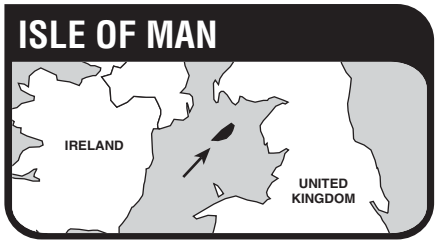
ISLE OF MAN



The Isle of Man, a dependency of the British Crown located in the Irish Sea equidistant from Ireland, Scotland and England, has an area of 572 sq. km. and a population of 76,220. Capital: Douglas. Agriculture, dairy farming, fishing and tourism are the chief industries.

Part of the Norwegian Kingdom of the Hebrides until the 13th century when it was ceded to Scotland, the isle came under the British crown in 1765. Current concerns include reviving the almost extinct Manx Gaelic language. Isle of Man is a British crown dependency but is not part of the UK. However, the UK Government remains constitutionally responsible for its defense and international representation. The Sovereign of the United Kingdom (currently Queen Elizabeth II) holds the title Lord of Man. The Isle of Man is ruled by its own legislative council and the House of Keys, one of the oldest legislative assemblies in the world. Acts of Parliament passed in London do not affect the island unless it is specifically mentioned.

United Kingdom bank notes and coinage circulate concurrently with Isle of Man money as legal tender.

PAPAL STATES

From the fall of Rome until modern times, "Italy," a 700 mile-long peninsula, was little more than a geographical expression. Although nominally included in the Empire of Charlemagne and the Holy Roman Empire, it was in reality divided into a number of independent states and kingdoms presided over by wealthy families, soldiers of fortune or hereditary rulers. The 19th century unification movement fostered by Mazzini, Garibaldi and Cavour attained fruition in 1860-70 with the creation of the Kingdom of Italy and the installation of Victor Emanuele, House of Savoy, as King.

LOMBARDO - VENETO

Comprised of the northern Italy duchies of Milan and Mantua and the Venetian Republic, which were absorbed by the Kingdom of Napoleon in 1805. After Napoleon fell in 1815, they were awarded by Austria and incorporated as Kingdom of Lombardy-Venice. This kingdom ceased after the conquest of Lombardy in 1859, and the conquest of Venetian territory in 1866, by the King of Italy, Vittorio Emanuele II.

PRINCIPATO DI LUCCA E PIOMBINO

PRINCEDOM OF LUCCA AND PIOMBINO

The Grand Duchy of Lucca and the Princedom of Piombino had during the centuries independent histories. The former was a republic from the 15th century and remained as such until the Napoleonic conquest. The latter was variously ruled or occupied by the Appiani first and then by the Buoncompagni from whom Napoleon took it away. On March 18, 1805 Napoleon united the two small states and granted them to his sister Elisa Bonaparte Baciocchi as a French principality. This new small state had a short

GRANDUCATO DI TOSCANA

GRAND DUCHY OF TUSCANY

The Medici family ruled the State from 1421 to 1737, when, as a consequence of the Spanish succession war, Tuscany fell under the Austrian influence with the Lorena House. This influence lasted until 1860, when the Grand Duchy joined the Kingdom of Italy. After the accession of Napoleon, from 1809 to 1814, the Grand Duchy was united to France and, after Napoleon's fall, underwent the indirect rule of Austria before joining the Kingdom of Italy.

The last Granduchi:

Ferdinando III, 1790-1801
and for a second period, 1814-1824
Leopoldo II, 1824-1859
Ferdinando II, 1859-1860
From 1817 up until 1856, the following Granducal Banks issued paper money:
Cassa di Sconto de Firenze
Banca di Sconto di Firenze
Banca di Sconto di Livorno
Banca di Siena
Banca di Arezzo
Banca di Pisa
Banca di Lucca

In 1857, all these banks merged to form Banca Nazionale Toscana and in 1859, this institute issued bank notes in the amount of nearly 10 million Lire. Until today, not one of the many different notes issued during the Granducal period is known to exist

STATO PONTIFICIO

PAPAL STATES

During many centuries prior to the formation of the unified Kingdom of Italy, Italy was divided into numerous independent papal and ducal states. The Popes held temporal sovereignty over an area in central Italy comprising some 17,000 sq. mi. (44,030 sq. km.) including the city of Rome. At the time of the general unification of Italy under the Kingdom of Sardinia, 1861, the papal dominions beyond Rome were acquired by that kingdom, diminishing the Pope's sovereignty to Rome and its environs. NOTE: During First Roman Republic, some S. Monte Della Pietà notes were overprint by the Republican Municipal Administration with the seal of about 20 different towns, to ratify the validity of circulation. All the Republican validated notes are rare, and in comparison with the normal notes, a price increase up to double the value for common seals and up to five times for rarer seals.

NOTE: During First Roman Republic, some Banco Di S. Spirito notes were overprint by the Republican Municipal Administration with the seal of about 15 different towns, to ratify the validity of circulation. All the Republican validated notes are rare and, in comparison with the normal notes, prices increase up to double the value for common seals and up to five times for rarer seals.

REGNO DELLE DUE SICILIE

KINGDOM OF THE TWO SICILIES

The Kingdom was formally created in 1816 from the ashes of the Napoleonic empire; but the history of the two regions continually crosses starting from the 12th century with Roger II, followed by the Angevin occupation in 1266, the Aragonese one in 1442, the very short French one during the first years of 1500. In 1905 the two areas became provinces of the Spanish monarchy ruled by a viceroy. After a short Austrian occupation subsequent to the Treaty of Utrecht (1713), the two provinces retu

REGNO D'ITALIA

From the fall of the Roman empire until last century, Italy was divided into many independent states and kingdoms, and some of them were sometimes occupied by other European States. The Risorgimento unification movement, fostered by Cavour, Garibaldi and Mazzini, with the help of England and France, attained fruition in 1860-70 with the creation of the Kingdom of Italy (March 1861) and the installation of Victor Emanuele II, King of Sardinia, as King of Italy.

The Italian Republic, a 700-mile-long peninsula extending into the heart of the Mediterranean Sea, has an area of 301,230 sq. km. and a population of 58.14 million. Captal: Rome. The economy centers about agriculture, manufacturing, forestry and fishing. Machinery, textiles, clothing and motor vehicles are exported.

Italy became a nation-state in 1861 when the regional states of the peninsula, along with Sardinia and Sicily, were united under King Victor Emmanuel II. An era of parliamentary government came to a close in the early 1920s when Benito Mussolini established a Fascist dictatorship. His alliance with Nazi Germany led to Italy's defeat in World War II. A democratic republic replaced the monarchy in 1946 and economic revival followed. Italy was a charter member of NATO and the European Economic Community (EEC). It has been at the forefront of European economic and political unification, joining the Economic and Monetary Union in 1999. Persistent problems include illegal immigration, organized crime, corruption, high unemployment, sluggish economic growth, and the low incomes and technical standards of southern Italy compared with the prosperous north.

Jamaica, a member of the British Commonwealth situated in the Caribbean Sea 90 miles south of Cuba, has an area of 10,991 sq. km. and a population of 2.8 million. Capital: Kingston. The economy is founded chiefly on mining, tourism and agriculture. Alumina, bauxite, sugar, rum and molasses are exported.

The island - discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1494 - was settled by the Spanish early in the 16th century. The native Taino Indians, who had inhabited Jamaica for centuries, were gradually exterminated and replaced by African slaves. England seized the island in 1655 and established a plantation economy d on sugar, cocoa, and coffee. The abolition of slavery in 1834 freed a quarter million slaves, many of whom became small farmers. Jamaica gradually obtained increasing independence from Britain, and in 1958 it joined other British Caribbean colonies in forming the Federation of the West Indies. Jamaica gained full independence when it withdrew from the Federation in 1962. Deteriorating economic conditions during the 1970s led to recurrent violence as rival gangs affiliated with the major political parties evolved into powerful organized crime networks involved in international drug smuggling and money laundering. Violent crime, drug trafficking, and poverty pose significant challenges to the government today. Nonetheless, many rural and resort areas remain relatively safe and contribute substantially to the economy.

Jamaica is a member of the Commonwealth of Nations. Elizabeth II is the Head of State, as Queen of Jamaica.

A decimal standard currency system was adopted on Sept. 8, 1969.

Japan, a constitutional monarchy situated off the east coast of Asia, has an area of 377,835 sq. km. and a population of 127.29 million. Capital: Tokyo. Japan, one of the three major industrial nations of the free world, exports machinery, motor vehicles, textiles and chemicals.

In 1603, a Tokugawa shogunate (military dictatorship) ushered in a long period of isolation from foreign influence in order to secure its power. For more than two centuries this policy enabled Japan to enjoy stability and a flowering of its indigenous culture. Following the Treaty of Kanagawa with the US in 1854, Japan opened its ports and began to intensively modernize and industrialize. During the late 19th and early 20th centuries, Japan became a regional power that was able to defeat the forces of both China and Russia. It occupied Korea, Formosa (Taiwan), and southern Sakhalin Island. In 1931-32 Japan occupied Manchuria, and in 1937 it launched a full-scale invasion of China. Japan attacked US forces in 1941 - triggering America's entry into World War II - and soon occupied much of East and Southeast Asia. After its defeat in World War II, Japan recovered to become an economic power and a staunch ally of the US. While the emperor retains his throne as a symbol of national unity, elected politicians - with heavy input from bureaucrats and business executives - wield actual decisionmaking power. The economy experienced a major slowdown starting in the 1990s following three decades of unprecedented growth, but Japan still remains a major economic power, both in Asia and globally.

The Bailiwick of Jersey, a British Crown dependency located in the English Channel 12 miles (19 km.) west of Normandy, France, has an area of 45 sq. mi. (117 sq. km.) and a population of 90,000. Capital: St. Helier. The economy is d on agriculture and cattle breeding - the importation of cattle is prohibited to protect the purity of the island's world-famous strain of milk cows.

Jersey and the other Channel Islands represent the last remnants of the medieval Dukedom of Normandy that held sway in both France and England. These islands were the only British soil occupied by German troops in World War II. Jersey is a British crown dependency but is not part of the UK. However, the UK Government is constitutionally responsible for its defense and international representation.

From 1816 to 1941, only two notes circulated as government issues: a 5 Pound 1840 Bearer Bond (see #A1 in SCWPM General Issues volume) and a 1 Pound 1874 Harbour Committee note. Some States politicians were bankers who apparently wanted fiscal control to remain with their banks. Eventually, over 100 banks, parishes and individuals became note issuers. Notes were often issued for road-building and other public works. Bank and parish issues sometimes became intertwined with those of private companies. The notes catalogued here are church, parish or bank issues which seemed to serve the general public in some capacity.

Keeling Cocos Islands are a group of 27 small coral islands located in the Indian Ocean. Discovered by Captain Keeling of the East India Company in 1609, they became a British protectorate in 1857. The islands were successfully administered from Ceylon from 1878, the Straits Settlements from 1886, and the Crown Colony of Singapore from 1903. However, the real administration was vested in the hands of the Clunies-Ross family, who established themselves in the islands in about 1827. In 1955 the administration of the islands was transferred from the United Kingdom to Australia on the understanding that the Clunies-Ross family would retain their ownership of their property although the islanders have been given the opportunity to acquire Australian citizenship. In July 1978 the Australian Government announced that it had arranged to buy the islands from Mr. John Clunies-Ross, thus ending the grant of territory in perpetuity by Queen Victoria.

Korea,"Land of the Morning Calm", occupies a mountainous peninsula in northeast Asia bounded by Manchuria, the Yellow Sea and the Sea of Japan. According to legend, the first Korean dynasty, that of the House of Tangun, ruled from 2333 BC to 1122 BC. It was followed by the dynasty of Kija, a Chinese scholar, which continued until 193 BC and brought a high civilization to Korea. The first recorded period in the history of Korea, the Period of the Three Kingdoms, lasted from 57 BC to 935 AD and achieved the first political unification on the peninsula. The Kingdom of Koryo, from which Korea derived its name, was founded in 935 and continued until 1392, when it was superseded by the Yi dynasty of King Yi, Sung Kye which was to last until the Japanese annexation in 1910.

At the end of the 16th century Korea was invaded and occupied for 7 years by Japan, and from 1627 until the late 19th century it was a semi-independent tributary of China. Japan replaced China as the predominant foreign influence at the end of the Sino-Japanese War (1894-95), only to find its position threatened by Russian influence from 1896 to 1904. The Russian threat was eliminated by the Russo-Japanese War (1904-05) and in 1905 Japan established a direct protectorate over Korea. On Aug. 22, 1910, the last Korean ruler signed the treaty that annexed Korea to Japan as a government general in the Japanese Empire. Japanese suzerainty was maintained until the end of World War II.

The Potsdam conference (1945) set the 38th parallel as the line dividing the occupation forces of the United States in the South and the Soviet Union in the north.

A contingent of the United States Army landed at Inchon to begin the acceptance of the surrender of Japanese forces in the South on Sept. 8, 1945. Unissued Japanese printed stock was released during the U.S. Army's administration for circulation in the southern sector.

NOTE: For later issues see Korea/North and Korea/South.

After centuries of self-determination, followed by various colonial occupations, Lagos (so named by the Portuguese because of its many lakes and lagoons) fell under British rule in 1861. The British administered Lagos at first from Sierra Leone, then as part of the Gold Coast. Lagos became a separate colony from 1886 to 1906; it was then conjoined with southern Nigeria. Lagos became the capital of Nigeria in 1960 and is located in the southwestern part of the country.

The Republic of Latvia, the central Baltic state in east Europe, has an area of 24,595 sq. mi. (43,601 sq. km.) and a population of 2.4 million. Capital: Riga. Livestock raising and manufacturing are the chief industries. Butter, bacon, fertilizers and telephone equipment are exported.

The name "Latvia" originates from the ancient Latgalians, one of four eastern Baltic tribes that formed the ethnic core of the Latvian people (ca. 8th-12th centuries A.D.). The region subsequently came under the control of Germans, Poles, Swedes, and finally, Russians. A Latvian republic emerged following World War I, but it was annexed by the USSR in 1940 - an action never recognized by the US and many other countries. Latvia reestablished its independence in 1991 following the breakup of the Soviet Union. Although the last Russian troops left in 1994, the status of the Russian minority (some 30% of the population) remains of concern to Moscow. Latvia joined both NATO and the EU in the spring of 2004.

The Republic of Liberia, located on the southern side of the west African bulge between Sierra Leone and the Ivory Coast, has an area of 38,250 sq. mi. (111,369 sq. km.) and a population of 3.26 million. Capital: Monrovia. The major industries are agriculture, mining and lumbering. Iron ore, diamonds, rubber, coffee and cocoa are exported.

Settlement of freed slaves from the US in what is today Liberia began in 1822; by 1847, the Americo-Liberians were able to establish a republic. William Tubman, president from 1944-71, did much to promote foreign investment and to bridge the economic, social, and political gaps between the descendents of the original settlers and the inhabitants of the interior. In 1980, a military coup led by Samuel Doe ushered in a decade of authoritarian rule. In December 1989, Charles Taylor launched a rebellion against Doe's regime that led to a prolonged civil war in which Doe himself was killed. A period of relative peace in 1997 allowed for elections that brought Taylor to power, but major fighting resumed in 2000. An August 2003 peace agreement ended the war and prompted the resignation of former president Charles Taylor, who faces war crimes charges in The Hague related to his involvement in Sierra Leone's civil war. After two years of rule by a transitional government, democratic elections in late 2005 brought President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf to power. The UN Mission in Liberia (UNMIL) maintains a strong presence throughout the country, but the security situation is still fragile and the process of rebuilding the social and economic structure of this war-torn country will take many years.

The Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, located on the north central coast of Africa between Tunisia and Egypt, has an area of 679,359 sq. mi. (1,759,540 sq. km.) and a population of 6.39 million. Capital: Tripoli. Crude oil, which accounts for 90 percent of the export earnings, is the mainstay of the economy.

The Italians supplanted the Ottoman Turks in the area around Tripoli in 1911 and did not relinquish their hold until 1943 when defeated in World War II. Libya then passed to UN administration and achieved independence in 1951. Following a 1969 military coup, Col. Muammar Abu Minyar al-Qadhafi began to espouse his own political system, the Third Universal Theory. The system is a combination of socialism and Islam derived in part from tribal practices and is supposed to be implemented by the Libyan people themselves in a unique form of "direct democracy." Qadhafi has always seen himself as a revolutionary and visionary leader. He used oil funds during the 1970s and 1980s to promote his ideology outside Libya, supporting subversives and terrorists abroad to hasten the end of Marxism and capitalism. In addition, beginning in 1973, he engaged in military operations in northern Chad's Aozou Strip - to gain access to minerals and to use as a of influence in Chadian politics - but was forced to retreat in 1987. UN sanctions in 1992 isolated Qadhafi politically following the downing of Pan AM Flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland. During the 1990s, Qadhafi began to rebuild his relationships with Europe. UN sanctions were suspended in April 1999 and finally lifted in September 2003 after Libya accepted responsibility for the Lockerbie bombing. In December 2003, Libya announced that it had agreed to reveal and end its programs to develop weapons of mass destruction and to renounce terrorism. Qadhafi has made significant strides in normalizing relations with Western nations since then. He has received various Western European leaders as well as many working-level and commercial delegations, and made his first trip to Western Europe in 15 years when he traveled to Brussels in April 2004. The US rescinded Libya's designation as a state sponsor of terrorism in June 2006. In January 2008, Libya assumed a nonpermanent seat on the United Nations Security Council for the 2008/09 term. In August 2008, the US and Libya signed a bilateral comprehensive claims settlement agreement to compensate claimants in both countries who allege injury or death at the hands of the other country, including the Lockerbie bombing, the LaBelle disco bombing, and the UTA 772 bombing. In October 2008, the US Government received $1.5 billion pursuant to the agreement to distribute to US national claimants, and as a result effectively normalized its bilateral relationship with Libya. The two countries then exchanged ambassadors for the first time since 1973 in January 2009.

The Macau R.A.E.M., a former Portuguese overseas province located in the South China Sea 35 miles (56 km.) southwest of Hong Kong, consists of the peninsula and the islands of Taipa and Coloane. It has an area of 14 sq. mi. (21.45 sq. km.) and a population of 415,850. Capital: Macau. The economy is d on tourism, gambling, commerce and gold trading - Macau is one of the few entirely free markets for gold in the world. Cement, textiles, vegetable oils and metal products are exported.

Established by the Portuguese in 1557, Macau is the oldest European settlement in the Far East. Pursuant to an agreement signed by China and Portugal on 13 April 1987, Macau became the Macau Special Administrative Region (SAR) of the People's Republic of China on 20 December 1999. In this agreement, China promised that, under its "one country, two systems" formula, China's socialist economic system would not be practiced in Macau, and that Macau would enjoy a high degree of autonomy in all matters except foreign and defense affairs for the next 50 years.

PRIVATE BANKS
During the 1920's and early 1930's the private banks of Macao issued various circulating checks in dollars to facilitate trade with Chinese firms. These apparently circulated freely along with the Pataca issues of the Banco Nacional Ultramarino which quite obviously were in short supply. Most examples known have appropriate colonial revenue adhesive stamps affixed as found on bills of exchange and private checks. The additional large brush strokes or marks obliterating the denomination indicates the sum has been paid. A similar circulating check was issued in 1944 by the Tai Fong Cambista.

The Republic of Malta, an independent parliamentary democracy within the British Commonwealth, is situated in the Mediterranean Sea between Sicily and North Africa. With the islands of Gozo and Comino, Malta has an area of 122 sq. mi. (316 sq. km.) and a population of 379,000. Capital: Valletta. With the islands of Gozo (Ghawdex), Comino, Cominetto and Filfla, Malta has no proven mineral resources, an agriculture insufficient to its needs and a small but expanding, manufacturing facility. Clothing, textile yarns and fabrics, and knitted wear are exported.

Great Britain formally acquired possession of Malta in 1814. The island staunchly supported the UK through both World Wars and remained in the Commonwealth when it became independent in 1964. A decade later Malta became a republic. Since about the mid-1980s, the island has transformed itself into a freight transshipment point, a financial center, and a tourist destination. Malta became an EU member in May 2004 and began to use the euro as currency in 2008.

Malvinas Islands, generally known as the Colony of the Falkland Islands and Dependencies, a British colony located in the South Atlantic about 500 miles northeast of Cape Horn, has an area of 4,700 sq. mi. (12,173 sq. km.). East Falkland and West Falkland, South Georgia, and South Sandwich are the dependencies and are the largest of the 200 islands. Capital: Port Stanley.

The Malvinas were discovered by British navigator John Davis (Davys) in 1592. French navigator Louis de Bougainville established the first settlement, at Port Louis, in 1764. The following year Capt. John Byron claimed the islands for Britain and left a small party at Saunders Islands. Spain later forced the French and British to abandon their settlements but did not implement its claim to the islands. In 1829 the Republic of Buenos Aires, which claimed to have inherited the Spanish rights, sent Louis Vernet to develop a colony on the island. In 1831 he seized three American sailing vessels, whereupon the men of the corvette, U.S.S. Lexington, destroyed his settlement and proclaimed the Malvinas to be free of all governance. Britain, which had never renounced its claim, then re-established its settlement in 1833. Argentine military forces invaded the Falkland Islands on April 2, 1982 which resulted in a confrontation of war; these occupation forces surrendered to the British between June 14-15, 1982. In April 1990 the Argentine Congress declared the Falkland and other British-held South Atlantic islands all part of the new Argentine province of Tierra del Fuego.

The island of Mauritius, a member of the British Commonwealth located in the Indian Ocean 500 miles (805 km.) east of Madagascar, has an area of 790 sq. mi. (2,045 sq. km.) and a population of 1.18 million. Capital: Port Louis. Sugar provides 90 percent of the export revenue.

Although known to Arab and Malay sailors as early as the 10th century, Mauritius was first explored by the Portuguese in the 16th century and subsequently settled by the Dutch - who named it in honor of Prince Maurits van Nassau - in the 17th century. The French assumed control in 1715, developing the island into an important naval overseeing Indian Ocean trade, and establishing a plantation economy of sugar cane. The British captured the island in 1810, during the Napoleonic Wars. Mauritius remained a strategically important British naval , and later an air station, playing an important role during World War II for anti-submarine and convoy operations, as well as the collection of signals intelligence. Independence from the UK was attained in 1968. A stable democracy with regular free elections and a positive human rights record, the country has attracted considerable foreign investment and has earned one of Africa's highest per capita incomes. Recent poor weather, declining sugar prices, and declining textile and apparel production, have slowed economic growth, leading to some protests over standards of living in the Creole community.

The United States of Mexico, located immediately south of the United States, has an area of 1,222,612 sq. mi. (1,967,183 sq. km.) and a population of 98.88 million. Capital: Mexico City. The economy is based on agriculture, manufacturing and mining. Cotton, sugar, coffee and shrimp are exported.

Mexico was the site of highly advanced Indian civilizations 1,500 years before conquistador Hernando Cortes conquered the wealthy Aztec empire of Montezuma, 1519-1521, and founded a Spanish colony which lasted for nearly 300 years. During the Spanish period, Mexico, then called New Spain, stretched from Guatemala to the present states of Wyoming and California, its present northern boundary having been established by the secession of Texas (1836) and the war of 1846-1848 with the United States.

Independence from Spain was declared by Father Miguel Hidalgo on Sept. 16, 1810, Mexican Independence Day, and was achieved by General Agustin de Iturbide in 1821. Iturbide became emperor in 1822 but was deposed when a republic was established a year later. For more than half a century following the birth of the republic, the political scene of Mexico was characterized by turmoil which saw two emperors (including the unfortunate Maximilian), several dictators and an average of one new government every nine months passing swiftly from obscurity to oblivion. The land, social, economic and labor reforms promulgated by the Reform Constitution of Feb. 5, 1917 established the basis for a sustained economic development and participative democracy that have made Mexico one of the most politically stable countries of modern Latin America.

The Mexican independence movement is of interest and concern to collectors because of the warfare-induced activity of local and state mints, which began with the Sept. 15, 1810 march on the capital led by Father Miguel Hidalgo, a well-intentioned man of imagination and courage who proved to be an inept organizer and leader. Hidalgo was captured and executed within 10 months. His revolution, led by such as Morelos, Guerrero and Iturbide, continued and culminated in Mexican independence in 1821. Turbulent years followed. From 1821 to 1867 there were two emperors, several dictators, and enough presidents to provide a change of government on the average of once every nine months. Porfirio Diaz, who had the longest tenure of any dictator in Latin American history, seized power in 1876 and did not relinquish it until 1911.

The final phase of Mexico's lengthy revolutionary period began in 1910 and lasted through the adoption of a liberal constitution and the election of a new congress in 1917. The 1910-17 revolution was agrarian in character and intended to destroy the regime of Díaz and to make Mexico economically and diplomatically independent. The republic experienced a state of upheaval that saw most of the leading figures of the revolution (Villa, Carranza, Obregón, Zapata, Calles) fighting each other at one time or another. Carranza eventually emerged as the most powerful figure of the early revolution. As de facto president in 1916, he convened a constitutional convention which produced a constitution in which the aims of the revolution were formalized.

BANK ON BANK CHECKS

These checks were issued by the banks of Torreón, Coahuila, payable to the bearer in Mexico City once the railroad was reopened. They were cleverly devised by the local bank executives when under pressure by General Francisco Villa who demanded cash to pay his troops. Thus, these bank on bank checks became legal tender and the bank executives met a dire commitment.

There are 2 series; A and B. Some of these notes bear the ovpt: FALSO.

The former independent kingdom of Montenegro, now one of the nominally autonomous federated units of Yugoslavia, was located in southeastern Europe north of Albania. As a kingdom, it had an area of 5,333 sq. mi. (13,812 sq. km.) and a population of about 250,000. The predominantly pastoral kingdom had few industries.

The use of the name Montenegro began in the 15th century when the Crnojevic dynasty began to rule the Serbian principality of Zeta; over subsequent centuries Montenegro was able to maintain its independence from the Ottoman Empire. From the 16th to 19th centuries, Montenegro became a theocracy ruled by a series of bishop princes; in 1852, it was transformed into a secular principality. After World War I, Montenegro was absorbed by the Kingdom of Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes, which became the Kingdom of Yugoslavia in 1929; at the conclusion of World War II, it became a constituent republic of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia. When the latter dissolved in 1992, Montenegro federated with Serbia, first as the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and, after 2003, in a looser union of Serbia and Montenegro. In May 2006, Montenegro invoked its right under the Constitutional Charter of Serbia and Montenegro to hold a referendum on independence from the state union. The vote for severing ties with Serbia exceeded 55% - the threshold set by the EU - allowing Montenegro to formally declare its independence on 3 June 2006.

The Kingdom of Morocco, situated on the northwest corner of Africa south of Spain, has an area of 172,413 sq. mi. (712,550 sq. km.) and a population of 28.98 million. Capital: Rabat. The economy is essentially agricultural. Phosphates, fresh and preserved vegetables, canned fish and raw material are exported.

In 788, about a century after the Arab conquest of North Africa, successive Moorish dynasties began to rule in Morocco. In the 16th century, the Sa'adi monarchy, particularly under Ahmad Al-Mansur (1578-1603), repelled foreign invaders and inaugurated a golden age. In 1860, Spain occupied northern Morocco and ushered in a half century of trade rivalry among European powers that saw Morocco's sovereignty steadily erode; in 1912, the French imposed a protectorate over the country. A protracted independence struggle with France ended successfully in 1956. The internationalized city of Tangier and most Spanish possessions were turned over to the new country that same year. Morocco virtually annexed Western Sahara during the late 1970s, but final resolution on the status of the territory remains unresolved. Gradual political reforms in the 1990s resulted in the establishment of a bicameral legislature, which first met in 1997. The country has made improvements in human rights under King Mohammed VI and its press is moderately free. Despite the continuing reforms, ultimate authority remains in the hands of the monarch.

The People's Republic of Mozambique, a former overseas province of Portugal stretching for 1,430 miles (2,301 km.) along the southeast coast of Africa, has an area of 309,494 sq. mi. (783,030 sq. km.) and a population of 19.56 million. Capital: Maputo. Agriculture is the chief industry. Cashew nuts, cotton, sugar, copra and tea are exported.

Almost five centuries as a Portuguese colony came to a close with independence in 1975. Large-scale emigration by whites, economic dependence on South Africa, a severe drought, and a prolonged civil war hindered the country's development until the mid 1990's. The ruling Front for the Liberation of Mozambique (FRELIMO) party formally abandoned Marxism in 1989, and a new constitution the following year provided for multiparty elections and a free market economy. A UN-negotiated peace agreement between FRELIMO and rebel Mozambique National Resistance (RENAMO) forces ended the fighting in 1992. In December 2004, Mozambique underwent a delicate transition as Joaquim Chissano stepped down after 18 years in office. His elected successor, Armando Emilio Guebuza, promised to continue the sound economic policies that have encouraged foreign investment. Mozambique has seen very strong economic growth since the end of the civil war largely due to post-conflict reconstruction.

The Socialist Republic of the Union of Myanmar (formally called Burma), a country of Southeast Asia fronting on the Bay of Bengal and the Andaman Sea, has an area of 261,789 sq. mi. (676,552 sq. km.) and a population of 49.34 million. Capital: Rangoon. Myanmar is an agricultural country heavily dependent on its leading product (rice) which embodies two-thirds of the cultivated area and accounts for 40 percent of the value of exports. Petroleum, lead, tin, silver, zinc, nickel, cobalt and precious stones are exported.

Britain conquered Burma over a period of 62 years (1824-1886) and incorporated it into its Indian Empire. Burma was administered as a province of India until 1937 when it became a separate, self-governing colony; independence from the Commonwealth was attained in 1948. Gen. Ne Win dominated the government from 1962 to 1988, first as military ruler, then as self-appointed president, and later as political kingpin. In September 1988, the military deposed Ne Win and established a new ruling junta. Despite multiparty legislative elections in 1990 that resulted in the main opposition party - the National League for Democracy (NLD) - winning a landslide victory, the junta refused to hand over power. NLD leader and Nobel Peace Prize recipient Aung San Suu Kyi, who was under house arrest from 1989 to 1995 and 2000 to 2002, was imprisoned in May 2003 and subsequently transferred to house arrest. After the ruling junta in August 2007 unexpectedly increased fuel prices, tens of thousands of Burmese marched in protest, led by prodemocracy activists and Buddhist monks. In late September 2007, the government brutally suppressed the protests, killing at least 13 people and arresting thousands for participating in the demonstrations. Since then, the regime has continued to raid homes and monasteries and arrest persons suspected of participating in the pro-democracy protests. The junta appointed Labor Minister Aung Kyi in October 2007 as liaison to Aung San Suu Kyi, who remains under house arrest and virtually incommunicado with her party and supporters. Burma in early May 2008 was struck by Cyclone Nargis which official estimates claimed left over 80,000 dead and 50,000 injured. Despite this tragedy, the junta proceeded with its May constitutional referendum, the first vote in Burma since 1990, setting the stage for the 2010 parliamentary elections.The country name in English was changed to Union of Myanmar in 1989.

The Kingdom of the Netherlands, a country of western Europe fronting on the North Sea and bordered by Belgium and Germany, has an area of 15,770 sq. mi. (40,844 sq. km.) and a population of 15.87 million. Capital: Amsterdam, but the seat of government is at The Hague. The economy is d on dairy farming and a variety of industrial activities. Chemicals, yarns and fabrics, and meat products are exported.

The Dutch United Provinces declared their independence from Spain in 1579; during the 17th century, they became a leading seafaring and commercial power, with settlements and colonies around the world. After a 20-year French occupation, a Kingdom of the Netherlands was formed in 1815. In 1830 Belgium seceded and formed a separate kingdom. The Netherlands remained neutral in World War I, but suffered invasion and occupation by Germany in World War II. A modern, industrialized nation, the Netherlands is also a large exporter of agricultural products. The country was a founding member of NATO and the EEC (now the EU), and participated in the introduction of the euro in 1999.

Netherlands Indies (now Indonesia) comprised Sumatra and adjacent islands, Java with Madura, Borneo (except for Sabah, Sarawak and Brunei), Celebes with Sangir and Talaud Islands, and the Moluccas and Lesser Sunda Islands east of Java (excepting the Portuguese half of Timor and the Portuguese enclave of Oe-Cusse). Netherlands New Guinea (now Irian Jaya) was ceded to Indonesia in 1962. The Dutch colonial holdings formed an archipelago of more than 13,667 islands spread across 3,000 miles (4,824 km.) in southeast Asia. The area is rich in oil, rubber, timber and tin.

Portuguese traders established posts in the East Indies in the 16th century, but they were soon outnumbered by the Dutch VOC (United East India Company) who arrived in 1602 and gradually established themselves as the dominant colonial power. Dutch dominance, interrupted by British incursions during the Napoleonic Wars, established the Netherlands Indies as one of the richest colonial possessions in the world.

One day after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor the Netherlands declared war against Japan and therefore a state of war existed between Japan and the Dutch East Indies. The main islands of the archipelago were taken by the Japanese during the first three months of 1942; on March 8, 1942 the Royal Netherlands Indies Army surrendered in Kalidjati (between Jakarta and Bandung on Java island). The Japanese placed Sumatra and former British Malaya (including Singapore) under the administration of the 25th army, Java and Madura under the 16th army and the rest of Indonesia, including Borneo and Sulawesi (Celebes), under the administration of the Japanese navy. The 1942 series was placed in circulation immediately after the conquest of Borneo. Initially the notes were printed in Japan, later they were printed locally.

From September 1944 the 1942 series was replaced by a set in the Indonesian (and Japanese) language instead of Dutch as the Japanese wanted to support the growing nationalist movement in Indonesia in this way as well.

The 100 and 1000 rupiah which are similar to Malayan notes issued in 1942 (#M8-9 and 10) are believed to have been issued in Sumatra only; the 1000 rupiah never reached normal circulation at all (see #126 and 127).

The Japanese surrendered on August 15, 1945 (effective for Java and Sumatra on September 12) and the Republic of Indonesia was proclaimed on August 17, 1945. During 1946-1949 (the first Dutch troops returned to Java March 6, 1946) the struggle for independence by the Indonesian nationalists against the Dutch caused monetary chaos (see also the Indonesia section in Volume One of this catalog) and the Japanese invasion money remained valid in both the Dutch and Indonesian nationalist-controlled areas as late as 1948 and 1949 at different rates to the Netherlands Indies gulden and the Indonesian rupiah.

Netherlands Indies (now Indonesia) comprised Sumatra and adjacent islands, Java with Madura, Borneo (except for Sabah, Sarawak and Brunei), Celebes with Sangir and Talaud Islands, and the Moluccas and Lesser Sunda Islands. The Dutch colonial holdings formed an archipelago of more than 13,000 islands spread across 3,000 miles (4,824 km.) in southeast Asia. Portuguese traders established posts in the East Indies in the 16th century, but they were soon outnumbered by the Dutch who arrived in 1596 a

New Zealand, a parliamentary state located in the southwestern Pacific 1,250 miles (2,011 km.) east of Australia, has an area of 103,736 sq. mi. (269,056 sq. km.) and a population of 4.3 million. Capital: Wellington. Wool, meat, dairy products and some manufactured items are exported.

The Polynesian Maori reached New Zealand in about A.D. 800. In 1840, their chieftains entered into a compact with Britain, the Treaty of Waitangi, in which they ceded sovereignty to Queen Victoria while retaining territorial rights. In that same year, the British began the first organized colonial settlement. A series of land wars between 1843 and 1872 ended with the defeat of the native peoples. The British colony of New Zealand became an independent dominion in 1907 and supported the UK militarily in both World Wars. New Zealand's full participation in a number of defense alliances lapsed by the 1980s. In recent years, the government has sought to address longstanding Maori grievances.

John Cabot, who visited Newfoundland in 1497, is given the title of discoverer although it is likely that Vikings visited its shore on their various trips to the west. Early settlement efforts were made by the British involving such men as Sir Humphrey Gilbert, John Guy and Sir George Calvert. There was much dispute between the French and the British for the island and its fishing rights. Awarded to England by the Treaty of Utrecht of 1713. Granted first governor in 1728. Adequate local government did not develop until the mid 1800s. Made a British colony in 1934 and became a province of Canada (along with Labrador) in 1949.

The Republic of Nicaragua, situated in Central America between Honduras and Costa Rica, has an area of 50,193 sq. mi (130,000 sq. km.) and a population of 4.69 million. Capital: Managua. Agriculture, mining (gold and silver) and hardwood logging are the principal industries. Cotton, meat, coffee, tobacco and sugar are exported.

The Pacific coast of Nicaragua was settled as a Spanish colony from Panama in the early 16th century. Independence from Spain was declared in 1821 and the country became an independent republic in 1838. Britain occupied the Caribbean Coast in the first half of the 19th century, but gradually ceded control of the region in subsequent decades. Violent opposition to governmental manipulation and corruption spread to all classes by 1978 and resulted in a short-lived civil war that brought the Marxist Sandinista guerrillas to power in 1979. Nicaraguan aid to leftist rebels in El Salvador caused the US to sponsor anti-Sandinista contra guerrillas through much of the 1980s. Free elections in 1990, 1996, and 2001, saw the Sandinistas defeated, but voting in 2006 announced the return of former Sandinista President Daniel Ortega Saavedra. Nicaragua's infrastructure and economy - hard hit by the earlier civil war and by Hurricane Mitch in 1998 - are slowly being rebuilt.

The Kingdom of Norway, a constitutional monarchy located in northwestern Europe, has an area of 150,000 sq. mi. (388,500 sq. km.) including the island territories of Spitzbergen (Svalbard) and Jan Mayen, and a population of 4.46 million. Capital: Oslo. The diversified economic of Norway includes shipping, fishing, forestry, agriculture and manufacturing. Nonferrous metals, paper and paperboard, paper pulp, iron, steel and oil are exported.

Two centuries of Viking raids into Europe tapered off following the adoption of Christianity by King Olav Tryggvason in 994. Conversion of the Norwegian kingdom occurred over the next several decades. In 1397, Norway was absorbed into a union with Denmark that lasted more than four centuries. In 1814, Norwegians resisted the cession of their country to Sweden and adopted a new constitution. Sweden then invaded Norway but agreed to let Norway keep its constitution in return for accepting the union under a Swedish king. Rising nationalism throughout the 19th century led to a 1905 referendum granting Norway independence. Although Norway remained neutral in World War I, it suffered heavy losses to its shipping. Norway proclaimed its neutrality at the outset of World War II, but was nonetheless occupied for five years by Nazi Germany (1940-45). In 1949, neutrality was abandoned and Norway became a member of NATO. Discovery of oil and gas in adjacent waters in the late 1960s boosted Norway's economic fortunes. The current focus is on containing spending on the extensive welfare system and planning for the time when petroleum reserves are depleted. In referenda held in 1972 and 1994, Norway rejected joining the EU.

In general usage, Oceania is the collective name for the islands scattered throughout most of the Pacific Ocean. It has traditionally been divided into four parts: Australasia (Australia and New Zealand), Melenesia, Micronesia and Polynesia.

Numismatically, Oceania is the name applied to the Gilbert and Solomon Islands, New Britain, and Papua New Guinea, hence the British denominations.

The Islamic Republic of Pakistan, located on the Indian subcontinent between India and Afghanistan, has an area of 310,404 sq. mi. (803,943 sq. m.) and a population of 170 million. Capital: Islamabad. Pakistan is mainly an agricultural land. Yarn, cotton, rice and leather are exported.

The Indus Valley civilization, one of the oldest in the world and dating back at least 5,000 years, spread over much of what is presently Pakistan. During the second millennium B.C., remnants of this culture fused with the migrating Indo-Aryan peoples. The area underwent successive invasions in subsequent centuries from the Persians, Greeks, Scythians, Arabs (who brought Islam), Afghans, and Turks. The Mughal Empire flourished in the 16th and 17th centuries; the British came to dominate the region in the 18th century. The separation in 1947 of British India into the Muslim state of Pakistan (with West and East sections) and largely Hindu India was never satisfactorily resolved, and India and Pakistan fought two wars - in 1947-48 and 1965 - over the disputed Kashmir territory. A third war between these countries in 1971 - in which India capitalized on Islamabad's marginalization of Bengalis in Pakistani politics - resulted in East Pakistan becoming the separate nation of Bangladesh. In response to Indian nuclear weapons testing, Pakistan conducted its own tests in 1998. The dispute over the state of Kashmir is ongoing, but discussions and confidence-building measures have led to decreased tensions since 2002. Mounting public dissatisfaction with President Musharraf, coupled with the assassination of the prominent and popular political leader, Benazir Bhutto, in late 2007, and Musharraf's resignation in August 2008, led to the September presidential election of Asif Zardari, Bhutto's widower. Pakistani government and military leaders are struggling to control Islamist militants, many of whom are located in the tribal areas adjacent to the border with Afghanistan. The November 2008 Mumbai attacks again inflamed Indo-Pakistan relations. The Pakistani Government is also faced with a deteriorating economy as foreign exchange reserves decline, the currency depreciates, and the current account deficit widens.

Papua New Guinea, an independent member of the British Commonwealth, occupies the eastern half of the island of New Guinea. It lies north of Australia near the equator and borders on West Irian. The country, which includes nearby Bismarck Archipelago, Buka and Bougainville, has an area of 462,820 sq. km. and a population of 5.93 million. Capital: Port Moresby. The economy is agricultural, and exports include copra, rubber, cocoa, coffee, tea, gold and copper.

The eastern half of the island of New Guinea - second largest in the world - was divided between Germany (north) and the UK (south) in 1885. The latter area was transferred to Australia in 1902, which occupied the northern portion during World War I and continued to administer the combined areas until independence in 1975. A nine-year secessionist revolt on the island of Bougainville ended in 1997 after claiming some 20,000 lives.

The Republic of Paraguay, a landlocked country in the heart of South America surrounded by Argentina, Bolivia and Brazil, has an area of 157,042 sq. mi. (406,752 sq. km.) and a population of 5.5 million, 95 percent of whom are of mixed Spanish and Indian descent. Capital: Asunción. The country is predominantly agrarian, with no important mineral deposits or oil reserves. Meat, timber, oilseeds, tobacco and cotton account for 70 percent of Paraguay's export revenue.

In the disastrous War of the Triple Alliance (1865-70) - between Paraguay and Argentina, Brazil, and Uruguay - Paraguay lost two-thirds of all adult males and much of its territory. It stagnated economically for the next half century. In the Chaco War of 1932-35, Paraguay won large, economically important areas from Bolivia. The 35-year military dictatorship of Alfredo Stroessner ended in 1989, and, despite a marked increase in political infighting in recent years, Paraguay has held relatively free and regular presidential elections since then.

The Republic of Perú, located on the Pacific coast of South America, has an area of 496,222 sq. mi. (1,285,216 sq. km.) and a population of 25.66 million. Capital: Lima. The diversified economy includes mining, fishing and agriculture. Fish meal, copper, sugar, zinc and iron ore are exported.

Ancient Peru was the seat of several prominent Andean civilizations, most notably that of the Incas whose empire was captured by the Spanish conquistadors in 1533. Peruvian independence was declared in 1821, and remaining Spanish forces defeated in 1824. After a dozen years of military rule, Peru returned to democratic leadership in 1980, but experienced economic problems and the growth of a violent insurgency. President Alberto Fujimori's election in 1990 ushered in a decade that saw a dramatic turnaround in the economy and significant progress in curtailing guerrilla activity. Nevertheless, the president's increasing reliance on authoritarian measures and an economic slump in the late 1990s generated mounting dissatisfaction with his regime, which led to his ouster in 2000. A caretaker government oversaw new elections in the spring of 2001, which ushered in Alejandro Toledo Manrique as the new head of government - Peru's first democratically elected president of Native American ethnicity. The presidential election of 2006 saw the return of Alan Garcia Perez who, after a disappointing presidential term from 1985 to 1990, returned to the presidency with promises to improve social conditions and maintain fiscal responsibility.

The Republic of the Philippines, an archipelago in the western Pacific 500 miles (805 km.) from the southeast coast of Asia, has an area of 115,830 sq. mi. (300,000 sq. km.) and a population of 75.04 million. Capital: Manila. The economy of the 7,000-island group is based on agriculture, forestry and fishing. Timber, coconut products, sugar and hemp are exported.

Migration to the Philippines began about 30,000 years ago when land bridges connected the islands with Borneo and Sumatra. Ferdinand Magellan claimed the islands for Spain in 1521. The first permanent settlement was established by Miguel de Legazpi at Cebu in April of 1565; Manila was established in 1572. A British expedition captured Manila and occupied the Spanish colony in Oct. of 1762, but it was returned to Spain by the treaty of Paris, 1763. Spain held the Philippines amid a growing movement of Filipino nationalism until 1898 when they were ceded to the United States at the end of the Spanish-American War. The Filipinos then fought unsuccessfully against the United States to maintain their independent Republic proclaimed by Emilio Aguinaldo. The country became a self-governing Commonwealth of the United States in 1935, and attained independence as the Republic of the Philippines on July 4, 1946. During World War II the Japanese had set up a puppet republic, but this quasi-government failed to achieve worldwide recognition. The occupation lasted from late 1941 to 1945. Ferdinand Marcos lost to Corazón Aquino in elections of 1986. Marcos then fled the country. In 1992 Fidel Ramos was elected president. He was succeeded in 1998 by Joseph E. Estrada, who was deposed in January 2001 and replaced by his vice-president Gloria Macapagal Arroyo.

WWII EMERGENCY & GUERRILLA CURRENCY

INTRODUCTION

The outbreak of war in December 1941 brought about a vast incdrease in Philippine military and governmental expenditures. This in turn resulted in a critical shortage of coins and small denomination bank notes. The situation was further aggravated when Commonwealth President Manuel L. Quezon decreed an advance of three months' salary to all government employees. In effect this was a bonus, as all employees remaining at their posts were to receive their regular salary also.

Provincial treasuries, regional banks and commercial enterprises were all dependent upon Manila for their currency supplies. The deteriorating military situation soon made this impossible.

To provide the desperately needed currency - including fractional notes for small change - President Quezon created Currency Committees which were authorized to print emergency currency.

Provincial treasuries were soon called upon to pay for Commonwealth expenditures, and to ensure an adequate money supply. President Quezon authorized provincial governments to print currency if such could not be obtained from currency committees already established. Even before such authorization, some provinces had, of necessity, resorted to the use of couponized checks.

All emergency currency issued under Presidential authority had the same validity as regular Philippine currency and was legal tender throughout the entire Philippines, regardless of where it was printed. Exchange rate was to stay at 2 to 1; 2 Pesos = 1 U.S. dollar.

There came into being two separate areas, the occupied and the unoccupied or free. In the occupied area only regular Philippine bank notes and Japanese military currency was permitted to circulate. In free areas (excluding Luzon and Cebu) Japanese military currency was prohibited and emergency currency, outlawed by the Japanese, continued in circulation.

To finance the free civil governments and the guerrilla military forces, currency was issued under various authority. Some was issued under military authority, and some under authority granted by President Quezon prior to his departure from the Philippines. But the majority of it was printed by currency committees appointed by President Quezon via radio from Washington.

The post-surrender currency is often referred to as guerrilla currency. However, all issues under presidential authority were officially designated by President Quezon as emergency currency. In theory it had the same validity as regular Philippine currency. In practice, such was not the case. Although there was some inter-island acceptance, these currencies circulated primarily in the area of issuance, or in adjacent areas. Nor did the currency ever achieve acceptance on a par with regular Philippine bank notes despite penalties for discrimination against it. The prolific amout printed in some areas such as Panay (Iloilo currency) and Negros (Montelibano currency) resulted in successive depreciation until the notes were actually worth but a tenth of their face value. Although not as severe, similar depreciation took place in other areas.

The emergency and guerrilla notes listed in this catalog consist only of the major issues of a regional or provincial nature. There are, in addition, numerous issues by local and municipal authority primarily to provide small change and which had only local circulation.

PAPER

Almost every type of available paper was used in one place or another. These included bond (often commercially wmk.), laid, manila, brown, ledger, old documents, cloth (actually cloth-reinforced paper), and Bais. Bais paper was manufactured as a side product by the Bais Sugar Central in Negros Oriental Province. The paper varies in thickness but is distiguished by a wmk. of parallel bars widely spaced. Clarity of the wmk. varies from almost indiscernible to so pronounced that it actually weakens the paper. Depending on how the paper was fed into the presses, the wmk. may be either vertical or horizontal.

COUNTERFEITS

Known countefeits are listed, but others undoubtedly exist and may turn up as collectors become better informed. Actually, counterfeiting was a very minor problem considering the adverse conditions under which these currencies were produced. The collector need have little concern about being stuck with a counterfeit. Except for three notes, counterfeits are far scarcer than their genuine counterparts and are eagerly sought by the specialist. It should be emphasized that the listed counterfeits were produced during the war for circulation. There ar eno known modern fakes of any currency listed in this section.

Most counterfeits are easily identified as the majority were produced under even more adverse conditions than the genuine. In most cases counterfeiters did not have numbering machines, thus many counterfeits are readily identifiable by the crudeness of serial number. In other cases counterfeiters made glaring mistakes. The most difficult to identify are counterfeits of the 5 and 10 Pesos notes of Bohol. A few of these are of even better production than the genuine, including serial number. Even so, the majority of them are identifiable as they have the wrong countersignatures for corresponding serial number blocks.

Two counterfeits of Mindanao (cat. #S488X2 and S528X) are very common, but easily identified. None of them ever saw use in Mindanao. They were produced in the Manila area for the black market when the Japanese military Peso had depreciated so much (1000 to 1) that any other form of currency was preferable.

The 100 Pesos counterfeit of Iloilo (cat. #S322X1) was produced in large quantities. Even so, it has about the same numismatic value as the genuine, except that the counterfeit is more readily available in AU or Unc. All other counterfeits command a premium over the genuine, and many of them are in the scarce to rare category.

Counterfeiting in Bohol was so rampant that it must have been a major wartime occupation. However, there are so many different counterfeits of 5 and 10 Pesos notes, and genuine notes are so common, that even here the counterfeit is far scarcer than the genuine.

REDEMPTION

by the Japanese Puppet Government

It was not until Japan invaded Cebu and Panay in April 1942 that they were confronted with emergency currency printed on instructions from President Quezon. The Japanese Commander-in-Chief declared thes currrencies to be enemy Militqary notes have no monetary value whatsoever.

From a military viewpoint the ordinance made good sense. On both Cebu and Panay the USAFFE had withdrawn to mountain strongholds capable of sustaining prolonded resistence. By declaring the emergency notes worthless the Japanese hoped to prevent the USAFFE from purchasing food and other supplies.

But with the USAFFE surrender and Japanese occupation of the Visayan and Mindanao provinces, the ordinance became a white elephant. Regular Philippine coins and currency had disappeared from circulation and emergency notes had become the sole medium of exchange. Prohibiting use of these notes would have destroyed what little vitality remained in the badly damaged economy. Apparently the Japanese realized this, as they made little effort to enforce the ordinance.

The circulation of emergency notes became an increasing embarrassment to the Japanese. Not only was it in violation of their military laws, but a constant reminder of their failure to discredit the former regime. Even worse, emergency notes were an obstacle to the curculation of their own military currency. Some way had to be found to remove the offending notes from circulation.

The obvious solution was to redeem the notes, but for the Japanese to do so would be an ever greater embarrassment. The dilemma was resolved by having the puppet government do it for them. As the puppet government was bereft of funds, the Japanese generously arranged to lend it the money to do so.

On March 14, 1943 Jorge B. Vargas, Chairman of the Philippine Executive Commission, issued executive orders under which redemption of emergency currency would take place. The announcement received elaborate coverage in the news media with lavish praise to the Japanese for their unselfish generousity. This was followed up by an enormous propaganda campaign designed to ensure the success of the undertaking.

Only printed notes, issued prior to surrender, were eligible for redemption. Notes produced by mimeograph were not.

Before notes could be redeemed they first had to be registered. A June 30, 1943 deadline was set for registration, after which the amount could be computed and necessary funds sent from Manila for redemption.

Provincial Treasurers, as well as Municipal Treasurers in the larger towns, were provided with rubber stamps for the purpose. Other treasurers did countersigning by pen or typewriter.

After notes were registered (countersigned) they were returned to the owner until funds arrived for redemption. For various reasons, many notes properly registered (countersigned) were never presented for redemption. The collector may find numerous different examples, particularly the notes of Mountain Province.

Regulations required that after redemption, each note was to be stamped PAID in black on the face. Regulations also required that each note be stamped with suitable Japanese characters. The redeemed notes were then sent to Manila for final counting and destruction.

Apparently the requirement for stamping in Japanese was generally ignored, as only the provinces of Lanao and Leyte seem to have done so. Stampings applied in Lanao are illustrated in the catalog listing for that province (cat. #S381-S383). The Leyte stamping is illustrated below. A rough translation is officially acknowledged.

Despite the fanfare and propaganda which accompanied the registration period, final results were disappointing. The Japanese were furious and put pressure on their puppet government.

The disappointing results were concealed. It was announced instead that it was most successful, but as not everyone had been able to take advantage of the generosity of the Japanese, the period for redemption was being extended - in some provinces for six months, in others until further notice. The period between registration and redemption was shortened, and in some cases eliminated. Puppet officials toured the provinces urging people to turn in all notes remaining in their possession. The propaganda campaign continued until March 30, 1944 when it was finally terminated.

The success of the campaign can be judged by giving actual results for two provinces where it was carried out most vigorously. Leyte: 242,748.65 redeemed out of a total in circulation of 2,065,410.00. Negros Occidental: 443,781.55 redeemed out of a total in circulation of 4,660,980.

APAYAO

One of five semi-autonomous sub-provinces which, during WWII, comprised the Mountain Province.

Following the surrender on May 6, 1942 of all USAFFE forces, provincial officials of Mountain Province subsequently surrendered to the Japanese. In the remote sub-province of Apayao, the surrender orders were ignored. Deputy Governor Milton Ayochok assumed, for the duration of the emergency, authority to print emergency currency which President Quezon had previously given to the Mountain Province.

On September 11, 1942 the Apayao Provincial Board adopted Resolution No. 4, authorizing the printing of emergency currency to provide funds for fiscal year 1942-1943. A Currency Committee was formed composed of Deputy Governor Ayochok as Chairman, with Deputy Treasurer M. Medina and Deputy Auditor F. A. Enciso as Members.

The first issue of Apayao notes was printed from hand-carved plates at Kabugao in late 1942. A total of 102,495 pesos was issued. (Note: the fourth issue of Cagayan notes was also printed at Kabugao during the same period which accounts for the similarity between the two issues.)

A second issue of Apayao notes was produced by mimeograph in 1943 after Japanese military forces had driven the Provincial Government to a remote area. On April 1, 1943, Governor Ayochok was captured by the Japanese. He was among those killed in a mass execution of officials and civilians at Ripang in mid-1943. Subsequently the Japanese also captured the official records of the Currency Committee, so no information survives as to quantity printed. It would appear from recorded serial numbers that this second issue equalled, and possible even exceeded, that of the first issue.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

MOUNTAIN PROVINCE

BOHOL

On May 22, 1942 Japanese occupation forces established garrisons at Tagbilaran, the capital, and Guindulman where they operated manganese mines.

On January 9, 1943 guerrilla officers and unsurrendered provincial officials established a free provincial government with Conrado D. Marapao as Governor. Eventually its jurisdiction was established over 34 of the 36 municipalities.

Just prior to the surrender, President Quezon had authorized Bohol to issue 150,000 pesos in emergency currency. This authority was the basis for printing currency to finance the free government and guerrilla force. The Currency Board consisted of Prov. Auditor Dalmatio Ramos as Chairman, with Prov. Fiscal Jose C. Borromeo and Acting Prov. Treasurer Doroteo Toledo as Members.

In June, 1943 radio contact was established with President Quezon who authorized an additional 200,000 pesos. In September President Quezon authorized an additional 1,000,000 pesos. The printing took place at the Municipality of Carmen. Notes were printed in gray-black to intense black on manila paper of varying thickness, except for a few hundred notes on white paper. Serial numbers were applied in two different styles of type. As an anti-counterfeiting measure, various arrangements of countersignatures were applied on the back. Nearly three times the authorized amount was printed, and of this 3,710,789.55 pesos officially issued, when printing was abruptly halted by the Japanese.

On June 24, 1944 large Japanese forces landed at seven different places. At Carmen they captured Auditor Ramos and Fiscal Borromeo along with printing press, plates and tens of thousands of pesos in finished and partly printed currency. These notes were soon in circulation.

When redemption took place after the war the notes captured by the Japanese were specifically excluded from redemption. Thus many of them may be found with pen inscription excess, fallen, or fallen to Japanese as well as COUNTERFEIT rubber stamped.

Somehow, quantities of 5 Pesos notes (serial # 203,572 to 208,764) and 10 Pesos notes (serial # 192,555 to 208,741) were saved from capture. These were officially issued even though most of them did not have proper countersignatures.

Counterfeiting began shortly after the notes were issued and soon became rampant. Counterfeits of the 50 Centavos and 1 Peso SERIES 1942 are rare, but the 5 and 10 Pesos notes were extensively counterfeited, and there are numerous varieties of each, ranging from crude to excellent. Many may be identified by crude serial numbers. Most may be identified because of the fake countersignatures not coinciding with the correct ones for a particular serial number group. Not only were Bohol notes counterfeited, but also those of Mindanao and Misamis Occidental, and possible notes of Iloilo and Cebu.

BUKIDNON

(Grinstead Issue, 109th Div. USFIP)

Refer to Mindanao Military Issues.

Cagayan

The Japanese Tanaka Department landed at Aparri and Gonzaga on December 10, 1941 and occupied the capital, Tuguegarao, and its adjacent airfield on December 12.

Provincial Governor Marcelo Adduru hastily evacuated the entire provincial government to the municipality of Tuao where the provincial government continued to function despite its isolation. One of the major problems confronting it was in paying for necessary expenditures. The small amount of ready cash was quickly exhausted, and soon also the supply of Treasury checks. On January 1, 1942 the Provincial Board created a Currency Board to devise ways to overcome the currency shortage. This Currency Board issued four distinct types of currency.

The first issue utilized postal money order forms, the serial numbers of which were recorded. Originally, some odd denominations were issued. But as this did not provide an adequate circulating medium, subsequent issues were produced in standard currency denominations.

When the available supply of money order forms was exhausted, a second issue of currency was provided by utilizing the stock of Internal Revenue stamps affixed to mimeographed forms. The Peso denominations are dated Tuao, Cag. Jan. 1, 1942 although all were issued much later. Specimen notes, with Sample written in the space normally occupied by the revenue stamp, were distributed to Municipalities to be posted in public places to acquaint people with this new form of currency.

When the supply of revenue stamps ran out, a third issue was created by imprinting a facsimile WAR BILL stamp on the mimeographed forms. When the Provincial Fiscal voiced the opinion that this might be misconstrued as counterfeiting Commonwealth revenue stamps, printing came to a halt, with only a small quantity of 50 Centavos notes having been issued.

A fourth issue was prepared by printing currency from hand-engraved plates made of lead obtained from old auto batteries. While this issue was being printed radio contact was established with President Quezon who officially approved the actions of the Currency Board.

Increased Japanese military activity forced the provincial government to move from Tuao to Magabubong, a barrio of the Municipality of Rizal. Later it became necessary to leave Cagayan province entirely, and the provincial government was re-established at Kabugao in the sub-province of Apayao. The fourth issue of currency may have been undertaken originally at Tuao, but the majority was printed at the later locations.

1942 ND First Issue

Prepared by utilizing postal money order forms. While a few were in odd denominations most were in standard currency values. Denominations issued are not presently known, but records disclose that 130,699.70 pesos were issued. As the large size money orders were inconvenient, most of them were subsequently redeemed and cancelled, being replaced by subsequent issues.

Currency Board

1942 ND Second Issue

Mimeographed on various colors of paper. Notes were folded and glued together, with silk threads between folds. An Internal Revenue stamp of equivalent value was affixed on the left side of each note, which was then serially numbered and embossed with the official seal of the provincial government. Sample notes, without revenue stamp or seal, were distributed to municipal treasurers to be posted in public places. Official records give a total of 64,658.70 pesos issued, but 5 Pesos notes are known with serial numbers far beyond those listed on the records. Serial # shown for the 5 Pesos therefore represent the highest reported.

Typewritten fakes are known with forged sign. in India ink and typewritten 6-digit serial numbers. These have genuine Internal Revenue adhesive stamps affixed.

Notes of 10 Centavos through 50 Centavos are undated and indicate payment after the war in Gold Coin of Equivalent Value.

424 notes printed.

1942 ND Fourth Issue

Printed from hand-engraved lead plates. Ink ranges from duplicator ink to diluted house paint, resulting in considerable variation of color. The Centavo notes were nearly all printed on manila paper of various grades and thicknesses. Larger size centavo notes were printed first, and reduction in size was to conserve paper. Serial numbers for small size centavo notes commenced where numbers for the large size terminated, and with the 50 centavos notes also filled in a large block of numbers skipped in numbering the larger size notes.

Lowest and highest serial numbers given are from official records. The numbers for minor varieties are given as guides. Numbering gaps, in this case, result from intermixture of varieties.

CAPIZ

In 1941 the island of Panay was divided into three provinces: Anitque, Capiz and Iloilo. When the Japanese occupied Panay, the provincial officials of Antique and Capiz remained in office as Japanese puppets.

In Iloilo, however, Provincial Governor Tomas Confessor never surrendered. On August 13, 1942 he issued a Proclamation establishing his authority over the free areas of both Antique and Capiz in a government of Free Panay. To head the free government in the Capiz area, Confessor appointed Cornelio Villareal as Supervising Deputy Governor.

In 1943 Supervising Deputy Governor Billareal authorized the issuance of small denomination notes to provide small change. A Currency Committee was named consisting of Deputy Provincial Treaurer Severino Gonzales as Chairman, with Deputy Provincial Auditor Miguel Reynaldo and Deputy Provincial Fiscal Roman Martinez as Members.

The issue consisted of two denominations, backed up by large denomination Iloilo emergency notes held in the Provincial Treasury. The 50 Centavos notes were printed on manila paper. The 1 Peso notes were printed on leftover 1941 electoral census forms. The facsimile signature of Treasurer Gonzales is stamped on the back.

Some 500,000 pesos were reportedly issued, but that figure seems grossly exaggerated.

AKLAN MILITARY

Maj. Pedro Yatar, commanding the 2nd Battalion, 64th Infantry Regiment, printed 100,000 pesos in low denomination notes to provide small change in the Aklan area of Capiz. The notes were distributed to Municipal Treasurers who were required to keep on deposit an equivalent amount in large denomination Iloilo emergency notes. The notes were printed in sheets, and the shortage of type resulted in variations in border ornaments and text on each denomination. Of the six denominations issued, not all are presently known to collectors. The Aklan area of Capiz later became a separate province in 1956.

CEBU

Cebu Currency Committee

The Cebu Currency Committee was created by President Quezon in a telegram dated December 29, 1941. Simeon C. Miranda, Acting Manager of the Cebu Branch of the Philippine National Bank, was designated Chairman, with Provincial auditor Roman T. del Bando and Provincial Fiscal Feliberto Imperial Reyes as Members.

The first notes produced were of 1 Peso denomination, printed in blue on white bond paper. By mid-February 1942, one million notes had been printed. By then stocks of paper had been obtained, primarily from the Bais Cellulose factory in Negros Oriental, and printing of the other denominations, in black, was undertaken. The centavo notes were printed on a thick yellow paper. Each of the peso denominations had an underprinting in a different color. Officially, printing ended in late March, by which time a total of 11,005,000 pesos had been printed and turned over to the Philippine National Bank for distribution.

For reasons never explained, Chairman Miranda had an additional 550,000 pesos printed in 5 and 20 Pesos notes, without the knowledge of the other Committee Members. On April 8, he turned the entire amount over to two USAFFE officers. When the Japanese invaded Cebu two days later, the currency was secretly hidden to prevent its capture. Later on, the Cebu guerrillas retrieved it and used it to finance their operations. Since no currency was printed in Cebu after the surrender, as was done in other areas, these notes may be regarded as a guerrilla issue.

Most counterfeits are poorly done, none as good as the genuine. Serial numbers are often crude, sometimes faded to illegibility, and many of them have numbers far beyond the genuine.

CEBU EMERGENCY CURRENCY BOARD

TREASURY EMERGENCY CURRENCY CERTIFICATES

From February 20-22, 1942 a Conference of Provincial Treasurers convened by President Quezon was held at Bacolod, Negros Occidental. Concern was expressed that the multiplicity of emergency currency issues was creating confusion and distrust. A Resolution was adopted which called for creation of a single Currency Board to print emergency currency for all the provinces of the Visayan islands and Mindanao.

As a result of this Resolution the Cebu Emergency Currency Board was created by President Quezon in a telegram dated March 1, which designated Acting Provincial Auditor Roman T. del Bando as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Treasurer Pedro Elizalde and Cebu City Treasurer Rosalio D. Macrohon as Members. Twenty million pesos was authorized and instructions specified that all notes were to be countersigned by each Board Member.

Printing of 20 Pesos notes got underway as soon as plates could be prepared, followed by the 10, 5 and 2 Pesos denominations. Centavo notes were planned but never got past the design stage. Some of the first 20 Pesos notes issued were countersigned in pen, but the enormous amount of work involved necessitated use of facsimile signature stamps which could be applied by each Member's representative.

Printing was brought to a halt with the Japanese invasion of Cebu during the early morning hours of April 10, 1942. Until then no 2 Pesos notes had been completely printed. None of the 5 Pesos notes had been countersigned, and many of the 10 and 20 Pesos notes also lacked countersignatures. Of the 3,650,000 pesos printed, only 865,000 pesos had been issued.

That same morning as the Japanese rapidly approached, the Currency Board began destroying the unissued currency. Notes were piled behind the capital building, gasoline poured over them, and they were then set afire.

At the last minute, however, 19,500 Pesos were set aside for use by the Cebu Provincial Government. This consisted of 500 notes each of the 5, 10 and 20 Pesos denominations, each serially numbered from 1-500, plus 200 10 Pesos notes serially numbered 30,601-30,800.

The 5 and 10 Pesos notes numbered 1-500 had not been countersigned, and thus became the only notes officially issued without countersignatures.

As soon as the fire was blazing, the Board Members hastily departed, leaving behind three Constabulary soldiers to guard the burning notes. As soon as the officials left, the soldiers followed suit. Before the Japanese arrived, spectators to the scene scattered the fire and retrieved bundles of currency which were not burned at all, or had only the outer edges singed. Thousands of pesos thus reached circulation illegally.

COTABATO

In legislation dealing with redemption of wartime emergency notes, introduced into the First Session of the Third Congress of the Republic of the Philippines, there is specifically mentioned an issue by the Provincial Government of Free Cotabato, described as of doubtful authority.

Nothing further is known regarding this issue of emergency currency.

CULION LEPER COLONY

The Culion Leper colony was administered by the Commonwealth Bureau of Health. Normal monthly expenditure was about 25,000 pesos, most of which was obtained directly from Manila. The outbreak of the war effectively severed source of supply.

Funds on hand were nearly exhausted in meeting the December 1941 payroll. The special Culion coinage was reissued, but was only a stop-gap measure. In late January 1942 at a public meeting a proposal was adopted to issue local scrip. A Currency Committee was formed consisting of Dr. H. W. Wade, Medical Director of the Leonard Wood Memorial, as Chairman, with Acting Chief Pathologist Jose O. Nolasco and Disbursing Officer Julio Lisboa as Members.

The scrip was mimeographed on pink paper for centavo denominations and blue paper for peso denominations. The Bureau of Health stamping was applied on the back in blue. Notes were dipped in paraffin for durability.

Even so, the scrip was accepted with reluctance, and an appeal was made to President Quezon who telegraphed on February 9, 1942: IF NECESSARY ISSUE NOTES FOR PAYMENT OF SALARIES AND OTHER EXPENSES. THESE NOTES WILL BE REDEEMED BY GOVERNMENT LATER.

A total of 144,485 pesos was printed, but only 92,130 pesos placed in circulation. When Japanese military scrip arrived at the end of July 1942, use of Culion scrip was officially prohibited.

NOTE: 10,000 pesos in Culion scrip was loaned to, and issued by, the Municipality of Coron on Palawan. It is possible that such notes were stamped for identification. At any rate, Culion notes without the typewritten Presidential authority are known with the following facsimile signature stamped on the back:

Ilocos Norte

The Japanese Kanno Detachment landed at Vigan, Ilocos Sur on December 10, 1941. Warned of advancing Japanese forces, Governor Roque B. Ablan hastily transferred the provincial government to Ma-an-anteng, a barrio of Solsona. Despite a Treasury bereft of funds, his personal popularity was such that all officials and employees loyally remained at their spots.

In early March, Gov. Ablan radioed President Quezon requesting 100,000 pesos be dropped by plane. Quezon replied the next day and authorized Gov. Ablan to issue emergency notes for authorized expenditures.

On returning to Ilocos Norte Gov. Ablan called a meeting of the Provincial Board on March 15, which adopted a Resolution creating a Currency Committee with authorization to print 500,000 pesos in emergency currency. President Quezon was notified of this, and in a reply radioed April 21, he not only gave his approval, but alloted an additional 50,000 pesos for a relief fund. Of the authorized amount, 519,865.55 pesos were actually printed and placed in circulation.

The Currency Committee consisted of Gov. Ablan as Chairman, with Provincial Treasurer Baldomero Perez and Provincial Auditor Roman O. Moreno as members.

Notes were mimeographed as that was the only form of printing available. The original issue was handsigned by each Committee Member. On subsequent issues signatures were printed along with the text. Notes were printed in sheets of two, with face and back for each taking 1/4 sheet. After printing they were cut apart, folded and glued together. When two notes of the same denomination were printed on the same sheet, differences occurred because of typing mistakes and alignment. Some of these differences are of major importance (but are not differentiated in this listing); their existence will be noted as text varieties.

Each note had the denomination overprinted in purple. There are variations. On centavo notes some had a zero between peso symbol and decimal point, others did not. The size of type used for the ovpt. also varied, and will be referred to as:

Small ovpt. = 20 mm. high; Large ovpt. = 25 mm. high.

Specific amounts and denominations to be printed were authorized from time to time. Dates on the notes are dates of such authorization - delivery was later, in some cases much later. The last delivery was August 9, 1942 and even then was not complete. Printing was halted by Japanese military action.

Series refers only to subsequent authorizations of a specific denomination. They were intended to be in sequence, as were serial numbers. This did not work out too well in practice because of difficulties under which the notes were printed. For example: There were no 20 Centavos and 100 Pesos notes in the original authorization. When these were subsequently authorized the 20 Pesos was correctly inscribed First Series but the 100 Pesos was incorrectly inscribed Second Series. And in the case of 5 Pesos notes, the Third Series was inadvertently omitted. As for serial numbers, there were several instances of duplication as well as skipped numbers. And the final delivery of 20 Centavos notes was accidentally omitted from the records, so quantity and serial numbrs can only be estimated.

After the USAFFE surrender, the Japanese dropped leaflets urging Gov. Ablan to surrender, promising he could remain in office. This only strengthened Gov. Ablan's determination to fight on. The enraged Japanese sent large forces to destroy the free government and capture its leader. Realizing that Ilocos Norte emergency notes were a vital part of Gov. Ablan's resistance, the notes were outlawed, and torture and death were meted out to those found with them in their possession. Still the notes continued to circulate clandestinely.

Time after time the Japanese thought they had Gov. Ablan cornered, but always he eluded them. On January 28, 1943 he barely escaped, and the Japanese boasted of capturing the "typewriter" with which the notes were printed.

Gov. Ablan's fate remains a mystery, despite a substantial reward offered by the Commonwealth government in 1945 for any information concerning him.

On February 13, 1945 Laoag was liberated by the guerrilla 15th Infantry, USAFIP-North Luzon. The next day a Military Provisional Government was organized. One fo the first acts of this government was to authorize the circulation of Governor Ablan's war notes. Because of counterfeiting, the notes were called in for verification, after which they were stamped REGISTERED. Approximately 430,000 pesos were stamped. In June, 1945 all notes were called in to be replaced by VICTORY currency. Redeemed notes were stamped PAID.

Counterfeits are easily identifiable as the typewriter used to cut the stencil did not have a symbol for peso, so the letter P was used, especially in the corner value tablets. Most counterfeits observed also have fake REGISTERED stampings.

Catalog values are for notes which were REGISTERED. Notes which remain as originally issued, without the stamping, are valued considerably higher. Redeemed notes stamped PAID are valued about half or less of listed values.

At this point the originally authorized amount of 500,000 Pesos was exhausted, although the amount had not yet been completely printed. The following authorization was therefore based on the 50,000 pesos President Quezon had authorized for civilian relief. This is reflected in the back text of #S296 and S297 stating that redemption will be by the Commonwealth Government.

ILOILO

PRE-SURRENDER ISSUE

The Iloilo Currency Committee was created by President Quezon in a telegram dated December 29, 1941. Cenon S. Cervantes, Manager of the Iloilo Branch of the Philippine National Bank, was named Chairman, with Provincial Auditor Bartolome Fernandez and Provincial Fiscal Jose Quisumbing as Members. They were authorized to print 100,000 pesos in fractional and 1 peso notes to provide change to ease the coin shortage.

But the shortage of small denomination currency notes was equally acute. The Committee, therefore, went ahead with preparations to print denominations from 5 centavos to 10 pesos. La Defensa Press in Iloilo City was engaged to do the printing.

On January 27, 1942 printing of 10 peoso notes began and by February 3, ten thousand notes had been printed, the full amount authorized. All of these notes were handsigned by each Committee Member. All subsequent printings would have facsimile signatures.

The Committee telegraphed President Quezon requesting that the amount authorized be increased to 3,000,000 pesos. When no reply was received, the committee, on its own initiative, decided to continue printing due to the urgency of the situation.

Printing of 10 pesos notes was resumed, and that of the 1 peso began. La Editorial Press in Bilibagan, a barrio of Santa Barbara, was engaged to print 2 and 5 pesos notes. It was March before printing of centavo notes was undertaken.

In the meantime President Quezon had arrived in Panay, and not only commended the Committee for its initiative, but increased the authorized amount to 5,000,000 pesos. Later, in a telegram dated March 14, Quezon informed Chairman Cervantes, YOU ARE AUTHORIZED TO PRINT ALL THE CURRENCY NEEDED BY THE ARMY IN PANAY.

Printing operations came to a halt with the Japanese invasion of Iloilo on April 16, 1942. A total of 6,551,450 pesos had been turned over to the Iloilo Branch of the Philippine National Bank. 20 Centavos notes are known with serial numbers higher than officially recorded. Apparently the Japanese invasion prevented final delivery, and how these notes reached circulation is not known.

Shortly after the notes were issued there were reports of identical serial numbers being found on both the 2 and 10 pesos denominations. The notes were identical except that one would be less clearly printed and have poorer serial numbers. This leads to the possibility that poorly printed and rejected sheets were pilfered, serially numbered outside the plant, and placed in circulation.

There are several varieties of counterfeit 10 pesos notes. Most of these were produced during the occupation. One type, with very crude serial numbers, circulated widely in Bohol and may have been produced there.

All the counterfeits can be identified by the inferior quality of serial numbers.

POST-SURRENDER ISSUES

The Japanese invasion of Panay on April 16, 1942 found USAFFE forces and the provincial government of Iloilo under Government Tomas Confessor well prepared. The USAFFE withdrew to mountain redoubts, and the Iloilo provincial government evacuated to a previously designated area.

These carefully laid plans of the USAFFE came to naught with the unconditional surrender by Gen. Wainwright. Reluctantly Col. Christie obeyed the orders to surrender. But many of his officers, led by Lt. Col. Macario Peralta, refused, as did the greater portion of the USAFFE.

Col. Peralta immediately set about organizing the unsurrendered soldiers into a guerrilla force. As the provincial governments of both Antique and Capiz had become Japanese puppets, he suggested that Governor Confessor extend his jurisdiction over the free areas of those two provinces. This was done by a Proclamation issued on August 13. Later, the province of Romblon was included, and thus was born the Government of Free Panay and Romblon. Col. Peralta also set out to bring under his own command the other Visayan Islands in what he called the IV Philippine Corps.

As both the civil government and the military command were in desperate need of funds, a conference was called on November 15. Auditor Fernandez, a Member of the now inoperative Iloilo Currency Committee, called attention to President Quezon's final message to that Committee, which was to print all the currency needed by the Army in Panay.

As the situation was urgent, it was agreed that this was sufficient authority to resume printing of currency. As Chairman Cervantes was in Japanese hands, his Assistant manager, Juan Buenafe, was appointed to replace him on this reconstituted Second Iloilo Currency Committee.

Two press sites in widely separated areas were set up - the DIALOSA press to print currency for the army, the VILLALON press for the civil government. Printing operations got underway January 1, 1943. The Dialosa printing was in new designs, while the Villalon printing retained those of the presurrender printing. Both were dated Series of 1942.

In Decmeber 1942, Col. peralta established radio contact with Gen. MacArthur in Australia. In a message dated January 13, 1943, MacArthur authorized Peralta to issue a reasonable amount of military script. This was the only time MacArthur authorized the printing of any type of currency, and he no doubt regretted it later. Since preparations were already well advanced for printing notes on The Philippine National Bank, it was decided to continue with these, rather than change to a military issue.

Through MacArthur, President Quezon was notified of the actions taken in regard to printing currency. Quezon granted approval, but specified that Peralta was to receive only such amount as was specificially authorized by Gen. MacArthur.

On receipt of this authority, the Villalon printing was changed to Series of 1943 and extended to a wider range of denominations.

On February 28, 1943 the Dialosa press had been forced to shut down through lack of printing supplies, and Peralta's demands for currency from the Villalon press steadily increased. Confessor sent him everything not needed by the provincial government. It wasn't enough. Peralta demanded it all, and sent a company of soldiers to enforce the demand. Deputy Governor Juan Griño, commanding the Provincial Guard at the press site, refused to be cowed. Bloodshed was narrowly averted. As tension increased Griño stopped printing, dismantled the press and told Peralta to "come and get it". While the army was moving it to a new location they were ambushed by the Japanese who captured the press.

On October 17, 1943 the Dialosa press resumed printing for the army. To increase production Peralta instituted two 12-hour shifts and added a 100 pesos denomination. The 1942 date continued in use, and although both Auditor Fernandez and Fiscal Quisumbing had surrendered to the Japanese the currency continued to bear their signatures.

Relations between Governor Confessor and Col. Peralta had steadily worsened. Thus when Confessor appointed Abelardo Apartado and Eduardo Hibionada to replace the surrendered officials, Peralta substituted his own appointees in the radio message to President Quezon requesting confirmation. Unaware of the deception, Quezon approved Peralta's nominees designating Aniceto Belisario as Acting Provincial Fiscal and Demetrio G. Vinson as Acting Provincial Auditor. Confessor considered their appointments null and void. There thus came into being two sets of officials, one set loyal to Confessor, the other to Peralta.

The acute lack of small change caused Governor Confessor to take affairs into his own hands. In an Executive Order dated March 2, 1944 he directed Deputy Governor Juan Griño, who was concurrently Acting Provincial Treasurer, to print small denomination notes of 10, 20 and 50 centavos. The notes were to be backed up by large denomination notes held in the Provincial Treasury. In addition to Griño's signature, these notes also have the signature of Eduardo Hibionada who was Confessor's appointee as Acting Provincial Auditor.

By then Peralta had come to consider the printing of currency to be his exclusive privilege. Ignoring the fact that such denominations were badly needed, he ordered the army to confiscate the notes and to suppress their circulation. While no 10 centavos notes were printed, there were over half a million 50 centavos and 20,000 20 centavos notes placed in circulation. Considering their scarcity today, Peralta's orders must have been effectively carried out.

In mid-September 1944 the Dialosa press began printing a new issue of currency, with small denominations. These notes are dated Series of 1944 and have facsimile signatures of Peralta's best of officials.

Printing of currency ceased December 5, 1944 on orders of President Osmeña. By then a total of 43,511,033 pesos had been printed. Peralta alone had printed three times the amount authorized for his use by Gen. MacArthur.

An enormous amount of counterfeits reached circulation. The majority were of 20 and 100 pesos denominations.

ISABELA

There is but little factual information on these emergency notes. They were reportedly authorized by President Quezon in a radio message in early March 1942. The Currency Board was composed of Provincial Governor Gabriel R. Visaya as Chairman, with Provincial Treasurer Sisenando Silvestre and Provincial Auditor Francisco Malig as Members. A totoal of 182,377.10 peoso was officially reported as issued.

There were two issues, both mimeographed on manila paper. A rather crude handmade seal was stamped on the back which reads Isabela Province Treasury. The value was applied by a checkwriter obtained from the Isabela Agency of the Philippine National Bank. Notes were serially numbered on the back by pen or colored pencil.

First Issue: Early issues had the denomination by checkwriter only. This soon caused confusion as wear from circulation often made the value illegible. To correct this, later issues had the value stamped on the back with a crude handmade rubber stamp.

Second Issue: In order to eliminate confusion as to the value of the notes, this issue had denominations in numerals on the face, as well as with checkwriter. Early issues had pen signatures as before, but later issues had signatures rubber stamped.

LANAO

PRE-SURRENDER ISSUE

The Lanao Currency Committee was authorized by President Quezon in a telegram relayed through Gen. Sharp in the latter part of January, 1942. The amount authorized to be printed was up to two-thirds of the Province's unencumbered bank deposits.

The Committee consisted of Provincial Treasurer Pedro Encarnacion as Chairman, with Provincial Auditor Fortunato Alabagan and Provincial Fiscal Francisco A. Obach as Members. Printing ended in March, when the (first) Mindanao Emergency Currency Board began printing currency for the Mindanao provinces. No information is available regarding quantities and serial numbers because records were destroyed during the war. After the war Treasurer Encarnacion estimated that 80,000 pesos had been issued.

1942 SPURIOUS ISSUE

S380X 10 Pesos	Good	Fine	XF
1.20.1942. Spurious note.	—	—	—

NOTE: A 10 Pesos note dated "Enero 20, 1942" is completely spurious. It is mentioned here not only to acquaint collectors with its true status but also as an example of the confusion brought about by the numerous types and varieties of currency being issued which resulted in an entirely bogus issue being placed in circulation.

FREE LANAO PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT

On October 8, 1944 the guerrilla 108th Division (10th Military District) liberated Dansalan, capital of Lanao Province. They captured the puppet provincial officials and the puppet Treasury. In the Treasury they found 62,000 pesos in pre-surrender emergency currency which had been redeemed by the puppet administration. The notes had been stamped in Japanese as required for redemption.

Due to the shortage of currency, Col. Fertig, commanding the 10th Military District (Mindanao), authorized the Provincial Treasurer of the Free Lanao Provincial Government to use the notes for necessary expenditures.

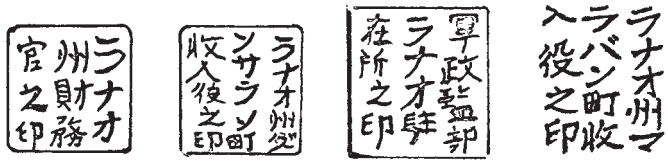
Three different Japanese stampings are presently known, but other types may exist. Along with the Japanese stampings are countersignatures of the Provincial or Municipal treasurers to whom the notes were presented for redemption.

Inasmuch as all pre-surrender emergency currency was eligible for redemption (except mimeographed notes), the variety which could theoretically have been redeemed is extensive. However, the following are those most likely to have been redeemed:

Letter Indication	Note Type	Catalog #
a.	2 Pesos Mindanao 1942	S471
b.	5 Pesos as above	S472
c.	10 Pesos as above	S473
d.	20 Pesos as above	S474
e.	1 Peso Cebu 1941	S215
f.	5 Pesos as above	S216
g.	10 Pesos as above	S217
h.	20 Pesos as above	S218
i.	10 Pesos Cebu 1942	S223
j.	20 Pesos as above	S224

As these notes were not eligible for postwar redemption, efforts were made to erase or remove the markings. Thus, finding notes with illegible markings is very difficult.

Only those notes positively identified have been listed.



Type I Type II Type III Type IV

There are two different hand stamps on each note: (A) In English by the puppet Treasurer to whom they were presented for redemption and (B) by the Japanese "advisor" of that office. Generally they were applied in red to red-violet on the back, but Type III has Treasurer's counterstamping on the face. The notes generally have additional stampings in black PAID.

Type I (A) Countersigned, 1943, Provincial Treasurer, Dansalan, Lanao.
(B) Seal of Lanao Province Comptroller.
Type II (A) Countersigned, 1943, Deputy Mun, and Provl. Treasurer, Dansalan, Lanao.
(B) Seal of Treasurer, Dansalan City, Lanao Province.
Type III (A) (B) Countersigned in pen, 1943, Deputy Treasure, Iligan, Lanao.
(B) Seal of Military Government Headquarters Stationed in Lanao.
(B) (A) Counterstamped in black, 1943, Deputy Treasurer, Iligan, Lanao.
(B) Same as Type III A.
Type IV (A) Countersigned, 1943, Deputy Provl. Treasurer, Malabang, Lanao.
(B) Seal of Treasurer of Malabang (town), Lanao Province.

Leyte

SERIES 1942

During the first part of 1942, Leyte was able to obtain adequate currency supplies from Cebu. But Cebu currency became increasingly hard to get, especially in smaller denominations.

With the Japanese invasion of Cebu on April 10, 1942, it was obvious that no more currency could be obtained from that source. At a special session of the Provincial Board on April 13, Resolution No. 487 was adopted which created an Emnergency Currency Board which was requested to print as early as possible notes to the value of 1,000,000 pesos. The amount was later increased to 2,000,000 pesos.

The Currency Board was composed of Provincial auditor Alberto Santa Cruz as Chairman, with Provincial Treasurer Ildefonso D. Jiminez and Provincial Fiscal Quintin Paredes, Jr. as Members.

The printing took place in the Municipality of San Miguel. 5 Centavos notes were printed on thin blue paper, all other denominations on white paper. All denominations but the 1 Peso had an underprinting which occurs in two types:

Type I: Leyte Emergency Currency Board (repeated), upper and lower case.

Type II: LEYTE EMERGENCY CURRENCY BOARD (reapeated), upper case only.

Printing ceased the afternoon of May 23, and all unfinished notes plus 4,000 pesos in finished 10 and 20 pesos notes were incinerated.

A total of 627,861.60 pesos had been printed. Records disclose the quantity for each denomination, but not the serial numbers. As notes are known with serial numbers higher that the quantity printed, it would appear that notes were numbered in blocks and that numbers assigned to some blocks were not used.

SERIES 1943

Japanese occupation forces arrived in Leyte on May 24, 1942, setting up garrisons at Tacloban (the capital) and Ormoc.

Of the 1,800 USAFFE troops in Leyte, less than one third surrendered.

As the Japanese began to hunt down unsurrendered USAFFE soldiers, small bands of ex-USAFFE began to ambush Japanese patrols. In northern and western Leyte four major groups came into being, two of which were loosely affiliated with Col. Peralta's IV Philippine Corps (see Iloilo). There were also numerous smaller groups, particularly in southern Leyte. Several attempts at unification met with failure.

Lt. Col. Ruperto K. Kangleon who was released from the Butuan prison camp was approached by leaders of some of the smaller guerrilla groups who suggested that he should take over command to put an end to the rivalry among them. About this time liaison officers arrived from Mindanao who assured Kangleon of the support of "Gen." Fertig (see Mindanao). In early 1943 Kangleon set about the task of bringing all Leyte guerrilla groups under his personal command.

As in other areas, there was a desperate lack of money to finance operations. When Kangleon was informed that only 600,000 pesos of an authorized 2,000,000 pesos had been printed prior to surrender, he saw it as a solution to the problem. As currency was being printed in Mindanao, Kangleon sought Fertig's advice on how to go about it. Fertig promptly sent Lt. Iliff D. Richardson (former P.T. boat commander) to Leyte with full details, including samples of the Mindanao money, but cautioned that printing currency was a civil, not a military, function.

Acting on the advice, Kangleon set up a Free Leyte Provisional Government on July 19, 1943, with orders to begin printing currency immediately. On July 26 the Provincial Board created a new Leyte Currency Board composed of Provincial Auditor Enrique Potente as Chairman, with Provincial Treasurer Proceso Kadavero and Provincial Fiscal Filemon Saavedra as Members.

Lt. Richardson was assigned to get printing operations underway. There was no printing press available, or any type of printing supplies. A single hand-carved printing plate was made for the face and back of each denomination, along with seals and facsimile signatures. Ink was made from "RIT" dye, a product used in dying cloth. Notes were stamped by hand, one side at a time, on precut paper. The first delivery of the "new" Leyte currency was on August 24.

In the meantime Kangleon had radioed President Quezon (through Fertig) details regarding the new government, the Currency Board, and requesting authorization to print the unissued portion of the previous authorization. On September 27, Fetig notified Kangleon that Quezon had granted his approval.

Printing came to a halt on December 8, 1943, at which time 1,023,000 pesos had been printed. On that day the Japanese invaded Leyte with a large force, quickly occupying the larger towns. It was not until July, 1944 that printing of currency could be resumed. This second printing resumed where the previous one had left off, with the same wooden plates and cuts, except that the color of 2 Pesos note was changed to blue. As printing continued some plates began to show signs of wear, and new plates of a new design were made of rubber. The first to be replaced was the face for the 2 Pesos notes. Later, new plates were made of rubber for both face and back of the 1 Peso note. Final delivery of the authorized 1,400,000 pesos was made on August 22, 1944.

But this did not end the printing. Col. Kangleon was dissatisfied with nearly half of the 20 Pesos notes, which he described as "heavy" and "rough finish". In Executive Order No. 11 he ordered 150,060 pesos destroyed, to be replaced by smaller denomination notes from 20 Centavos to 5 Pesos.

This third printing began in September 1944. As the wood plates of both 20 and 50 centavos denominations were worn, new plates were made of rubber in a new design. Later on, the 5 Pesos plates also needed replacing and new rubber plates were made for this denomination also. Final delivery of the third printing was October 7, 1944.

Two weeks later, October 20, 1944, American liberation forces landed in Leyte. President Osmeña immediately ordered that further issuance of the "new" Leyte currency notes be stopped. There were 131,260 pesos in the Provincial Treasury, plus another 168,459.80 in the hands of guerrilla finance officers. The combined total of 299,719.80 pesos was incinerated on January 17, 1945. Thus, most of the 20 and 50 Centavos notes printed from the rubber plates were destroyed and it is equally likely that all, or nearly all, of the rubber plate printings of 5 Pesos notes were also destroyed.

Official records do not disclose either serial numbers or quantities printed from the wood as opposed to the rubber plates. Serial numbers in the following listing are therefore estimates.

1943 Military Issue

One of the first to organize a successful guerrilla movement on Leyte was Capt. Glicerio I. Erfe, the highest ranking unsurrendered USAFFE officer on the island. His organization was designated USAFFE-ALL (USAFFE At Large Leyte) in the Abuyog - Burauan - Dulag - La Paz area.

He was among the first to attempt unification by bringing other guerrilla groups into an organization called the 11th Leyte Guerrilla Warfare Division, IX Philippine Corps. Each guerrilla group became part of this organization and assigned to its respective area of control. To ensure a minimum of friction, the overall command would be exercised by a Guerrilla War Tribunal in which Capt. Erfe would serve as an "advisor."

Here also, the matter of money to finance the organization was a major problem. At a conference called by the Guerrilla War Tribunal on March 1, 1943 the matter of finance was discussed. Capt. Erfe informed the Tribunal he had received a communication from Col. Peralta in Panay who had sent along a copy of a radio message in which Gen. MacArthur had authorized the issuance of "military script." The Tribunal was also informed that prior to the surrender Leyte had been given authority to print 2,000,000 pesos in emergency notes, and that only 600,000 of this had actually been printed.

After considerable debate a Resolution was drafted which was approved by everyone present, part of which stated:

"We who are gathered here deem it necessary and indispensable to continue the printing of Emergency Currency notes under previous authority to make effective our resistance."

A Currency Board was formed which was composed of the President of the Guerrilla War Tribunal, Galicano Enerlan, with GHQ Auditor Ramon L. Mercado and the Finance and Disbursing officers (unnamed) as Members. A goal of June 1, 1943 was set for issuing the currency.

After numerous delays the essential equipment and materials were collected, and printing began in June 1943.

At this point Col. Kangleon decided to act. Even though Capt. Erfe had offered to place his USAFFE-ALL under Kangleon's command, some of the other guerrilla units in the 11th Division had not. If these organizations obtained funds to finance their operations, Kangleon's goal of unification under his own command would be enormously difficult, if not impossible. By secretly promising one of Erfe's commanders with promotion in his own organization, Kangleon arranged for him to kidnap Cap. Erfe and some of the Currency Board Members, who were then thrown into Kangleon's military stockade. With Erfe removed from the scene, the organization he had formed was broken up and Kangleon was able to move in.

In September 1943, Capt. Erfe and Auditor Mercado were belatedly charged by Col. Kangleon with "printing and circulating money without authority". The ironic aspect is that shortly after arranging for Capt. Erfe's kidnapping, Col. Kangleon would order the printing of currency for his own use, using the same "authority" that Capt. Erfe had used - the unissued portion of the pre-surrender authorization of 2,000,000 pesos.

Capt. Erfe was released on bail in October. He was captured by the Japanese in February 1944 and subsequently executed.

No reliable information is available regarding currency printed under authority of the Guerrilla War Tribunal, and no such notes are presently known to numismatists.

LUZON

LUZON USAFFE GUERRILLA ARMY FORCE

Walter Mickey Cushing was a mining engineer and part owner of the Rainbow gold mining properties in Abra Province. He was the first to organize a guerrilla force, for which he used his mine employees. The first recorded guerrilla action took place on New Year's Day, 1942. His exploits brought him to the attention of Col. John P. Horan, Commanding Officer of the 43rd Infantry, Philippine Scouts, operating in Mountain Province. He was commissioned a Major by Col. Horan and given authority to organize guerrilla forces in Abra and the Ilocos Provinces. Cushing's guerrillas had no formal designation until after the fall of Bataan, at which time it was designated the 121st Infantry by Gen. Wainwright.

Maj. Cushing died by his own hand on September 19, 1942 after being badly wounded in a Japanese ambush. He preferred death to surrender and saved his last cartridge for himself. His guerrilla operations had already made him a legend in northern Luzon, and even the Japanese paid him honor for the manner in which he died.

Little is known about the currency issued by Major Cushing. The notes were probably printed by Saint Mary the Virgin Mission press in Sagada, Mountain Province, which also printed the Mountain Province notes and was the only press in north Luzon capable of doing such printing. There is no way to confirm this as the press and records were destroyed during the war. There reportedly were 2,385,154 pesos issued, but the accuracy of this figure is questionable.

MARKING'S GUERRILLAS

The Marking Guerrillas were organized by Marcos V. Agustin, using the nom-de-guerre Augustin V. Marking. He was given a commission in the Sierra Madre mountains by Maj. Russell D. Barros (91st Inf., P.A.) and authorized to organize a guerrilla unit. Starting with nothing, he began to build what eventually became one of the larger guerrilla organizations in Luzon. In mid-1942 he was joined by Ms. Yay Panlillo, a former newspaper reporter and U.S. Army Intelligence agent.

Their organization was among the first to accept the leadership of Col. Hugh Straughn, a retired Army officer who was trying to unify guerrillas in an alliance he called Fil-American Irregular Troops (FAIT).

Straughn was captured by the Japanese on August 5, 1943 and subsequently executed. As a result his organization broke up and the Markings pursued an independent course, eventually expanding into several provinces.

As records of the Marking currency were destroyed during the war, the following is based on reports written from memory by Ms. Panlillo in 1947.

The first Marking currency was printed by mimeograph in October 1942 under authority of Col. Hugh Straughn. Straughn reportedly authorized an issue of 10,000 pesos stating he would redeem it from his own pocket if necessary. Far more was issued than was authorized, as Panlillo estimated a total of 50,000 pesos.

The second issue was prepared in July or August 1943, in blue from engraved plates. The text states Advised by Col. Hugh Straughn. As Col. Straughn was captured shortly after that, some of these notes had his name x'd out by typewriter, and that of Gen. W. W. Fertig typed in. The Gen. Fertig referrred to Col. W. W. Fertig in Mindanao, whose intelligence agents had breifly contacted the Markings.

The third issue differs from the second only in that new plates were made which substituted Gen. Fertig's name for Col. Straughn.

Panlillo estimated the total for the combined second and third issue at 25,000 pesos. However, she also mentions that large quantities were captured by the Japanese. (A small quantity of third issue notes, without the thumbprints, came on the numismatic market in 1979. It is quite possible that these are some the Japanese captured.)

The fourth issue was originally called exchange notes and was given in exchange for cash contributions in Japanese military notes. Later, the notes were called liberty bonds and sold for their face value in military notes. At present only a 1,000 Pesos denomination is known, but other denominations were sold. As the amount was filled in by hand, there could be numerous different denominations. As the value of Japanese military notes steadily depreciated, Panlillo estimates the amount issued as not less than one million or more that three million pesos.

All Marking's notes which were issued bore inked thumbprints of Col. Marking, Col. Enrique Zulaybar and Yay Panlillo. Enrique Zulaybar was the nom-de-guerre of Lt. Col. Ruperto Batora, commanding officer of the Marking II Corps. He was later killed by the Japanese.

Only notes which have been confirmed are listed.

PRESIDENT QUEZON'S OWN GUERRILLAS (PQOG)

The PQOG was one of the larger guerrilla units in Central Luzon, organized and commanded by Col. Vicente Umali, prewar Mayor of Tiaong, Tayabas. The II Corps was the Propaganda Section of the PQOG under command of Lt. Col. Benedicto S. Valenzona. Its membership was made up of prominent prewar newspaper journalists and artists. Among other activities it published the underground newspaper Liberator which was distributed in Manila under the very noses of the Japanese. The first issue came out in July 1944 and continued up to the liberation.

No information is available regarding currency printed by the PQOG II Corps, and only one denomination is presently known.

MASBATE CONSOLIDATED MINING CO.

PRE-SURRENDER ISSUES

This firm normally received currency for its monthly payrolls from the home office in Manila. With transportation disrupted by the war it became impossible to do so. Mine Superintendent Barney Faust received instructions by radio to print token notes to meet the 1941 year-end payroll.

On December 15, 1941 the Philippine National Assembly passed a bill conferring additional extraordinary powers on President Quezon. Using this authority President Quezon issued an Executive Order on December 20 which suspended Commonwealth Act No. 303 which had previously prohibited payment of wages by token notes or company chits. This action was taken to enable commercial firms cut off from normal currency supplies, such as mines and sugar centrals, to meet their year-end payrolls by means of token notes.

The Masbate Consolidated Mining Co. is the only firm presently known to have issued token notes under this authority. The notes were used to meet the December payroll. These notes are therefore not only the first emergency currency issued under Presidential authority, but the only ones actually issued in 1941. They probably also rank first in being the shortest-lived issue.

On January 2, 1942 a Philippine Constabulary officer phoned Mine Manager Barney Faust and told him the Japanese were invading Masbate, and ordered all Americans to evacuate. It was a hoax. As soon as the American staff and engineers left, the mine was looted. The loot was enormous, some 600,000 pesos in gold bullion alone, plus another half million pesos worth of warehouse supplies, 200,000 pesos in stores, all the office equipment as well as furniture and personal property from staff housing. Unissued - and unsigned - token notes were reported to have been scattered on the floor of the looted Paymaster's office.

Because of the looting the mine ceased operatons. When operations resumed after the war the token notes were honored by Masbate Consolidated Mining Co.

The MCMC token notes were printed by hectograph, a duplicating process by which copies are made from a sheet of gelatin. The notes were printed with two facsimile signatures. One is of Office Manager Reginald W. Verney (an Englishman), the other of I. J. Rebutoc, Chief Clerk under Verney and not the Paymaster as stated on the notes. Each note was serially numbered and signed in pen by Mine Manager Barney Faust before being issued. A reported 10,000 pesos were printed, but it is not known how much of this was actually issued.

PROVINCE OF MASBATE

All official records concerning this currency were destroyed when the capital building was burned during the war. According to a postwar report by Governor Pecson, authority for printing the currency was a Resolution passed by the Provincial Board after receiving telegraphic instructions from President Quezon at the end of December, 1941.

The Currency Committee consisted of Provincial Governor Mateo S. Pecson as Chairman, with Provincial Treasurer Jose Recife and Provincial Auditor Ceferino Loreña as Members. A maximum of 80,000 pesos was authorized, of which 40,000 pesos was printed. Only 33,000 pesos were placed in circulation. The balance was destroyed sometime in 1943 on orders of the Japanese.

The notes were mimeographed in sheets of three. The 50 Centavos, 1 Peso and 2 Pesos denominations were printed with one stencil. The second stencil contained two 5 Pesos notes and one 10 Pesos note. They are stamped on the back with the Provincial Auditor's Received stamp dated Jan. 15, 1942.

POST-SURRENDER ISSUES

KKKK Katipunan Sa Kaluwasan Sang Ka-anakan Sang Kapupud-an

The Army of the Free People, as it was called, was a guerrilla organization formed in 1942 by Jesus Azarraga, using the nom-de-guerre Capt. Juan Villaojada. Assisted by two brothers he built up a force of about 400 men which operated in the Milagros area.

Rumors that this was a communist group reached Col. Peralta in Panay. Using this as a pretext, Peralta sent an expedition in 1943 under Maj. Vincente A. Tansiongco to wipe out the Communists and take control of Masbate.

This proved to be a more formidable task than anticipated. On January 23, 1944, Maj. Tansiongco arranged a meeting with the Japanese garrison officers and arranged a "truce" whereby they would not molest each other.

This enabled Maj. Tansiongco to concentrate his entire force against the Villaojada guerrillas. In February 1944 he succeeded, driving the few survivors deep into the mountains. Peralta's control of Masbate, however, was short lived. (See "Free" Masbate.)

FREE MASBATE

Capt. Manuel P. Donato had organized a small guerrilla unit on Masbate in 1942. Relations with the Villaojada unit had been cordial (see KKKK) but in 1943 Capt. Donato went to Panay to seek backing from Col. Peralta. He returned to Masbate as Executive Officer under Maj. Tansiongco whom Peralta sent to liquidate the Villaojada guerrillas.

In July 1944, Capt. Donato led a revolt against the command of Maj. Tansiongco after which a conference of guerrilla officers was called on July 18. A Resolution was adopted severing all connections between Masbate and Col. Peralta's command in Panay.

A Free Masbate Provincial Government was organized and at the inaugural meeting on October 9, 1944, the Provincial Board adopted a Resolution creating a Currency Committee to print emergency notes.

The Currency Committee was composed of Acting Provincial Governor Severo Castillo as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Treasurer Francisco Dimatara and Acting Provincial Auditor Ceferino Loreña as Members.

The committee was authorized to print and issue 40,000 pesos in notes of 50 Centavos, 1, 5, 10 and 20 Pesos denominations. Authority for this currency was based on the pre-surrender authorization to print 80,000 pesos and of which only 40,000 had been printed.

No information is available as to whether such currency was printed or issued.

Mindanao Emergency Currency Board

When the Cebu Emergency Currency Board was established on March 1, 1942 it was hoped that this Board would be able to print all the currency required by the provinces in Mindanao and the Visayan islands. However, it soon became apparent that this goal was unrealistic so an additional Board was established to print currency for the provinces of Mindanao.

The Mindanao Emergency Currency Board was officially created at Dansalan, Lanao on March 16, 1942. Teopisto Guingona, Commissioner of Mindanao and Sulu, was appointed Chairman, with Ubaldo D. Laya, Provincial Treasurer of Misamis Oriental, and Fortunato Alabagan, Provincial Auditor of Lanao, as Members.

Printing plates were made in Cebu City of the same design as those of the Cebu Board. Lt. Samuel J. Wilson (USNR) was assigned to transport printing presses and plates to Dansalan and to supervise the printing.

Printing operations got underway immediately but were brought to a halt on May 1, 1942 as a result of the Japanese invasion of Mindanao. Records of this Board state that 1,769,690 pesos were officially issued. The figure for the 2 Pesos denomination is 40,000 pesos with serial numbers 0001 to 20,000.

However, on the night of May 1, finished but uncut sheets of 2 Pesos notes, unfinished sheets of all four denominations and such printing equipment as could be carried was hastily moved to Siwagat. On May 4 this was again moved to Tamparan where the next day the finished sheets of the 2 Pesos notes, serially numbered 20,001 to 90,000, were cut; all unfinished sheets were destroyed.

These 2 Pesos notes were turned over to Mr. Donato Ducusin, Provincial Treasurer of Sulu, who was serving as Secretary of the Mindanao Emergency Currency Board. Mr. Ducusin was reportedly murdered by Moros a few days later, and it is not known how these notes reached circulation. Adding them to the official figures, we get a total of 1,909,690 pesos as having reached circulation.

All notes were printed on Bais paper.

SECOND MINDANAO EMERGENCY CURRENCY BOARD

Japanese invasion forces landed in 1942 and quickly broke through the defenses of the poorly equipped and mostly untrained USAFFE forces.

In obedience to Gen. Wainwright's orders, Gen. William F. Sharp surrendered the Visayan-Mindanao Force on May 10, but it was not until May 27 that the final surrender took place in Mindanao. In the meantime thousands of soldiers took to the hills.

In Lanao, Lt. Col. Wendell W. Fertig began uniting the guerrillas under his command. In September he proclaimed the establishment of the United States Forces in the Philippines, (USFIP) Mindanao-Sulu Command, with his assumed rank of Brigadier General. Lanao, Misamis Occidental and the northern part of Zamboanga were under his command with Free provincial governments functioning, but it would require another year before all of Mindanao was united under his command and free provincial governments could be established in other provinces.

One of the major problems confronting Gen. Fertig was the matter of money with which to finance both the military force and civil governments. This was temporarily solved when Fertig learned that the Misamis Occidental Currency Committee had issued only a fraction of the currency it had been authorized to print. In December 1942 Fertig ordered the Committee to print the unissued balance of the authorized amount (see Misamis Occidental, Second Printing).

In February 1943 Fertig established radio contact with Gen. MacArthur in Australia, and was designated by MacArthur as Commanding Officer of the 10th Military District (Mindanao and Sulu), with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

In the meantime, Lt. Sam Wilson, supervisor of the pre-surrender printing of currency by the Mindanao Emergency Currency Board, had joined Fertig and told him that this Board also had printed only a part of its authorized amount. Fertig promptly radioed MacArthur of his intentions to reconstitute this Board with new members (original members had surrendered) and resume printing currency under the authority previously granted by President Quezon. MacArthur passed the message on to President Quezon in Washington, who promptly granted his approval. Thus, the second Mindanao Emergency Currency Board came into being.

The new Board consisted of Judge Florentino Saguin as Chairman, with Misamis Occidental Provincial Treasurer Filomena D. Pacana and Provincial Auditor Ireneo Barbasa as Members.

Maj. Sam Wilson (guerrilla rank) was assigned to get printing operations underway. Wood border cuts were made for the face of the 2 Pesos note, and for both face and back of the 10 and 20 Pesos notes. The 5 Pesos notes were printed from the same border cuts previously made for the Misamis Occidental printing (#S578). Other denominations were printed entirely from metal type.

Printing operations began on April 5, 1943 at the Rosito Z. Bacarro press in the barrio of Matugas, Municipality of Jiminez, Misamis Occidental. On June 26, the Japanese invaded Misamis Occidental. At the press site thousands of pesos in partly printed currency were burned. The presses were dismantled and hidden in the hills along with printing supplies. At Oroquieta, Treasurer Pacana hastily packed 702,619.30 pesos into sacks and evacuated to the hills.

Driven out of Misamis Occidental, Col. Fertig relocated his headquarters in the barrio Liangan, Municipality of Kolumbugan, Lanao Province. As currency supplies dwindled, Fertig requested that the printing be done in Australia. MacArthur rejected the proposal. Printing supplies, yes; printing currency, no.

Maj. Sam Wilson was assigned the difficult task of getting the presses to Liangan. It took ten days to move the heavy presses from their hiding place in the hills down to the coast. They were moved by banca across Iligan Bay at night to avoid Japanese naval patrols. Printing resumed at Liangan on September 6, and ended November 1, 1943 when supplies ran out.

As Japanese activity increased in the Lanao area, Fertig moved his headquarters to Esperanza in Agusan Province. The presses were moved by water transport along the coast and then up the Agusan River.

In the meantime the cargo submarine USS NARWHAL had delivered 90 tons of supplies at Nasipit. Among the supplies were 30 boxes of paper, 27 cans of ink and dryer, and 84 metal plates made in Australia for printing currency.

Printing resumed at Esperanza on December 13, 1943 using the metal plates. As no metal plates had been made for either the 5 Centavos or 20 Pesos denominations, these were printed from the same metal type and wood border cuts as previously. Printing ended on January 23, 1944 when supplies ran out.

Once again stepped up Japanese military activity necessitated moving the presses to a safer area. In early February they were moved up the river to Loreto, Agusan. Printing finally got underway on March 18, 1944 after more supplies were delivered by USS NARWHAL.

The Japanese garrisoned Butuan, Agusan, using it as a base of operations and almost daily planes bombed the towns along the river. Esperanza was reduced to rubble, and on July 5, 1944 Loreto was bombed. As further attacks were expected, the presses were dismantled and hidden, and press personnel evacuated to a safer area.

It was October before the Japanese attack abated enough to allow the press personnel to return to Loreto. Printing resumed on November 4, 1944 but was halted in mid-November on instructions from Col. Fertig.

Immediately after printing had ceased at Loreto in July, Sam Wilson and two printing technicians left there, carrying with them some of the printing plates. They hiked over mountains to the coast of Misamis Occidental where they obtained transportation by banca along the coast to Dipolog, Zamboanga. The trip took the greater part of two months.

At Dipolog, arrangements were made for use of a small press owned by the Rev. Angel Soto. Printing resumed at the barrio of Tingkugas on September 14, and continued until October 6, 1944 when paper supplies ran out.

It was not until February 27, 1945, after new paper supplies had been brought in by submarine, that printing operations were resumed at the barrio Estaka. On March 8, 1945 the first American liberation forces landed at the guerrilla-held airfield at Dipolog. Military operations placed the press site in jeopardy, so printing was stopped to permit the press to be moved to a safer location.

Printing resumed at the barrio of Calamba, Municipality of Plaridel, Misamis Occidental on April 1, 1945. Printing operations ceased on April 22, on orders of Col. Fertig, thus ending the printing of currency by the second Mindanao Emergency Currency Board.

Meanwhile, back at Loreto in Agusan Province, printing operations had resumed on January 2, 1945. As there was only a small stock of paper on hand it was soon exhausted and printing ended on January 5. This printing is mentioned last, as these were only notes dated Series 1945.

A total of 23,613,415 pesos was printed by they second Mindanao Emergency Currency Board.

COUNTERSIGNERS OF MINDANAO NOTES:

1943 FIRST TREASURY EMERGENCY CURRENCY CERTIFICATE ISSUE

(Matugas, Misamis Occ., April 5 to June 25, 1943)

All notes were printed on thin to very thick manila paper. Originally it was intended that all centavo notes be initialed by a representative of each Board member, and that all peso notes be countersigned on the back by a member of the Board. The enormous amount of work this entailed soon resulted in a Resolution which halted the initialing, and authorized additional personnel to do the countersigning. When this occured, no 50 Centavos or 1 Peso notes had been printed. Apparently there was confusion regarding the countersigning of 1 Peso notes, perhaps, because of their smaller size, and only a portion were countersigned. Later on, four thousand 5 Pesos notes were officially issues without countersignatures due to the urgent need for currency.

Bukidnon Province

109th Division USFIP, Series 1944

1944 Negotiable Receipt

This was a temporary issue in Bukidnon Province necessitated when a shipment of Mindanao (MECB) currency was captured by the Japanese. The notes were called in and redeemed when a new supply of Mindanao currency was received.

Notes were mimeographed on white paper. They are embossed with notarial seal of Maj. Ignacio Cruz at left, and parish seal of St. Joseph Mission of Talakag at right. The back has stamped facsimile signature of the Division commander, Lt. Col. James R. Grinstead, and pen signature of Maj. Cruz, Division Quartermaster. Around 200,000 pesos were issued.

MISAMIS OCCIDENTAL

FIRST PRINTING

The Misamis Occidental Currency Committee was created in March, 1942. It was composed of Provincial Treaurer Filomena D. Pacana as Chairman, with Provincial Auditor Ireneo Barbasa and Provincial Fiscal Ramon O. Nolasco as Members. The amount authorized was up to two-thirds of the province's unencumbered bank deposits.

Printing was done by Rozito Z. Baccaro at Matugas, Jiminez. Although authorization amounted to over a million pesos, only 75,000 pesos were printed when they ran out of paper.

1942 SECOND EMERGENCY CIRCULATING NOTE ISSUE

On December 8, 1942 Brig. Gen. Wendell W. Fertig, Mindanao-Sulu Command, USFIP, ordered the Misamis Occidental Currency Committee to resume printing currency up to the amount authorized prior to surrender.

Facsimile signature cuts were carved from hardwood for all denominations, along with border cuts, seal and portr. of President Quezon for the 5 Pesos note. Metal type was used elsewhere. Notes were again printed by Rozito Z. Baccaro at Matugas, Jiminez. Printing ended in mid-January 1943 when the authorized amount had been printed.

A total of 945,000 pesos was printed, of which 925,956.30 was placed in circulation. A Japanese bombing attack on the capital building in Oroquieta on December 26, 1942 destroyed 3,000 of the 50 Centavos notes (serial # 147,001 to 150,000) and 3,500 of the 5 Pesos notes (serial # 00,001 to 03,500). An additional 43.70 pesos in misprinted notes were incinerated.

The 2 Pesos counterfeits are crude and easily detected. There are at least three different 5 Pesos counterfeits, most of them produced and circulated in Bohol. All the counterfeits have crude serial numbers, often illegible.

MISAMIS ORIENTAL

Misamis Oriental emergency currency was issued under authority of President Quezon, December 29, 1941. All records were lost during the war so the exact text of the message or amount authorized is not known. However, Treasurer Laya reported the total amount issued as being less than that authorized.

The Oriental Misamis Currency Committee was composed of Provincial Treasurer Ubaldo D. Laya as Chairman, with Provincial Auditor Agapito Flores and Provincial Fiscal Antonio Tann Yacapin as Members.

There were two issues. The first, Series of 1941, amounted to 10,000 pesos and was printed in January 1942. The second, Series of 1942, amounted to 34,000 pesos and was printed in March 1942 in response to the urgent need for currency.

Both issues were printed on white bond paper, some of which is commercially watermarked. All notes were handsigned by the Committee. All have inverted backs.

Mountain Province

The Japanese 14th Army began landing at Lingayen Gulf on December 22, 1941. Gen. MacArthur ordered USAFFE forces to withdraw to Bataan, but the rapid Japanese advance cut the lines of retreat of many units. When the 43rd Infantry crossed the Cordillera Mountains it found Japanese tanks blocking further withdrawal. Col. John P. Horan decided to take the remnants of this unit to Mountain Province to engage in guerrilla warfare.

The Japanese advance had also isolated the provincial government at Bontoc. The Pronvincial Treasurer was able to meet financial obligations by issuing checks, but it was obvious the supply of checks would soon run out.

On January 24, 1942 the Provincial Board adopted Resolution No. 5 which established a Currency Committee, in accordance with instructions by President Quezon, with authority to print 300,000 peoso in emergency currency.

The Currency Committee consisted of Acting Provincial Governor Roque Perido as Chairman, with Assistant Provincial Treasurer Ambrosio Vallejo and Provincial Auditor Lupo Guzman as Members (President Quezon's instructions had designated the Provincial Treasurer as a Member of the Committee, but since he was absent from the province he could not serve although his name does appear on the currency.)

The Committee arranged for currency printing by the Mission Press at Saint Mary the Virgin Mission in Sagada, with delivery by the end of the month. this first printing actually amounted to 96,070.35 pesos.

In late January 1942 as the Japanese approached Bontoc, the provincial government moved to Lubuagan. The Japanese occupied Bontoc on February 2, but were forced to withdraw south later.

The provincial government returned to Bontoc and a second printing of currency got underway.

The Provincial Board, by Resolution No. 6, increased the authorized amount to 500,000 pesos.

With the fall of Bataan the Japanese were able to redeploy large forces for mopping up operations and the provincial government once again moved to Lubuagan. The Currency Committee destroyed just under 200,000 pesos of currency which had not yet been turned over to the Treasury. The provincial government then evacuated Lubuagan for a remote area.

The 500,000 pesos authorized, 307,902.90 pesos were delivered to the Provincial Treasury. Of this amount 265,756.90 pesos were placed in circulation. The balance of 42,146 pesos remained unissued in the Treasury until it was looted during an American bombing attack on March 16, 1945.

NEGROS OCCIDENTAL

NEGROS OCCIDENTAL CURRENCY COMMITTEE - PHILIPPINE NATIONAL BANK

This Currency Committee was created by President Quezon and composed of Jose V. Buenaventura, Manager of the Bacolod branch of the Philippine National Bank, as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Auditor Ceferino Ramos and Provincial Fiscal Francisco Arellano as Members.

Two issues of Emergency currency printed by this Committee were turned over to the Philippine National Bank for distribution.

First Issue: The telegram creating this Committee authorized 100,000 pesos to be printed in denominations of 1, 5 and 10 Pesos. In a telegram sent the next day, President Quezon increased the authorization to 500,000 pesos. Of the authorized amount, 475,000 pesos were issued. For some reason, 25,000 pesos in 5 Pesos notes (serial # 35,001 - 40,000) were never printed.

Second Issue: Acting on a petition of the Committee, President Quezon authorized an additional 1,000,000 pesos. The next day he visited Bacolod, met with the Committee and increased the amount to 7,000,000 pesos. Two days later he authorized a total of 14,500,000 pesos in emergency currency to be printed for Negros Occidental. As this included 6,448,771 pesos allocated to the Negros Occidental Provincial Currency Committee, the final authorization amounted to 8,051,229 pesos.

Of the authorized amount, 1,425,000 had been printed. There were 19,456.30 pesos in unissued currency remaining in the vault when Bacolod was occupied by Japanese forces.

JANUARY 13, 1942 COUPONIZED CHECK ISSUE

By January 1942 the shortage of small denomination currency was so acute that the Provincial Treasury experienced difficulty in paying government employees, and salaried personnel found it difficult to cash their paychecks. To alleviate this situation the Provincial Board, on January 13, 1942, authorized the Provincial Treasurer to issue couponized checks in small denominations. They were made payable to bearer and were drawn on the deposits of the provincial government in the Philippine National Bank.

The couponized checks were printed by Nalco Press on white bond paper. They have printed facsimile signatures of Provincial Treasurer Nicolas Encarnacion and Acting Provincial Auditor Ceferino Ramos. Originally the centavo notes were of the same size and design as the peso notes, but this resulted in confusion when they were placed in circulation. To correct this, the centavo notes were altered in design and printed in a smaller size.

When President Quezon authorized the provincial government to print emergency currency on January 20, further printing of these checks became unnecessary.

NEGROS OCCIDENTAL PROVINCIAL CURRENCY COMMITTEE

This Committee was created by President Quezon and was composed of Provincial Treasurer Nicolas Encarnacion as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Auditor Ceferino Ramos and Provincial Fiscal Francisco Arellano as Members.

No specific amount was stated, the authorization being for sufficient currency to pay salaries of employees and government laborers. In the latter part of February, 1942 when President Quezon visited Bacolod, the total amount to be issued was set at 6,448,771 pesos.

The currency printed by this Committee was turned over to the Provincial Treasurer for distribution. Printing was by Nalco Press on white paper. A total of 4,825,350 pesos was delivered prior to the arrival of Japanese occupation forces. All but 150,000 pesos had been placed in circulation. The unissued notes remained in the Philippine National Bank vault until liberation when they were destroyed when the bank building was burned in March 1945.

Just prior to the Japanese arrival, three sacks of currency were taken from Nalco Press by Treasurer Encarnacion when he evacuated to the mountains. The currency amounted to 86,250 pesos in 5 Pesos notes serially numbered 341,851 to 359,100.

In July 1942 Encarnacion surrendered to the Japanese, turning over to them 26,250 pesos of the 5 Pesos notes. These were incinerated on Japanese orders. What happend to the other 60,000 pesos was never explained.

NEGROS ORIENTAL

PRE-SURRENDER ISSUE 1942

In December 1941 coins almost disappeared from circulation. The situation got so bad that Silliman University issued campus scrip to pay student employees and to make change at campus dining halls and bookstores. While valid only on campus, such was the need for small change that it was readily accepted elsewhere. By the end of January 1942, small denominations of currency also became scarce.

On February 10, 1942 the Provincial Board adopted Resolution No. 124 which authorized the printing of couponized checks in the amount of 300,000 pesos to be charged against deposits of the Provincial Treasurer in the Bacolod branch of the Philippine National Bank. The Provincial Treasurer and auditor were assigned to see to the printing and issuance of the checks.

The checks were printed by Silliman University press, and have stamped facsimile signatures of Provincial Treasurer Vicente Avila and Provincial Auditor Nicolas Ybanez. A total of 50,900 pesos was issued.

MARCH 12, 1942 SPURIOUS ISSUE

A 20 Pesos note, Province of Negros Oriental, with a March 12, 1942 date is spurious. No such denomination was officially authorized or issued.

It is listed here not only to acquaint numismatists with its true status, but also as an example of the confusion caused by the numerous types and varieties of emergency currency being issued, which apparently resulted in an entirely bogus issue being accepted.

NEGROS ORIENTAL CURRENCY COMMITTEE ISSUE

While this would ostensibly appear to be a provincial issue, in actuality it was a military issue to finance the ambitions of one man - Lt. Col. Gabriel R. Gador.

At the outbreak of the war, Lt. Col. Gador commanded the 7th Military District (Negros island). In January 1942, Gador was transferred to the staff of Gen. Sharp in Mindanao. When Gen. Sharp surrendered, Gador escaped to Negros Oriental where he hid out in the mountains, scorning any involvement in the early struggle to organize guerrillas.

But as the guerrillas became better organized, Gador suddenly decided to take over. On January 27, 1943 he issued General Order No. 1 proclaiming himself to be the Commanding Officer of not only Negros, but of all the Visayan islands, with the rank of Major General. This only served to further disrupt attempts at guerrilla unification in Negros.

On May 14, 1943, General MacArthur appointed Maj. Jesus Villamor, who had previously arrived in Negros by submarine, as Commanding Officer of the 7th Military District. In order to set up a formal command structure, Villamor called a meeting at his headquarters of all the guerrilla leaders. Hoping to smooth unification, Villamor appointed Gador as his Executive Officer.

Gador's participation did not last long. When the Japanese landed a force near the headquarters area on June 26, Gador fled in the night.

Returning to his mountain hideout, Gador created his own Provincial Government of Negros Oriental, designating former Provincial Board member Albert Furbeyre as Acting Governor. This was apparently in defiance of President Quezon's appointment of Alfredo Montelibano as Governor of Free Negros. As Montelibano was printing currency, Gador deicded he would do the same.

On September 19, 1943 the Provincial Board of Gador's newly created government passed Resolutions No. 1 and 2 which (a) created a Negros Oriental Currency Committee and, (b) autorized it to issue 200,000 pesos in 5 Pesos notes.

The Currency Committee was composed of Acting Provincial Treasurer Jacinto Valente as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Auditor Nicasio Villarin and Acting Provincial Fiscal Vicente Paras as Members. They in turn met and passed Resolutions No. 1 and 2 which (a) fixed design and text of the new currency, and (b) delegated to Governor Furbeyre sole authority for printing and issuing it.

The notes were printed at Payabon, Municipality of Manjuyod, the location of Col. Gador's headquarters. Printing ceased and the government became defunct with the coup d'etat on December 8, 1943.

Acting Governor Furbeyre reported that "50,000 pesos more or less" had been printed, a rather vague figure. At any rate, 42,000 pesos were serially numbered. In 1944, the now defunct Currency Committee reported to Governor Montelibano an additional 23,000 pesos which were not numbered. On October 25, 1944, 22,500 pesos of this was incinerated. The remaining 500 pesos were marked Non-Negotiable, for Specimen Only and sent to Governor Montelibano as samples. Since notes without serial numbers have turned up, it would appear that not all of these were destroyed, and that some may have reached circulation.

ISLAND OF NEGROS

NEGROS EMERGENCY CURRENCY BOARD

At the time of the USAFFE surrender, Negros island was divided into five military sectors, each garrisoned by an infantry battalion. Two battalion commanders, Majors Salvador Abcede and Ernesto S. Mata, flatly refused to obey the surrender orders. Instead, they withdrew into the mountains and disbanded their units. The other three battalion commanders obeyed orders and surrendered, but the majority of their men didn't. They became an army of small guerrilla bands desperately in search of leadership.

In southern Negros Occidental the guerrilla groups united under command of Maj. Salvador Abcede, while those in the north united under Maj. Ernesto S. Mata. They made contact with Col. Peralta in Panay and affiliated with his IV Philippine Corps. Peralta designated their combined units as the 72nd Division with Abcede as Commanding Officer and Mata as Chief of Staff. Both were promoted to Lieutenant Colonel rank.

Silliman University Professor Henry Roy Bell suddenly found himself leader of a guerrilla movement. His former ROTC students had even posted notices in the lowland towns, report immediately to Mr. Bell in the mountains. Bell finally located an unsurrendered officer, Maj. Placido A. Ausejo, to take over military command while he devoted his efforts to organization, supply and civil affairs. As this area was dependent upon Mindanao for a large part of its food supply, they affiliated with the Mindanao-Sulu Command of Col. Fertig, who promptly sent 10,000 pesos in Mindanao currency to aid in their finance.

In northern Negros Oriental, Lt. Col. Gabriel Gador proclaimed himself supreme commander of all Negros with the assumed rank of Major General.

On the night of January 14, 1943, the submarine USS GUDGEON surfaced off Catmon Point and landed the first Penetration Party under command of Maj. Jesus Villamor whose mission was to set up an intelligence network in the Philippines.

Villamor's next step was to establish a civil government by appointing Alfredo Montelibano, former Mayor of Bacolod, as Governor of Free Negros. This appointment was confirmed by President Quezon on June 9, 1943 when he designated Montelibano Governor of the Province of Negros, consisting of Negros Occidental, Negros Oriental and the sub-province of Sequijor.

To finance the new government, Governor Montelibano borrowed 700,000 pesos from wealthy plantation owners until permission could be obtained from President Quezon to print emergency currency.

Since the Members of pre-surrencer currency committees were all in Japanese controlled cities, President Quezon on July 11, 1943 created the Negros Emergency Currency Board composed of the following officials of the newly organized government: Governor Alfredo Montelibano as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Treasurer Pedro Elizalde and Provincial Auditor Alfredo Benedicto as Members.

The Currency Board had not been authorized to print any currency, but Montelibano recommended: One hundred thousand monthly needs of Civil Government, fifty thousand monthly to be used for redemption of mutilated notes, and one million pesos for a revolving fund, army is asking one million monthly.

Quezon immediately approved the recommendations but stipulated the amount for the army as being subject to MacArthur's apparoval. Despite numerous requests, MacArthur would not commit any specifed amount. And after liberation MacArthur would deny any responsibility for redemption of currency on the grounds that he had not given his approval.

Printing got underway on September 18, 1943 in a secret location near Pagnatangan. Except for signature cuts and seals, all printing was done from standard metal type. On May 31, 1944 a second press was set up at Tolong. This press printed only 1 Peso notes (#S668-S671). Also, on June 1, 1944 Acting Provincial Auditor Nicasio Villarin replaced Benedicto as a Member of the Currency Board, but for the balance of 1944 all notes continued to be printed with Benedict's signature. The 1945 series has Villarin's signature.

Almost any type of paper available was used for printing. The greater portion of it was derived from commercially manufactured brown paper bags. The white paper used at Tolong was brought in by submarine.

Printing operations ended on May 8, 1945. By that time the astounding total of 40,128,539 pesos had been printed, of which all but 8,346,000 had been issued. Unissued notes were ordered destroyed.

There are several varieties of seals, used indiscriminately. There are also variations in the type set-up for dates. Numerous differernt clerks were employed in the task of initialing each note after it was printed. In giving serial numbers only those reported as having been issued are included, with mention where necessary of those reportedly detstroyed.

ALPHABETICAL/NUMERICAL DESIGNATIONS

Each note has a combined letter-number combination, such as A1, B4, E3 etc. Where possible serial #'s are given for each of these combinations; at times the printing was not consecutive and various letter-number combinations cannot be definitively separated.

The alphabetical/numerical series designation with respective serial # range is given in two methods, of which the following are examples:

a. Serial # 0001 to 200,000 B1-B4;

b. B1-B4 serial # 0001 to 200,000.

For example a., the B1-B4 series are not in consecutive order, but mixed. thus, serial # 0001 might well be B4 or B2.

For example b., the B1-B4 series groups were printed in equal quantity and in consecutive order. Thus B1 = serial # 0001 to 50,000; B2 = serial # 50,001 to 100,000; B3 = serial # 100,001 to 150,000; and B4 = serial # 150,001 to 200,000.

Free Negros Military Currency Committee

Bearer Checks on the Cebu Branch of the PNB.

These checks were issued by Pedro Elizalde in his official capacity as Agent for the Treasurer of the Philippines.

Prior to the Japanese invasion of Cebu, Elizalde was concurrently Acting Provincial Treasurer of Cebu, Agent for the Treasurer of the Philippines, and a Member of the Cebu Emergency Currency Board. As Agent he had been given authority by President Quezon to advance funds to the Army against deposits in the Cebu branch of the Philippine National Bank, even incurring overdrafts up to 200,000 pesos if necessary.

When the Japanese invaded Cebu, Treasurer Elizalde moved all of his official papers to the Municipality of Catmon where it was intended to relocate the provincial government. When Provincial Governor Hillario Abellana decided to discontinue governmental functions, Treasurer Elizalde left Cebu and moved to Cadiz, Negros Occidental.

At Cadiz, Elizalde issued checks to unsurrendered Army officers, under the authority he held as Agent for the Treasurer of the Philippines. As these checks were made out to individual officers, they required proper endorsement each time they changed hands.

In order for the checks to change hands more readily and to circulate as currency, Elizalde issued his remaining checks in round figures and made them payable to bearer. A total of 360,180 pesos was issued in checks in denominations from 10 to 5,000 Pesos. The quantity of each denomination is given in parentheses.

NOTE: Elizalde's support of the Negros guerrilla movements, from the very beginning, was recognized by Governor Montelibano who appointed him Acting Provincial Treasurer of the Free Negros government and a Member of the Negros Emergency Currency Board. Elizalde personally supervised printing of Free Negros emergency currency printed by this Board.

IV Philippine Corps

On May 9, 1942 Col. Roger Hillsman, commanding USAFFE forces in Negros, ordered all units to surrender. Only one of five battalions complied.

The unsurrendered rank and file began the guerrilla movements. At the urging of these groups both Abcede and Mata accepted command of guerrillas in southern and northern Negros.

Meanwhile, over in Panay, Col. Peralta was organizing a IV Philippine Corps. When Abcede and Mata affiliated their organizations with his, both were given promotions and their joint units were designated the 72nd Infantry.

On January 17, 1943 Gen. MacArthur authorized him to issue "a reasonable amount of military script." Peralta lost no time in passing on the good news and authorized Col. Abcede to issue 500,000 pesos in Negros. Later the amount was increased to 5,000,000 pesos.

In Special Order No. 11, dated March 2, 1943, Col. Abcede set up the Free Negros Military Currency Committee composed of Lt. Col. Ernesto S. Mata as Chairman, with Division Finance Officer Lt. Agustin Paraiso and Ass't. Div. Finance Officer Lt. Liberato Montañez as Members. The first notes printed bear the designation IV Philippine Corps, and were printed under the first authorization of 500,000 pesos.

Gen. MacArthur ordered Col. Peralta to dissolve his IV Philippine Corps and restrict his command to Panay. Peralta was a bit slower in disseminating this information, but Negros was finally informed. So the second printing, while issued under Peralta's 5,000,000 authorization, had the designation changed to 7th Military District.

Printing was ordered stopped by Maj. Jesus Villamor, who was appointed Commanding Officer of the 7th Military District by Gen. MacArthur. By then a total of 824,450 pesos had been printed, and all but 1,213 pesos put in circulation.

U.S. FORCES IN THE PHILIPPINES - LOCAL MILITARY

It was the original intention of the Negros #S724 was further designated: Negotiable within Free Kabankalan-Tolong-Dumaguete-Bais Area. Emergency Currency Board to print denominations as small as 1 Centavo. However, the urgent need for Stamped facsimile sign. of Lt. Col. Salvador Abcede, Commanding Officer of the 7th Military District. currency to finance both the Free Negros government and the military forces necessitated printing (Kabankalan was in the Central Negros Sector, the other three Municipalities in the South Negros Sector.) larger denominations. The smallest value printed was 1 Peso, and even these were in short supply.

Therefore, the Provincial Board of Free Negros authorized military units to print notes in fractional and 1 Peso denominations for local use. Units doing so were required to hold on deposit an equivalent value in what had become known as Montelibano money.

Just how many of the numerous military units issued notes under this authority may never be known, or for that matter, the denominations they issued. Many had a very limited circulation, and were later redeemed by the unit which issued them. We can give here only a brief mention of the major military units.

The overall command was, of course, the 7th Military District. Originally it was under command of Maj. Jesus Villamor, who was succeeded on July 23, 1943 by Lt. Col. Salvador Abcede.

The 7th Military District was in turn originally divided into four Sectors: The North Negros Sector, the Central Negros Sector, the East Negros Sector, and the South Negros Sector.

After the coup d'etat against Col. Gador by Lt. Col. Julian C. Aspilla on December 8, 1943 those units formerly under Gador were designated the Special District Headquarters Troops.

In June 1944 the North Negros Sector was further divided into two sectors designated Northwest Negros Sector and Northeast Negros Sector.

The major sectors were further divided into sub-sectors, with their respective command posts. Most of these were given alphabetical designations. For example, the Northwest Sector was divided into sub-sectors A, C, D, E and G. The Northeast Sector was divided into sub-sectors B, I, H, X. Sub-sectors of the other areas are not presently known.

The following local military issues are presently known.

NEUVA VIZCAYA

With the Japanese occupation of Manila on January 2, 1942 the provincial gobernments in Luzon could no longer obtain currency supplies.

On January 17, 1942 the Provincial Governor of Nueva Vizcaya received a message from President Quezon stating: Impossible to send you money... you are authorized to issue chips (chits).

In April, an Emergency Currency Board was formed, composed of Governor Demetrio Quirino as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Treasurer Rodrigo Acosta and Provincial Auditor Cirilo Torralba as Members.

Three denominations were produced by mimeograph, the signatures of Board Members being cut on the stencil. After some notes had been issued it was decided to apply an embossed seal as an anti-counterfeiting measure. Later printings had the seal embossed on the stencil.

A total of 45,098.20 pesos was issued. Printing ceased after the unconditional surrender of all USAFFE forces on May 7, 1942.

NOTE: In July 1943 the puppet Philippine Executive Commission authorized redemption of pre-surrender emergency notes, but specifically excluded any notes printed by mimeograph. Even though this excluded the notes of Nueva Vizcaya, Governor Quirino ordered them accepted for registration in the vain hope they would be included. Thus, many of these notes may be found countersigned in red pen on the face, or with a circular RECEIVED date stamp in purple on the back. Catalog values are for notes as originally issued. Countersigned notes are worth only about half as much.

PALAWAN

On May 24, 1942 Governor Gaudencio Abordo called a public meeting at Mentes which was attended by all available prominent citizens, the armed forces and government officials. A Resolution was unanimously adopted which stated that no officials or employees of Palawan shall surrender to the enemy.

Despite Japanese occupation of Puerto Princesa on May 18, 1942 the provincial government continued to function at Caramay. The various guerrilla groups which sprang up throughout Palawan were organized into the Palawan Special Battalion financed by the provincial government.

Up to late 1942 the provincial government was able to meet financial obligations by means of checks and postal money orders. But the scarcity of a circulating medium became so serious that on December 10, 1942 the Provincial Board adopted Resolution No. 53 which created a Currency Board with authorization to print 20,000 pesos in scirp to be exchanged for checks, warrants, and other papers of value.

The Resolution provided for notes of fractional and small denomination currency in specified amounts. Unfortunately the shortage of paper prevented its accomplishment. Subsequent Resolutions Nos. 5, 20 , and 22 in 1943 amended this provision by providing for substitution of 5 Pesos notes in place of smaller denominations. Even so, 19,640 pesos was the total issue.

On March 16, 1943 Resolution No. 24 authorized printing of an additional 50,000 pesos to be used by the provincial government to meet operational expenses. As before, fractional and 1 Peso denominations were planned, but the shortage of paper prevented them from being printed, and only 46,000 pesos were actually issued.

On May 3, 1943 the Provincial Board adopted Resolution No. 56 which authorized an additional 60,000 pesos to meet governmental expenses. This was made retroactive to April 30 which resulted in two different dates appearing on notes printed under this authorization. The shortage of paper prevented the printing of small denominations called for, and only 10 and 20 Pesos notes could be issued.

On May 1, 1944 Resolution No. 1 amended the previous Resolution to increase the authorized amount to such amounts as may be deemed necessary from time to time to meet operational expenses.

All currency printed under Resolutions No. 24 and No. 56, Series of 1943, and Resolution No. 1, Series of 1944, were to be charged against provincial funds deposited in the Philippine National Bank.

The Currency Committee was composed of Governor Gaudencio Abordo as Chairman, with Provincial Treasurer Pedro Cecilia and Provincial Auditor Angel Paguia as Members. On February 2, 1945 Auditor Paguia was captured by the Japanese. On February 19, Mauricio Reynosa was appointed temporary Auditor in his place.

All notes were handsigned by each Committee member, and in addition have the embossed seal of the provincial government. Printing ended on Fegruary 28, 1945 at which time a total of 343,088 pesos had been printed and 311,648 placed in circulation.

It was estimated that about 5,000 pesos of counterfeit notes were placed in circulation. the counterfeiters were arrested and held for trial until liberation.

Municipal Issues Under Provincial Authority

OFFICIAL REPORT:

Due to the shortage of printing materials such as paper, ink, etc., and the impending dangers of sending funds to the different municipalities and districts, the Provincial Board of Palawan, by Resolution No. 18, Series 1942, authorized the municipalities and districts to print local scrips in amounts as may be authorized by the Provincial Board for their operational expenses and to make available in scrips, too, funds allotted to them for relief work projects and such amounts to cover salaries of national and provincial officials and employees stationed in the different municipalities and districts as well as to far out guerrilla units.

Gaudencio Abordo, governor of Palawan, October 12, 1945.

Resolution No. 18, Series 1943, authorized Municipalities and Municipal Districts to issue notes authorized by competent authority. Resolutions passed by Municipal Councils constituted competent authority, thus all notes issued by authority of Municipal Councils were provincially authorized, and were so regarded by Governor Abordo. However, only those which specifically refer to provincial authority are included in this listing.

Agutaya

All notes were issued under authority of Resolution No. 18, Series 1943, of the Provincial Board. Unless otherwise stated, all notes have printed serial numbers. A total of 21,950.63 pesos were issued.

Only notes definitely confirmed are listed.

Brooke's Point

Chairman: Municipal District Treasurer Eduardo A. Villapa
Member: Municipal District Mayor Saturnino C. Moreno
Alternate and Member: Justice of the Peace Modesto Rodriguez
Member: District Surveyor Paulino Apostol

The original Currency Committee was composed of the Treasurer, Mayor and District Surveyor. Justice of the Peace Rodriguez, commander of the local guerrilla Bolo Battalion, originally served as an alternate because of the poor health of the Mayor, and sometimes signed notes on the Mayor's behalf. When Mayor Moreno died on September 16, 1944, Justice Rodriguez became a full member of the Committee.

Printing of the scrip was a one man operation done entirely by Treasurer Villapa under trying circumstances in what time he could spare from his regular duties as Treasurer and many additional duties (such as Procurement Officer for the Bolo Battalion and the Municipal District). Printing was done partly at his office, partly at his evacuation home some 17 km. distant, where he often printed far into the night. Due to the urgent need for notes almost as soon as authorization arrived, Villapa would stockpile notes which needed only the addition of the authority. This accounts for notes being dated earlier or later than the date of authorization, and also for the unissued remainders. While some stockpiled notes were signed in advance by one or both of the two Members, the final signature by Chairman Villapa was not affixed until notes were to be placed in circulation. All unissued remainders bearing any signature were destroyed, so while remainders do exist, they do not have signatures.

The scarcity of paper resulted in almost anything available being utilized - white bond paper, manila wrapping paper, brown paper bags, etc. Those notes described as being printed on cloth were printed on cloth-backed map paper from the Surveyor's office.

All notes were printed by typewriter and carbon paper, and were handsigned by Committee members. Backs have rubber stampings of Treasurer's office, and sometimes a hand with pointing finger. A total of 86,507.60 pesos was issued.

ROMBLON

The Province of Romblon designation on these notes no doubt refers to area of circulation rather than any provincial authority. There was no provincial government in Romblon even prior to the war. The provincial government had been abolished on June 8, 1941 by Commonwealth Act No. 581. To govern the province four Special Municipalities were created - Maghali, Romblon, Sibuyan and Tablas.

During the war, the province came under Tomas Confessor's government of Free Panay and Romblon (see Iloilo), and what government existed on a provincial level was under a Supervising Deputy Governor appointed by Gov. Confessor.

SAMAR

At the time of the USAFFE surrender, Samar was garrisoned by little more than three Constabulary Companies under Col. Theodore M. Cornell, Commanding Officer of the 9th Military District (Leyte and Samar). Col. Cornell surrendered on Leyte with perhaps 50 officers and 20 enlisted men. The rest of his commad, including the USAFFE foreces in Samar, took to the hills or returned home.

From unsurrendered Constabulary soldiers and civilian volunteers small guerrilla units were organized which eventually merged into four main groups.

In the Santa Rita-Zumarraga area in western Samar, former governor Pedro Arteche, with assumed rank of Brigadier General, set up his own separate state, even appointing ministers of Cabinet rank. He was captured by, or surrendered to, the Japanese in early 1944 and his state broke up.

Basey was under control of Capt. Luciana Abilia. His facsimile signature appears on the back of scrip issued by Basey for local circulation.

Balangiga, Guiuan, Salcedo and Pambujan Sur formed the Southern Samar Sector under command of Manuel Valley. Scrip issued by these four Municipalities would appear to be military issues, but in actuality were authorized by the respective Municipal Councils and circulated only in the Municipality where issued.

All the northern part of Samar was under command of Capt. Pedro V. Merritt, an unsurrendered Army officer. In December 1942 Merritt created a Military Currency Committee which issued 1 and 2 Pesos notes, backed up by Treasury checks, to provide a circulating medium.

In mid-1943 Merritt organized a military government. To support both his guerrilla organizations and the military government, the Free Samar Currency Committee was organized to print currency. Backing was one again Treasury checks.

On December 1, 1943, Merritt appointed a Free Samar Provincial Government which in turn created the Free Samar Currency Board which issued emergency currency. Notes printed by these three committees or boards circulated throughout all of Samar and were subsequently officially recognized and accepted for postwar redemption.

Currency authorized by the Free Samar Currency Committee and Board was printed by the Rev. Alejandro Froilan who personally carved the border cuts from hardwood. Printing ink and two cuts of the Commonwealth seal were obtained from the Printing Department of the puppet government in Manila, through the assistance of Mr. Serafin Marabut, an official in that government. Paper was obtained by commandeering all paper bags in stores and groceries, and also using official forms from municipal buildings.

In early 1944, the Japanese invaded Samar with large forces. Realizing that the currency being produced by Rev. Froilan was the backbone of guerrilla operations, the Japanese posted a 100,000 peso reward for his head. During all of 1944 the printing section under Rev. Froilan became a mobile operation, constantly moving from place to place to avoid capture by the Japanese.

The Samar guerrilla groups, hard pressed by the Japanese, finally agreed to unite under command of anyone designated by Gen. MacArthur. On October 4, 1944 MacArthur appointed Lt. Col. Charles M. Smith, then in Samar on an intelligence mission, as Commanding Officer of the Samar Area Command.

WWII EMERGENCY & GUERRILLA CURRENCY

INTRODUCTION

The outbreak of war in December 1941 brought about a vast increase in Philippine military and governmental expenditures. This in turn resulted in a critical shortage of coins and small denomination bank notes. The situation was further aggravated when Commonwealth President Manuel L. Quezon decreed an advance of three months' salary to all government employees. In effect this was a bonus, as all employees remaining at their posts were to receive their regular salary also.<

One of five semi-autonomous sub-provinces which, during WWII, comprised the Mountain Province.

Following the surrender on May 6, 1942 of all USAFFE forces, provincial officials of Mountain Province subsequently surrendered to the Japanese. In the remote sub-province of Apayao, the surrender orders were ignored. Deputy Governor Milton Ayochok assumed, for the duration of the emergency, authority to print emergency currency which President Quezon had previously given to the Mounta

The Japanese Tanaka Detachment landed at Aparri and Gonzaga on December 10, 1941 and occupied the capital, Tuguegarao, and its adjacent airfield on December 12.

Provincial Governor Marcelo Adduru hastily evacuated the entire provincial government to the municipality of Tuao where the provincial government continued to function despite its isolation. One of the major problems confronting it was in paying for necessary expenditures. The small amount of ready cash was quickly exhau

USAFFE CURRENCY BOARD

In order to provide cash to pay his soldiers and to purchase supplies, Capt. Pedro V. Merritt created the USAFFE (Samar) Currency Board composed of himself and Lt. Pedro M. Bautista, his Finance Officer. A total of 70,000 pesos in 1 and 2 Pesos notes was authorized; Treasury checks totaling 70,829.50 pesos were the backing for these notes.

The notes were, originally, mimeographed on postal money order forms obtained from 19 different post offices. Each money order form bore two sets of numbers: the post office number, and the serial number of the money order. By separating the money order forms into two portions, two notes could be printed with identical numbers. The smaller portion was used for 1 Peso notes, the larger portion for 2 Pesos notes. The money order forms came in two colors, pink for peso money orders, and yellow for dollar money orders.

When the available supply of money order forms was exhausted, an additional printing took place on manila paper.

This committee was officially dissolved on August 15, 1943, by which time 37,230 pesos had been printed.

FREE SAMAR CURRENCY COMMITTEE

The Free Samar Currency Committee was appointed by Capt. Pedro V. Merritt on July 5, 1943.

The Committee was composed of Deputy Military Governor Vicente A. Dira as Chairman, with Assistant Chief of Staff Lt. Pedro Bautista and Military Auditor Pedro Rama as Members.

A total of 428,900 pesos was authorized, and backing consisted of checks, money orders and vouchers borrowed from Municipal Treasurers. Final delivery from the press was on December 29, 1943, by which time 280,000 pesos of the authorized amount hand been printed.

FREE SAMAR CURRENCY BOARD

Administrative Order No. 4, issued by Maj. Pedro V. Merritt on December 1, 1943 appointed Gregorio B. Abogado as Governor of Free Samar, with instructions to form a civil government. The Provincial Government of Free Samar was formally organized on December 12. At the first meeting of the Provincial Board on December 14 a Free Samar Currency Board was appointed with authority to print 500,000 pesos.

The Currency Board was composed of Provincial Auditor Escolastico G. Chicano as Chairman, with Provincial Treasurer Mateo C. Taala and Provincial Fiscal Valeriano del Valle as Members.

In April, 1942 President Quezon had authorized the Province of Samar to print emergency currency up to the amount of the Province's unencumbered deposits in the Philippine National Bank, said deposits amounting to 1,300,000 pesos. A Currency Board was in fact created, consisting of the (then) Provincial Auditor, Treasurer and Fiscal, but the surrender of the USAFFE occurred before any notes could be printed. This authority was the basis for printing emergency currency by this, the third, board.

On April 20, 1944 the Provincial Board by Resolution No. 8 increased the authorized amount to 1,000,000 pesos. Later, by Resolution No. 9 the Provincial Board again increased the amount authorized by another 500,000 pesos. As this exceeded Presidential authorization by 200,000 pesos, the excess was to be charged to the U.S. Army for financing the Samar Combat Intelligence Unit organized per instructions of Gen. MacArthur.

Printing ceased on September 30, 1944, by which time 1,411,000 pesos had been printed.

SULU AND BRITISH NORTH BORNEO

The hereditary lands of the Sultanate of Sulu comprised all of British North Borneo and part of Sarawak. This was recognized by the British government through a treaty in 1880 under which a stipend of 5,000 pounds was paid annually to the Sultan of Sulu. This continued up to the death of Sultan Madji Mohammad Jamal-ul Kiram II on June 7, 1936 who left no direct heir. The resultant rivalry for the Sultanate by various factions led by Datus and Hajis was never resolved.

In March 1938 President Quezon appointed Datu Ombra Amilbangsa Governor of Sulu. In the November 1941 elections Sultan (courtesy title) Ombra was elected to the Philippine Senate. To fill the vacant office of Governor, President Quezon on December 4, 1941 appointed Maj. Alejandro Suarez Acting Governor and, concurrently, Inspector of Constabulary for the Province of Sulu.

On December 24, 1941 the Japanese Sakaguchi Detachment landed in Kaunayan, Jolo Island. Led by Maj. Suarez, the Jolo Constabulary unit inflicted heavy losses on the invaders before being forced to withdraw into the hills.

Maj. Suarez went to Zamboanga hoping to procure arms and supplies, but instead, was ordered to Lanao Province to serve on the Staff of Gen. Guy O. Fort, with a promotion to Lieutenant Colonel. He surrendered with Gen. Fort on May 30, 1942.

After escaping, on February 9, 1943 Col. Suarez assumed command of guerrilla forces in eastern Jolo, Siasi and Tawi Tawi, locating his headquarters in Bato Bato. These units became part of Col. Fertig's Mindanao-Sulu Command (later redesignated the 10th Military District) known as the 125th Division.

In the Jesselton area of British North Borneo, Dr. Albert I. N. Kwok had secretly organized an underground movement of Overseas Chinese. As trade between North Borneo and the Sulu Islands continued despite Japanese occupation, Dr. Kwok soon learned of the Sulu guerrillas. In April 1943 he visited Col. Suarez and was commissioned a lieutenant in the Mindanao-Sulu Command. Returning to North Borneo, he organized what became known as the Kinabalu Guerrillas.

The Overseas Chinese in North Borneo contributed generously to the Sulu guerrillas, sending quinine and other badly needed medicines as well as tens of thousands of dollars in British North Borneo currency. This currency circulated freely in Sulu, along with 20,000 pesos in Mindanao currency sent by Col. Fertig.

In mid-1943, intelligence agents sent by Gen. MacArthur arrived with radio transmitters and set up coast-watcher stations in the Sulu Islands and North Borneo. Their reports of Japanese shipping enabled U.S. submarines to take a heavy toll of Japanese shipping, and the area was considered of such importance that in February 1944 the Sulu Islands were separated from Col. Fertig's command by Gen. MacArthur who appointed Col. Suarez Commanding Officer of the Sulu Area Command.

FREE SULU PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT

One of the most important activities of the 125th Infantry was the establishment of a Free Sulu government. The Free Government was given the mission to procure and store food supplies and to print emergency currency to finance the activities of the military forces and the civil government of Sulu.

As far as is presently known, no currency was printed for the purpose of financing the Sulu guerrillas. It is quite possible that the currency referred to was the low denomination notes printed to provide small change.

Two such issues are known. Both were authorized by Colonel (and Acting Governor) Suarez, and were backed up by an equivalent amount of large denomination notes held in a special Trust Fund by the Finance Officer of the 125th Infantry Division. This Trust Fund was used to redeem the notes after the war.

ZAMBOANGA

ZAMBOANGA CITY ISSUES

This is one of twelve Cities in the Philippines. In population around 132,000, but in land area one of the largest Cities in the world as its Charter included a good portion of the Zamboanga peninsula, the island of Basilan, and numerous smaller islands. It was also the capital of Zamboanga Province.

In early 1942, the shortage of currency necessitated issuance of couponized checks. There were four simultaneous issues; two by banks, and one each by the city and province. That all were provincially authorized is evident from their common design, and that all have the embossed "Official Seal" of the Provincial "Treasury," although it is often barely discernible.

Printed uniface on white paper, made payable to "bearer" and void 90 days after the blue stamped date of issue, each note is perforated on the left edge which permitted separation from its counterfoil. Stamped dates range from February 5 to April 30, 1942.

The latter date is intriguing because the City was invaded by the Japanese on March 2, 1942. They occupied the harbor area, the Poblacion, and presumably also the banks where the couponized checks had to be presented for payment.

ZAMBOANGA PROVINCE ISSUE

Following the Japanese invasion of Zamboanga City on March 2, 1942, the provincial government was transferred to the Municipality of Dipolog in the northern part of the province.

A telegram from Gen. Roxas, Secretary to President Quezon, dated April 8, 1942 authorized the Provincial Treasurer to advance whatever funds were necessary for continued operation of local governments. Cash for this purpose was to be obtained from the Mindanao Emergency Currency Board if possible, but otherwise to be printed locally.

In early May 1942, the Provincial Board passed a Resolution creating a Currency Committee which was composed of Provincial Treasurer Lazaro J. Alfabeto as Chairman, with Acting Provincial Governor Felipe B. Azcuna and Acting Provincial Auditor Ireneo Barbasa as Members. This Committee functioned from May 21 to June 15, 1942.

Notes were printed by the Rev. Angel Soto on a small hand press. A total of 44,000 pesos was issued.

The Republic of Poland, formerly the Polish Peoples Republic, located in central Europe, has an area of 120,725 sq. mi. (312,677 sq. km.) and a population of 38.73 million. Capital: Warsaw. The economy is essentially agricultural, but industrial activity provides the products for foreign trade. Machinery, coal, coke, iron, steel and transport equipment are exported.

Poland is an ancient nation that was conceived near the middle of the 10th century. Its golden age occurred in the 16th century. During the following century, the strengthening of the gentry and internal disorders weakened the nation. In a series of agreements between 1772 and 1795, Russia, Prussia, and Austria partitioned Poland amongst themselves. Poland regained its independence in 1918 only to be overrun by Germany and the Soviet Union in World War II. It became a Soviet satellite state following the war, but its government was comparatively tolerant and progressive. Labor turmoil in 1980 led to the formation of the independent trade union "Solidarity" that over time became a political force and by 1990 had swept parliamentary elections and the presidency. A "shock therapy" program during the early 1990s enabled the country to transform its economy into one of the most robust in Central Europe, but Poland still faces the lingering challenges of high unemployment, underdeveloped and dilapidated infrastructure, and a poor rural underclass. Solidarity suffered a major defeat in the 2001 parliamentary elections when it failed to elect a single deputy to the lower house of Parliament, and the new leaders of the Solidarity Trade Union subsequently pledged to reduce the Trade Union's political role. Poland joined NATO in 1999 and the European Union in 2004. With its transformation to a democratic, market-oriented country largely completed, Poland is an increasingly active member of Euro-Atlantic organizations.

The Portuguese Republic, located in the western part of the Iberian Peninsula in southwestern Europe, has an area of 35,553 sq. mi. (91,905 sq. km.) and a population of 9.79 million. Capital: Lisbon. Portugal's economy is d on agriculture and a small but expanding industrial sector. Textiles, machinery, chemicals, wine and cork are exported.

Following its heyday as a global maritime power during the 15th and 16th centuries, Portugal lost much of its wealth and status with the destruction of Lisbon in a 1755 earthquake, occupation during the Napoleonic Wars, and the independence of its wealthiest colony of Brazil in 1822. A 1910 revolution deposed the monarchy; for most of the next six decades, repressive governments ran the country. In 1974, a left-wing military coup installed broad democratic reforms. The following year, Portugal granted independence to all of its African colonies. Portugal is a founding member of NATO and entered the EC (now the EU) in 1986.

Portuguese Guinea (now Guinea-Bissau), a former Portuguese province off the west coast of Africa bounded on the north by Senegal and on the east and southeast by Guinea, had an area of 13,948 sq. mi. (36,125 sq. km.). Capital: Bissau. The province exported peanuts, timber and beeswax.

Portuguese Guinea was discovered by Portuguese navigator Nuno Tristao in 1446. Trading rights in the area were granted to Cape Verde islanders but few prominent posts were established before 1851, and they were principally coastal installations. The chief export of this colony's early period was slaves for South America, a practice that adversely affected trade with the native people and retarded subjection of the interior. Territorial disputes with France delayed final demarcation of the colony's frontiers until 1905.

The African Party for the Independence of Guinea-Bissau was founded in 1956, and several years later began a guerrilla warfare that grew in effectiveness until 1974, when the rebels controlled most of the colony. Portugal's costly overseas wars in her African territories resulted in a military coup in Portugal in April 1974, that appreciably brightened the prospects for freedom for Guinea-Bissau. In August, 1974, the Lisbon government signed an agreement granting independence to Portuguese Guinea effective Sept. 10, 1974. The new republic took the name of Guinea-Bissau.

The Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the easternmost island of the Greater Antilles in the West Indies, has an area of 3,435 sq. mi. (9,104 sq. km.) and a population of 3.3 million. Capital: San Juan. The commonwealth has its own constitution and elects its own governor. Its people are citizens of the United States, liable to the draft - but not to federal taxation. The chief industries of Puerto Rico are manufacturing, agriculture, and tourism. Manufactured goods, cement, dairy and livestock products, sugar, rum, and coffee are exported, mainly to the United States.

Puerto Rico ("Rich Port") was discovered by Columbus who landed on the island and took possession for Spain on Oct. 19, 1493 - the only time Columbus set foot on the soil of what is now a possession of the United States. The first settlement, Caparra, was established by Ponce de Leon in 1508. The early years of the colony were not promising. Considerable gold was found, but the supply was soon exhausted. Efforts to enslave the Indians caused violent reprisals. Hurricanes destroyed crops and homes. French, Dutch, and English freebooters burned the towns. Puerto Rico remained a Spanish possession until 1898, when it was ceded to the United States following the Spanish-American War. Puerto Ricans were granted a measure of self-government and U.S. citizenship in 1917. Effective July 25, 1952, a Congressional resolution elevated Puerto Rico to the status of a free commonwealth associated with the United States.

Vieque (or Crab Island), located to the east of Puerto Rico, is the largest of the Commonwealth's major offshore islands. The others are Culebra, a naval station to the east, and Mona to the west.

The "Republic of" Rhodesia (never recognized by the British government and was referred to as Southern Rhodesia, now Zimbabwe) located in the east-central part of southern Africa, has an area of 150,804 sq. mi. (390,580 sq. km.) and a population of 9.9 million. Capital: Harare. The economy is d on agriculture and mining. Tobacco, sugar, asbestos, copper and chrome ore and coal are exported.

The Rhodesian area, the habitat of paleolithic man, contains extensive evidence of earlier civilizations, notably the world-famous ruins of Zimbabwe, a gold-trading center that flourished about the 14th or 15th century AD. The Portuguese of the 16th century were the first Europeans to attempt to develop south-central Africa, but it remained for Cecil Rhodes and the British South Africa Co. to open the hinterlands. Rhodes obtained a concession for mineral rights from local chiefs in 1888 and administered his African empire (named Southern Rhodesia in 1895) through the British South Africa Co. until 1923, when the British government annexed the area after the white settlers voted for existence as a separate entity, rather than for incorporation into the Union of South Africa.

From Sept. of 1953 through 1963 Southern Rhodesia was joined with the British protectorates of Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland into a multiracial federation. When the federation was dissolved at the end of 1963, Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland became the independent states of Zambia and Malawi.

Britain was prepared to grant independence to Southern Rhodesia but declined to do so when the politically dominant white Rhodesians refused to give assurances of representative government. In November 1965, the white minority government of Southern Rhodesia unilaterally declared Southern Rhodesia an independent dominion. The United Nations and the British Parliament both proclaimed this unilateral declaration of independence null and void. Following a conference in London in December 1979, the opposition government conceded and it was agreed that the British government should resume control. In 1970, the government proclaimed a republic, but this too received no recognition. In 1979, the government purported to change the name of the Colony to Zimbabwe Rhodesia, but again this was never recognized. A British governor soon returned to Southern Rhodesia. One of his first acts was to affirm the nullification of the purported declaration of independence. On April 18, 1980, pursuant to an act of the British Parliament, the colony of Southern Rhodesia became independent within the commonwealth as the Republic of Zimbabwe.

Romania, located in southeast Europe, has an area of 91,699 sq. mi. (237,500 sq. km.) and a population of 22.5 million. Capital: Bucharest. Machinery, foodstuffs, raw minerals and petroleum products are exported.

The principalities of Wallachia and Moldavia - for centuries under the suzerainty of the Turkish Ottoman Empire - secured their autonomy in 1856; they united in 1859 and a few years later adopted the new name of Romania. The country gained recognition of its independence in 1878. It joined the Allied Powers in World War I and acquired new territories - most notably Transylvania - following the conflict. In 1940, Romania allied with the Axis powers and participated in the 1941 German invasion of the USSR. Three years later, overrun by the Soviets, Romania signed an armistice. The post-war Soviet occupation led to the formation of a Communist "people's republic" in 1947 and the abdication of the king. The decades-long rule of dictator Nicolae Ceausescu, who took power in 1965, and his Securitate police state became increasingly oppressive and draconian through the 1980s. Ceausescu was overthrown and executed in late 1989. Former Communists dominated the government until 1996 when they were swept from power. Romania joined NATO in 2004 and the EU in 2007.

ROMANIAN OCCUPATION OF U.S.S.R. - WW II, TRANSNISTRIA REGION

On 22 June 1941, Romania declared war on the U.S.S.R. and Romanian troops fought alongside the Germans up to Stalingrad. A Romanian occupation area between the Dniestr and Bug Rivers called Transnistria was established in October 1941, and was used mainly as a dumping ground for Jews deported from Romania. Its center was the port of Odessa. A special issue of notes for use in Transnistria was made by the Romanian government. In 1944, the Russians recaptured Transnistria, advancing into Romania i

Russia, (formerly the central power of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and now of the Commonwealth of Independent States) occupying the northern part of Asia and the far eastern part of Europe, has an area of 17,075,200 sq. km. and a population of 140.7 million. Capital: Moscow. Exports include machinery, iron and steel, oil, timber and nonferrous metals.

Founded in the 12th century, the Principality of Muscovy, was able to emerge from over 200 years of Mongol domination (13th-15th centuries) and to gradually conquer and absorb surrounding principalities. In the early 17th century, a new Romanov Dynasty continued this policy of expansion across Siberia to the Pacific. Under Peter I (ruled 1682-1725), hegemony was extended to the Baltic Sea and the country was renamed the Russian Empire. During the 19th century, more territorial acquisitions were made in Europe and Asia. Defeat in the Russo-Japanese War of 1904-05 contributed to the Revolution of 1905, which resulted in the formation of a parliament and other reforms. Repeated devastating defeats of the Russian army in World War I led to widespread rioting in the major cities of the Russian Empire and to the overthrow in 1917 of the imperial household. The Communists under Vladimir Lenin seized power soon after and formed the USSR. The brutal rule of Iosif STALIN (1928-53) strengthened Communist rule and Russian dominance of the Soviet Union at a cost of tens of millions of lives. The Soviet economy and society stagnated in the following decades until General Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev (1985-91) introduced glasnost (openness) and perestroika (restructuring) in an attempt to modernize Communism, but his initiatives inadvertently released forces that by December 1991 splintered the USSR into Russia and 14 other independent republics. Since then, Russia has shifted its post-Soviet democratic ambitions in favor of a centralized semi-authoritarian state whose legitimacy is buttressed, in part, by carefully managed national elections, former President Putin's genuine popularity, and the prudent management of Russia's windfall energy wealth. Russia has severely disabled a Chechen rebel movement, although violence still occurs throughout the North Caucasus.

1919 ДЕНЕЖНЫЙ ЗНАКЪ Currency Tokens Issue

In May and October, 1919, Yudenich's White army made two unsuccessful attempts to penetrate from Estonia into Petrograd. His elegant notes come in three series - w/o prefix letter and w/А or Б before the serial #. The back of each note shows an uncrowned double eagle and the Peter the Great Monument.

Each note bears two signatures: Yudenich, commander in chief, general of infantry, and St. Lianozov, manager of finance department. Notes were offset printed in Stockholm, Sweden by Centraltryckeriet. Yudenich disbanded his army on Jan. 22, 1920.

1st Revolutionary Army of Insurgent Ukraine

Partisan overprints supposedly made on notes of the Denikin Armies by partisan leader N. Makhno at Gulyai-Pole in Ekaterinoslav Guberniya. It is also possible that Makhno could have made some overprint. for propaganda reasons while he was in exile in Paris. However, all examples on the market are bogus and in Unc. or nearly new condition. These began to appear in January 1980.

1918 Issue

These notes have always held a grim fascination for collectors because their issuers also ordered the murder of Czar Nicholas II and the entire imperial family on July 16, 1918 at the House of Special Purpose (home of merchant N. N. Ipatiev) in Ekaterinburg. A combined Czech Legion - White Army force captured the city July 24, 1918, ending the Urals Region Soviet.

St. Kitts (St. Christopher), a West Indian island located in the Leeward Islands southeast of Puerto Rico, is the principal component of a British associated state composed of the islands of St. Kitts, Nevis, and Anguilla. The associated state has an area of 104 sq. mi. (269 sq. km.) Capital: Basseterre, St. Kitts.

St. Kitts was discovered by Columbus in 1493 and was settled by Thomas Warner, an Englishman, in 1623. The island was ceded to the British by the Treaty of Utrecht, 1713. France protested British occupancy, and on three occasions between 1666 and 1782 seized the island and held it for short periods.

Saint Lucia, an independent island nation located in the Windward Islands of the West Indies between St. Vincent and Martinique, has an area of 616 sq. km. Capital: Castries.

The island, with its fine natural harbor at Castries, was contested between England and France throughout the 17th and early 18th centuries (changing possession 14 times); it was finally ceded to the UK in 1814. Even after the abolition of slavery on its plantations in 1834, Saint Lucia remained an agricultural island, dedicated to producing tropical commodity crops. Self-government was granted in 1967 and independence in 1979.

The State of St. Vincent, a British associated state located in the Windward Islands of the West Indies west of Barbados and south of St. Lucia, has an area of 150 sq. mi. (388 sq. km.). Capital: Kingstown.

St. Vincent was discovered by Columbus on Jan. 22, 1498, and was left undisturbed for more than a century. The British began colonization early in the 18th century, against bitter and prolonged Carib resistance. The island was taken by the French in 1779, but restored to the British in 1783, by the Treaty of Paris.

The Republic of San Marino, the oldest and smallest republic in the world, is located in north central Italy entirely surrounded by the Province of Emilia - Romagna. It has an area of 24 sq. mi. (62 sq. km.) Capital: San Marino.

According to tradition, San Marino was founded about 350 A.D. by a Christian stonecutter as a refuge against religious persecution. While gradually acquiring the institutions of an independent state, it avoided the factional fights of the middle ages and except for a brief period in fief to Cesare Borgia, retained its freedom despite attacks on its sovereignty by the Papacy, the lords of Rimini, Napoleon and Mussolini. In 1862 San Marino established a customs union with, and put itself under the protection of, Italy. A Communist - Socialist coalition controlled the government for 12 years after World War II. The Christian Democratic Party has been the core of government since 1957.

San Marino does not issue its own paper money although it has issued coins since 1864. The notes issued in 1976 are emergency small denomination issues prompted by a coin shortage. Similar pieces were issued in 1944 and 1966.

Scotland, a part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, consists of the northern part of the island of Great Britain. It has an area of 30,414 sq. mi. (78,772 sq. km.). Capital: Edinburgh. Principal industries are agriculture, fishing, manufacturing and ship-building.

In the 5th century, Scotland consisted of four kingdoms; that of the Picts, the Scots, Strathclyde, and Northumbria. The Scottish kingdom was united by Malcolm II (1005-34), but its ruler was forced to payo homage to the English crown in 1174. Scotland won independence under Robert Bruce at Bannockburn in 1314 and was ruled by the house of Stuart from 1371 to 1688. The personal union of the kingdoms of England and Scotland was achieved in 1603 by the accession of King James VI of Scotland as James I of England. Scotland was united with England by Parliamentary act in 1707.

Serbia, a former inland Balkan kingdom (now a federated republic with Montenegro) has an area of 34,116 sq. mi. (88,361 sq. km.) Capital: Belgrade.

The Kingdom of Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes was formed in 1918; its name was changed to Yugoslavia in 1929. Various paramilitary bands resisted Nazi Germany's occupation and division of Yugoslavia from 1941 to 1945, but fought each other and ethnic opponents as much as the invaders. The military and political movement headed by Josip Tito (Partisans) took full control of Yugoslavia when German and Croatian separatist forces were defeated in 1945. Although Communist, Tito's government and his successors (he died in 1980) managed to steer their own path between the Warsaw Pact nations and the West for the next four and a half decades. In 1989, Slobodan Milosevic became president of the Serbian Republic and his ultranationalist calls for Serbian domination led to the violent breakup of Yugoslavia along ethnic lines. In 1991, Croatia, Slovenia, and Macedonia declared independence, followed by Bosnia in 1992. The remaining republics of Serbia and Montenegro declared a new Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in April 1992 and under Milosevic's leadership, Serbia led various military campaigns to unite ethnic Serbs in neighboring republics into a "Greater Serbia." These actions led to Yugoslavia being ousted from the UN in 1992, but Serbia continued its - ultimately unsuccessful - campaign until signing the Dayton Peace Accords in 1995. Milosevic kept tight control over Serbia and eventually became president of the FRY in 1997. In 1998, an ethnic Albanian insurgency in the formerly autonomous Serbian province of Kosovo provoked a Serbian counterinsurgency campaign that resulted in massacres and massive expulsions of ethnic Albanians living in Kosovo. The Milosevic government's rejection of a proposed international settlement led to NATO's bombing of Serbia in the spring of 1999 and to the eventual withdrawal of Serbian military and police forces from Kosovo in June 1999. UNSC Resolution 1244 in June 1999 authorized the stationing of a NATO-led force (KFOR) in Kosovo to provide a safe and secure environment for the region's ethnic communities, created a UN interim Administration Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK) to foster self-governing institutions, and reserved the issue of Kosovo's final status for an unspecified date in the future. In 2001, UNMIK promulgated a constitutional framework that allowed Kosovo to establish institutions of self-government and led to Kosovo's first parliamentary election. FRY elections in September 2000 led to the ouster of Milosevic and installed Vojislav Kostunica as president. A broad coalition of democratic reformist parties known as DOS (the Democratic Opposition of Serbia) was subsequently elected to parliament in December 2000 and took control of the government. DOS arrested Milosevic in 2001 and allowed for him to be tried in The Hague for crimes against humanity. (Milosevic died in March 2006 before the completion of his trial.) In 2001, the country's suspension from the UN was lifted. In 2003, the FRY became Serbia and Montenegro, a loose federation of the two republics with a federal level parliament. Widespread violence predominantly targeting ethnic Serbs in Kosovo in March 2004 caused the international community to open negotiations on the future status of Kosovo in January 2006. In May 2006, Montenegro invoked its right to secede from the federation and - following a successful referendum - it declared itself an independent nation on 3 June 2006. Two days later, Serbia declared that it was the successor state to the union of Serbia and Montenegro. A new Serbian constitution was approved in October 2006 and adopted the following month. After 15 months of inconclusive negotiations mediated by the UN and four months of further inconclusive negotiations mediated by the US, EU, and Russia, on 17 February 2008, the UNMIK-administered province of Kosovo declared itself independent of Serbia.

Siam (now the Kingdom of Thailand), a constitutional monarchy located in the center of mainland southeast Asia between Burma and Laos, has an area of 198,457 sq. mi. (514,000 sq. km). Capital: Bangkok.

The history of Siam, the only country in south and southeast Asia that was never colonized by a European power, dates from the 6th century AD when tribes of the Thai stock migrated into the area from the Asiatic continent, a process that accelerated with the Mongol invasion of China in the 13th century. After 400 years of sporadic warfare with the neighboring Burmese, King Taksin won the last battle in 1767. He founded a new capital, Dhonburi, on the west bank of Chao Praya River. King Rama I moved the capital to Bangkok in 1782.

The Thai were introduced to the Western world by the Portuguese, who were followed by the Dutch, British and French. Rama III of the present ruling dynasty negotiated a treaty of friendship and commerce with Britain in 1826, and in 1896 the independece of the kingdom was guaranteed by an Anglo-French accord.

The Republic of Sierra Leone, a British Commonwealth nation located in western Africa between Guinea and Liberia, has an area of 71,740 sq. km. and a population of 6.29 million. Capital: Freetown. The economy is predominantly agricultural but mining contributes significantly to export revenues. Diamonds, iron ore, palm kernels, cocoa and coffee are exported.

Democracy is slowly being reestablished after the civil war from 1991 to 2002 that resulted in tens of thousands of deaths and the displacement of more than 2 million people (about one-third of the population). The military, which took over full responsibility for security following the departure of UN peacekeepers at the end of 2005, is increasingly developing as a guarantor of the country's stability. The armed forces remained on the sideline during the 2007 presidential election, but still look to the UN Integrated Office in Sierra Leone (UNIOSIL) - a civilian UN mission - to support efforts to consolidate peace. The new government's priorities include furthering development, creating jobs, and stamping out endemic corruption.

The Republic of Slovenia is bounded in the north by Austria, northeast by Hungary, southeast by Croatia and to the west by Italy. It has an area of 20,251 sq. km. and a population of 2.01 million. Capital: Ljubljana. The economy is d on electricity, minerals, forestry, agriculture and fishing. Small industries are being developed during privatization.

The Slovene lands were part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire until the latter's dissolution at the end of World War I. In 1918, the Slovenes joined the Serbs and Croats in forming a new multinational state, which was named Yugoslavia in 1929. After World War II, Slovenia became a republic of the renewed Yugoslavia, which though Communist, distanced itself from Moscow's rule. Dissatisfied with the exercise of power by the majority Serbs, the Slovenes succeeded in establishing their independence in 1991 after a short 10-day war. Historical ties to Western Europe, a strong economy, and a stable democracy have assisted in Slovenia's transformation to a modern state. Slovenia acceded to both NATO and the EU in the spring of 2004.

Somalia, the Somali Democratic Republic, comprising the former Italian Somaliland, is located on the coast of the eastern projection of the African continent commonly referred to as the Horn. It has an area of 178,201 sq. mi. (461,657 sq. km.) and a population of 11.53 million. Capitol Mogadishu. The economy is pastoral and agricultural. Livestock, bananas and hides are exported. The area of the British Somaliland Protectorate was known to the Egyptians at least 1,500 years B.C., and was occupied by the Arabs and Portuguese before British sea captains obtained trading and anchorage rights in 1827. The land of sandy clay and sporadic rainfall acquired a strategic importance with the opening of the Suez Canal in 1869. After negotiating treaties with the tribes, Britain declared the area a protectorate in 1888. Italy acquired Italian Somaliland in 1895 by purchase from the sultan of Zanzibar. Britain occupied Italian Somaliland in 1941 and administered it until April 1, 1950, when it was returned to Italy as a U.N. trusteeship. The British Somaliland protectorate became independent on June 26, 1960. Five days later it joined with Italian Somaliland to form the Somali Republic. The country was under a revolutionary military regime installed Oct. 21, 1969. After 11 years of civil war rebel forces fought their way into the capital. A. M. Muhammad became president in Aug. 1991 but interfactional fighting continued. A UN-sponsored truce was signed in March 1992 and a peace plan and pact was signed Jan. 15, 1993. The northern Somali National Movements (SNM) declared a secession of the northwestern Somaliland Republic on May 17, 1991 which is not recognized by the Somali Democratic Republic.

The Republic of South Africa, located at the southern tip of Africa, has an area, including the enclave of Walvis Bay, of 1,219,912 sq. km. and a population of 48.78 million. Capital: Administrative, Pretoria; Legislative, Cape Town; Judicial, Bloemfontein. Manufacturing, mining and agriculture are the principal industries. Exports include wool, diamonds, gold and metallic ores.

Dutch traders landed at the southern tip of modern day South Africa in 1652 and established a stopover point on the spice route between the Netherlands and the East, founding the city of Cape Town. After the British seized the Cape of Good Hope area in 1806, many of the Dutch settlers (the Boers) trekked north to found their own republics. The discovery of diamonds (1867) and gold (1886) spurred wealth and immigration and intensified the subjugation of the native inhabitants. The Boers resisted British encroachments but were defeated in the Boer War (1899-1902); however, the British and the Afrikaners, as the Boers became known, ruled together under the Union of South Africa. In 1948, the National Party was voted into power and instituted a policy of apartheid - the separate development of the races. The first multi-racial elections in 1994 brought an end to apartheid and ushered in black majority rule under the African National Congress (ANC). ANC infighting, which has grown in recent years, came to a head in September 2008 after President Thabo Mneki resigned. Kgalema Motlanthe, the party's General-Secretary, succeeded as interim president until general elections scheduled for 2009.

South African currency carries inscriptions in both Afrikaans and English.

The Republic of Korea, situated in northeastern Asia on the southern half of the Korean peninsula between North Korea and the Korean Strait, has an area of 38,025 sq. mi. (98,484 sq. km.) and a population of 44.61 million. Capital: Seoul. The economy is d on agriculture and textiles. Clothing, plywood and textile products are exported.

Japan replaced China as the predominant foreign influence in Korea in 1895 and annexed the peninsular country in 1910. Defeat in World War II brought an end to Japanese rule. U.S. troops entered Korea from the south and Soviet forces entered from the north. The Cairo Conference (1943) had established that Korea should be "free and independent." The Potsdam Conference (1945) set the 38th parallel as the line dividing the occupation forces of the United States and Russia. When Russia refused to permit a U.N. commission designated to supervise reunification elections to enter North Korea, an election was held in South Korea on May 10, 1948. By its determination, the Republic of Korea was inaugurated on Aug. 15, 1948.

Note: For Bank of Chosen notes issued in South Korea under the Allied occupation during the post WWII period 1945 to 1948 refer to Korea listings.

South Viet Nam (the former Republic of Viet Nam), located in Southeast Asia, bounded by North Viet Nam on the north (the former Democratic Republic of Viet Nam), Laos and Cambodia on the west, and the South China Sea on the east and south, had an area of 66,280 sq. mi. (171,665 sq. km.) and a population of 20 million. Capital: Saigon. The economy of the area was predominantly agricultural.

South Viet Nam, the direct successor to the French-dominated regime (also known as the State of Viet Nam), was created after the first Indochina War (between the French and the Viet-Minh) by the Geneva agreement of 1954 which divided Viet Nam at the 17th parallel of latitude.

The elections which would have reunified North and South Viet Nam in 1956 never took place, and the North restarted their war for unification of the country in 1959. In 1975, North Vietnamese forces overran the South reuniting the country under communist rule.

There followed a short period of co-existence of the two Vietnamese states, but the South was now governed by the North through the Peoples Revolutionary Government (PRG). On July 2, 1976, South and North Viet Nam joined to form the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF THE NATIONAL FRONT FOR THE LIBERATION OF SOUTH VIETNAM

1968 ND ISSUE

#R1-R8 were printed in the People's Republic of China for use in South Viet Name after liberation by the National Liberation Front. They were never issued, because they were captured during a joint US / South Viet Nam military operation into Cambodia. Except for #R1 and R2, relatively few survived in uncirculated condition. Their date was recently changed from 1963 to 1968 after a Chinese book described the notes as being printed in 1968. This indicates they were intended for the second money conversion in South View Nam, which never happened.

The Spanish State, forming the greater part of the Iberian Peninsula of southwest Europe, has an area of 504,782 sq. km. and a population of 40.5 million. Capital: Madrid. The economy is d on agriculture, industry and tourism. Machinery, fruit, vegetables and chemicals are exported.

Spain's powerful world empire of the 16th and 17th centuries ultimately yielded command of the seas to England. Subsequent failure to embrace the mercantile and industrial revolutions caused the country to fall behind Britain, France, and Germany in economic and political power. Spain remained neutral in World Wars I and II but suffered through a devastating civil war (1936-39). A peaceful transition to democracy following the death of dictator Francisco Franco in 1975, and rapid economic modernization (Spain joined the EU in 1986) gave Spain a dynamic and rapidly growing economy and made it a global champion of freedom and human rights. The government continues to battle the Basque Fatherland and Liberty (ETA) terrorist organization, but its major focus for the immediate future will be on measures to reverse the severe economic recession that started in mid-2008.

CIVIL WAR

With the end of the Spanish-American War (1898) and the loss of her empire, Spain drifted into chaotic times. Stung by their defeats in Cuba, the army blamed the socialists for what they considered to be mismanagement at home. Additional political complications were derived from the successful Russian Revolution which gave impetus to an already thriving socialist party and trade union movement. Finally, King Alfonso XIII committed the fatal mistake of encouraging a reckless general to star

Straits Settlements is a former British crown colony on the south and west coast of Malay Peninsula consisting of Malacca, Penang, Singapore, Labuan (Borneo), Cocos Island and Christmas Island. Cocos Island, Christmas Island and Labuan were placed under control of the Governor of Straits Settlements in 1886.

The colony was united under one government as a presidency of India in 1826, was incorporated under Bengal in 1830, and was removed from control of the Indian government and placed under direct British control in 1867. Japanese forces occupied the colony in 1941-45.

The Democratic Republic of the Sudan, was located in northeast Africa on the Red Sea between Egypt and Ethiopia, it had an area of 2,505,810 sq. km. and a population of 40.22 million. Capital: Khartoum. Agriculture and livestock raising are the chief occupations. Cotton, gum arabic and peanuts are exported. Military regimes favoring Islamic-oriented governments have dominated national politics since independence from the UK in 1956. Sudan was embroiled in two prolonged civil wars during most of the remainder of the 20th century. These conflicts were rooted in northern economic, political, and social domination of largely non-Muslim, non-Arab southern Sudanese. The first civil war ended in 1972 but broke out again in 1983. The second war and famine-related effects resulted in more than four million people displaced and, according to rebel estimates, more than two million deaths over a period of two decades. Peace talks gained momentum in 2002-04 with the signing of several accords. The final North/South Comprehensive Peace Agreement (CPA), signed in January 2005, granted the southern rebels autonomy for six years. After which, a referendum for independence is scheduled to be held. A separate conflict, which broke out in the western region of Darfur in 2003, has displaced nearly two million people and caused an estimated 200,000 to 400,000 deaths. The UN took command of the Darfur peacekeeping operation from the African Union on 31 December 2007. As of early 2009, peacekeeping troops were struggling to stabilize the situation, which has become increasingly regional in scope, and has brought instability to eastern Chad, and Sudanese incursions into the Central African Republic. Sudan also has faced large refugee influxes from neighboring countries, primarily Ethiopia and Chad. Armed conflict, poor transport infrastructure, and lack of government support have chronically obstructed the provision of humanitarian assistance to affected populations. After an election, the country voted to split, forming North Sudan and South Sudan in 2011.

The Kingdom of Sweden, a limited constitutional monarchy located in northern Europe between Norway and Finland, has an area of 449,964 sq. km. and a population of 9.04 million. Capital: Stockholm. Mining, lumbering and a specialized machine industry dominate the economy. Machinery, paper, iron and steel, motor vehicles and wood pulp are exported.

A military power during the 17th century, Sweden has not participated in any war in almost two centuries. An armed neutrality was preserved in both World Wars. Sweden's long-successful economic formula of a capitalist system interlarded with substantial welfare elements was challenged in the 1990s by high unemployment and in 2000-02 by the global economic downturn, but fiscal discipline over the past several years has allowed the country to weather economic vagaries. Sweden joined the EU in 1995, but the public rejected the introduction of the euro in a 2003 referendum.

The Swiss Confederation, located in central Europe north of Italy and south of Germany, has an area of 15,941 sq. mi. (41,290 sq. km.) and a population of 7.41 million. Capital: Berne. The economy centers about a well developed manufacturing industry, however the most important economic factor is services (banks and insurance).

Switzerland, the habitat of lake dwellers in prehistoric times, was peopled by the Celtic Helvetians when Julius Caesar made it a part of the Roman Empire in 58 BC. After the decline of Rome, Switzerland was invaded by Teutonic tribes who established small temporal holdings which, in the Middle Ages, became a federation of fiefs of the Holy Roman Empire. As a nation, Switzerland originated in 1291 when the districts of Nidwalden, Schwyz and Uri united to defeat Austria and attain independence as the Swiss Confederation. After acquiring new cantons in the 14th century, Switzerland was made independent from the Holy Roman Empire by the 1648 Treaty of Westphalia. The revolutionary armies of Napoleonic France occupied Switzerland and set up the Helvetian Republic, 1798-1803. After the fall of Napoleon, the Congress of Vienna, 1815, recognized the independence of Switzerland and guaranteed its neutrality. The Swiss Constitutions of 1848, 1874, and 1999 established a union modeled upon that of the United States.

MONETARY SYSTEM:

1 Franc (Franken) = 10 Batzen = 100 Centimes (Rappen)
Plural: Francs, Franchi or Franken.

The Kingdom of Thailand, a constitutional monarchy located in the center of mainland southeast Asia between Burma and Lao, has an area of 514,000 sq. km. and a population of 65.49 million. Capital: Bangkok. The economy is d on agriculture and mining. Rubber, rice, teakwood, tin and tungsten are exported.

A unified Thai kingdom was established in the mid-14th century. Known as Siam until 1939, Thailand is the only Southeast Asian country never to have been taken over by a European power. A bloodless revolution in 1932 led to a constitutional monarchy. In alliance with Japan during World War II, Thailand became a US treaty ally following the conflict. A military coup in September 2006 ousted then Prime Minister Thaksin Chinnawat. The interim government held elections in December 2007 that saw the pro-Thaksin People's Power Party (PPP) emerge at the head of a coalition government. The anti-Thaksin People's Alliance for Democracy (PAD) in May 2008 began street demonstrations against the new government, eventually occupying the prime minister's office in August. Clashes in October 2008 between PAD protesters blocking parliament and police resulted in the death of at least two people. The PAD occupied Bangkok's international airports briefly, ending their protests in early December 2008 following a court ruling that dissolved the ruling PPP and two other coalition parties for election violations. The Democrat Party then formed a new coalition government with the support of some of Thaksin's former political allies, and Abhist Wetchachiwa became prime minister. Since January 2004, thousands have been killed as separatists in Thailand's southern ethnic Malay-Muslim provinces increased the violence associated with their cause.

The Transnistria Moldavian Republic was formed in 1990, even before the separation of Moldavia from Russia. It has an area of 11,544 sq. mi. (29,900 sq. km). and a population of 700,000. Capital: Tiraspol.

The area was conquered from the Turks in the last half of the 18th Century, and in 1792 the capital city of Tiraspol was founded. After 1812, the area called Bessarabia (present Moldova and part of the Ukraine) became part of the Russian Empire. During the Russian Revolution, in 1918, the area was taken by Romanian troops, and in 1924 the Moldavian Autonomous SSR was formed on the left bank of the Dniester River. A Romanian occupation area between the Dniester and Bug Rivers called Transnistria was established in October 1941. Its center was the port of Odessa. A special issue of notes for use in Transnistria was made by the Romanian government. In 1944 the Russians recaptured Transnistria.

Once the Moldavian SSR declared independence in August 1991. Transnistria did not want to be a part of Moldavia. In 1992, Moldova tried to solve the issue militarily.

Transnistria has a president, parliament, army and police forces, but as yet is lacking international recognition.

The Republic of Trinidad and Tobago, a member of the British Commonwealth situated 11 km. off the coast of Venezuela, has an area of 5,128 sq. km. and a population of 1.23 million. Capital: Port-of-Spain. The Island of Trinidad contains the world's largest natural asphalt bog. Birds of Paradise live on little Tobago, the only place outside of their native New Guinea where they can be found in a wild state. Petroleum and petroleum products are the mainstay of the economy. Petroleum products, crude oil and sugar are exported.

First colonized by the Spanish, the islands came under British control in the early 19th century. The islands' sugar industry was hurt by the emancipation of the slaves in 1834. Manpower was replaced with the importation of contract laborers from India between 1845 and 1917, which boosted sugar production as well as the cocoa industry. The discovery of oil on Trinidad in 1910 added another important export. Independence was attained in 1962. The country is one of the most prosperous in the Caribbean thanks largely to petroleum and natural gas production and processing. Tourism, mostly in Tobago, is targeted for expansion and is growing.

Notes of the British Caribbean Territories circulated between 1950-1964.

The area of the North American continent currently controlled by the United States of America was originally inhabited by numerous groups of Indian tribes. Some of these groups settled in particular areas, creating permanent settlements, while others were nomadic, traveling great distances and living off the land.

English explorers John and Sebastian Cabot reached Nova Scotia in what is today Canada in 1497; in 1534 the French gained a foothold with the explorations of Jacques Cartier. In 1541 the Spanish explorer Coronado traversed the south central portion of the country in what was to become the states of New Mexico, Texas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. In 1542 another Spaniard, Juan Cabrillo navigated north from Mexico along the Pacific coastline to California. The Spanish set up the first permanent settlement of Europeans in North America at St. Augustine, Florida in 1565. In 1607 the English settled in Jamestown, Virginia, and in 1620 at Plymouth, Massachusetts. This was followed closely by Dutch settlements in Albany and New York in 1624, and in 1638 the Swedes arrived in Delaware. From their foothold in Canada, French explorers pushed inland through the Great Lakes. Jean Nicolet explored what was to become Wisconsin in 1634, and in 1673 explorers Marquette and Joliet reached Iowa. In the 1650s the Dutch won the Swedish lands, and in 1664 the English gained control of the Dutch lands, thus giving the English control all along the Atlantic Coast. The resulting thirteen British colonies; New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia formed the nucleus of what would become the United States of America.

From this point on tensions grew between the English, who could not expand westward from their settlements along the Atlantic Coast, and the French who had settled inland into the Ohio river valley. This dispute ended in 1763 after a war with the French loosing control of lands east of the Mississippi river. Manufacturing, textiles and other industry was developing at this time, and by 1775 about one-seventh of the world's production of raw iron came from the colonies. From 1771-1783 the war for American Independence was fought by the colonists against the English, and settled by the Peace of Paris in 1783. Americans gained control of lands south of the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes, and east of the Mississippi, with the exception of Florida which would remain under Spanish control until 1821. At the close of the war, the population was about 3 million, many of whom lived on self-sufficient family farms. Fishing, lumbering and the production of grains for export were becoming major economic endeavors. The newly independent states formed a loose confederation, but in 1787 approved the Constitution of the United States which is the framework for the goverment today. In 1789 it's first president, George Washington was elected, and the capitol was set up in New York City. In 1800 the capitol was moved to a planned city, Washington, D.C. where it remains.

Westward expansion was an inevitability as population grew. French territory west of the Mississippi, stretching to the northern Pacific was purchased in 1804 under the presidency of Thomas Jefferson, who then sent out Lewis and Clark on expedition of discovery. Spain granted independence to Mexico in 1821, which included lands which would become the states of California, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas. From 1836-1845 Texas was an independent republic, not joining the United States until 1845. Upon losing a war with the United States, Mexico ceded California (including most of Arizonia and New Mexico) to the United States in 1848. Gold was discovered in California that year, and western migration took off on overland wagon trains or around-the-horn sail and steam ships. Hawaii came under U.S. protection in 1851. As the country developed in the 19th century, the northern states increased in commerce and industry while the southern states developed a vast agricultural through the use of slave labor. Northern political and social threats to slavery lead twelve southern states to secede from the Union in 1860 forming the Confederate States of America. The ensuing Civil War lasted until 1865, at which time slavery was abolished and the States reunited.

In 1867 Alaska was purchased from Russia. The transcontinental railroad was completed in 1869. The central region of the country west of the Mississippi River and east of the Rocky Mountains was the last to be developed, beginning after the Civil War, with the establishment of cattle ranches and farms. Between 1870 and 1891 the nomadic Native American population clashed with settlers and federal troops. By 1891 the Native Americans were confined to reservations.

At the close of the 19th century the United States embarked on a colonial mission of its own, with advances into Cuba, Puerto Rico, Panama, Nicaragua and the Philippines. This resulted in the Spanish-American War which was quickly decided, ending Spanish colonial dominance, and signaling the rise of the United States as a world power. Slow to enter both World Wars of the 20th century, it was a major contributor to the conclusion of both, making it one of the major nations of the 20th century. As the Spanish Milled Dollar achieved widespread acceptance throughout the American colonial period, it was a natural choice on which to a national coinage system. The Spanish Milled Dollar had already been accorded legal tender status in several colonies, notably Massachusetts, Connecticut and Virginia and the others used it. Each colony had its own shilling exchange for a Spanish Milled Dollar ranging from 6 to 32 1/2 shillings. When the Continental Congress issued its first paper money to finance the revolution, the notes themselves promised to pay their face value in Spanish milled dollars or the Value thereof in Gold or Silver. The first quasi-official American coinage, the 1776 Continental Dollar, while not thus denominated, was struck in the size of the Spanish Milled Dollar.

While the denomination of One Dollar may have been a natural choice for a national monetary system, the problem of making change for that dollar was not. In 1782, Robert Morris, superintendent of Finance, proposed a coinage system d on a unit of 1/1440th part of a dollar which, he argued, would reconcile the different official values of the Spanish Milled Dollar in all the states. A year later, he submitted a series of copper and silver pattern coinage to Congress d on the basic unit of a quarter-grain of silver. The patterns are known to collectors today as the Nova Constellatio coinage. Other leading financiers saw the traditional division of the Spanish Milled Dollar into eight reales, or bits as they were familiarly known, as too unwieldy. Gouverneur Morris, assistant financier of the government then operating under the Articles of Confederation, proposed the simple solution of a decimal coinage ratio. With the support of Thomas Jefferson, who remarked, "The most easy ratio of multiplication and division is that of ten," and George Washington, who called it, "indispensably necessary," the decimal coinage proposal won out over more complicated plans. The dollar-decimal system was adopted on July 6, 1785, creating a silver dollar, with fractional coins, also in silver, in denominations of half (50¢), quarter (25¢), tenth (10¢) and twentieth (5¢) parts of a dollar, and copper pieces in denominations of 1/100th (1¢) and 1/200th (1/2¢) of a dollar.

Continental Currency: A total of 11 separate issues of paper currency were authorized by the Continental Congress to finance the war for American independence. The first issue was dated May 10, 1775, the date of the first session of the Continental Congress; the final issue was by Resolution of Jan. 14, 1779. In all, according to early American currency expert Eric P. Newman, a total of $241,552,780 worth of Continental Currency was issued.

Backed only by faith in the success of the Revolution, there was according to a Resolution of Congress a 40-to-1 devaluation by 1780, and in the end the bills were only redeemable at 1/100th of face value in interest-bearing bonds.

ISSUES OF THE STATES

COLONIAL CURRENCY:

The colonial governments, continually plagued by the shortage of coins and currency began slowly to issue notes, and by 1730 most were. These early issues are rare. The notes from the revolutionary period are more frequently encountered, and some were signed by the same men who signed the Declaration of Independence. The newly independent states, as well as the Continental Congress, issued currency during the later war years and during

The Oriental Republic of Uruguay (so called because of its location on the east bank of the Uruguay River) is situated on the Atlantic coast of South America between Argentina and Brazil. This most advanced of South American countries has an area of 176,220 sq. km. and a population of 3.48 million. Capital: Montevideo. Uruguay's chief economic asset is its rich, rolling grassy plains. Meat, wool, hides and skins are exported.

Montevideo, founded by the Spanish in 1726 as a military stronghold, soon took advantage of its natural harbor to become an important commercial center. Claimed by Argentina but annexed by Brazil in 1821, Uruguay declared its independence four years later and secured its freedom in 1828 after a three-year struggle. The administrations of President Jose Battle in the early 20th century established widespread political, social, and economic reforms that established a statist tradition. A violent Marxist urban guerrilla movement named the Tupamaros, launched in the late 1960s, led Uruguay's president to cede control of the government to the military in 1973. By year end, the rebels had been crushed, but the military continued to expand its hold over the government. Civilian rule was not restored until 1985. In 2004, the left-of-center Frente Amplio Coalition won national elections that effectively ended 170 years of political control previously held by the Colorado and Blanco parties. Uruguay's political and labor conditions are among the freest on the continent.

The Republic of Venezuela, located on the northern coast of South America between Colombia and Guyana, has an area of 912,050 sq. km. and a population of 26.41 million. Capital: Caracas. Petroleum and mining provide 90 percent of Venezuela's exports although they employ less than 2 percent of the work force. Coffee, grown on 60,000 plantations, is the chief crop.

Venezuela was one of three countries that emerged from the collapse of Gran Colombia in 1830 (the others being Ecuador and New Granada, which became Colombia). For most of the first half of the 20th century, Venezuela was ruled by generally benevolent military strongmen, who promoted the oil industry and allowed for some social reforms. Democratically elected governments have held sway since 1959. Hugo Chavez, president since 1999, seeks to implement his "21st Century Socialism," which purports to alleviate social ills while at the same time attacking globalization and undermining regional stability. Current concerns include: a weakening of democratic institutions, political polarization, a politicized military, drug-related violence along the Colombian border, increasing internal drug consumption, overdependence on the petroleum industry with its price fluctuations, and irresponsible mining operations that are endangering the rain forest and indigenous peoples.

The Socialist Republic of Viet Nam, located in Southeast Asia west of the South China Sea, has an area of 329,560 sq. km. and a population of 86.12 million. Capital: Hanoi. Agricultural products, saltwater fish, shellfish, coal, mineral ores and electronic products are exported.

The conquest of Viet Nam by France began in 1858 and was completed by 1884. It became part of French Indochina in 1887. Viet Nam declared independence after World War II, but France continued to rule until its 1954 defeat by communist forces under Ho Chi Minh. Under the Geneva Accords of 1954, Viet Nam was divided into the communist North and anti-communist South. The US and its allies' sent economic and military aid to South Viet Nam and the Soviety Union and its allies sent their aid to the North. The US and its allies were withdrawn following a cease-fire agreement in 1973. Two years later, North Vietnamese forces overran the South reuniting the country under Communist rule. Despite the return of peace, for over a decade the country experienced limited economic growth because of the communist leadership policies. However, since the enactment of Viet Nam's doi moi (renovation) policy in 1986, Vietnamese authorities have committed to increased economic liberalization and enacted structural reforms needed to modernize the economy and to produce more competitive, export-driven industries, which greatly reduced inflation and greatly increased economic growth.

VIET-MINH ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEES

1945 ND PROVISIONAL ISSUES

Beginning in 1945, various Viet-Minh administrative committees (provincial, city, village and military) hand-stamped notes of the Banque de l'Indochine and Nam Bo. These overstamps were intended to control the use of French issued notes within the Viet-Minh liberated zones. Nam Bo notes were overstamped to assure the people who were unfamiliar with them that these newly Democratic Republic notes were authentic. These overstamps appear on numerous French Indochina issues, particularly #48, 54, 55, 66, 67 and 73. They also appear on many Nam Bo issues, particularly #17 and 50. The overstamps are found in red, black and purple ink; some are handsigned by a local Viet-Minh official, and others are either stamp signed or not signed.

The Federal Republic of Yugoslavia is a Balkan country located on the east shore of the Adriatic Sea bordering Bosnia-Herzegovina and Croatia to the west, Hungary and Romania to the north, Bulgaria to the east, and Albania and Macedonia to the south. It has an area of 39,449 sq. mi. (102,173 sq. km.) and a population of 10.5 million. Capital: Belgrade. The chief industries are agriculture, mining, manufacturing and tourism. Machinery, nonferrous metals, meat and fabrics are exported.

The first South-Slavian State - Yugoslavia - was proclaimed on Dec. 1, 1918, after the union of the Kingdom of Serbia, Montenegro and the South Slav territories of Austria-Hungary; it then changed its official name from the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes to the Kingdom of Yugoslavia on Oct. 3, 1929. The Royal government of Yugoslavia attempted to remain neutral in World War II but, yielding to German pressure, aligned itself with the Axis powers in March of 1941; a few days later it was overthrown by a military-led coup and its neutrality reasserted. The Nazis occupied the country on April 17, and throughout the remaining years were resisted by a number of guerrilla armies, notably that of Marshal Josip Broz known as Tito. After the defeat of the Axis powers, a leftist coalition headed by Tito abolished the monarchy and, on Jan. 31, 1946, established a "People's Republic". Tito's rival General Draza Mihajlovic, who led the Chetniks against the Germans and Tito's forces, was arrested on March 13, 1946 and executed the following day after having been convicted by a partisan court.

The Federal Republic of Yugoslavia was composed of six autonomous republics: Serbia, Croatia, Slovenia, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Macedonia and Montenegro with two autonomous provinces within Serbia: Kosovo-Metohija and Vojvodina. The collapse of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia during 1991-92 has resulted in the autonomous republics of Croatia, Slovenia, Bosnia-Herzegovina and Macedonia declaring their respective independence.

The Federal Republic of Yugoslavia was proclaimed in 1992; it consists of the former Republics of Serbia and Montenegro.

The Republic of Zaïre (formerly the Congo Democratic Republic) located in the south-central part of Africa, has an area of 905,568 sq. mi. (2,345,409 sq. km.) and a population of 43.81 million. Capital: Kinshasa. The mineral-rich country produces copper, tin, diamonds, gold, zinc, cobalt and uranium.

In ancient times the territory comprising Zaïre was occupied by Negrito peoples (Pygmies) pushed into the mountains by Bantu and Nilotic invaders. The interior was first explored by the American correspondent Henry Stanley, who was subsequently commissioned by King Leopold II of Belgium to conclude development treaties with the local chiefs. The Berlin conference of 1885 awarded the area to Leopold, who administered and exploited it as his private property until it was annexed to Belgium in 1908. Following the eruption of bloody independence riots in 1959, Belgium granted the Belgian Congo independence as the Republic of the Congo on June 30, 1960. The Belgian Congo attained independence with the distinction of being the most ill-prepared country to ever undertake self-government. Without a single doctor, lawyer or engineer, with no organized unit capable of maintaining law and order, independence disintegrated into an orgy of anarchy. Provinces seceded. Intertribal warfare erupted. Belgian troops intervened to protect Belgian citizens from retributive massacre. By 1961, four groups were fighting for political dominance. The most serious threat to the viability of the country was posed by the secession of mineral-rich Katanga province on July 11, 1960.

After two and one-half years of sporadic warfare with a U.N. military force, Katanga's leaders capitulated, Jan. 14, 1963 and the rebellious province was partioned into three provinces. The nation officially changed its name to Zaïre on Oct. 27, 1971. In May 1997, the dictator was overthrown after a three-year rebellion. The country changed its name to the Democratic Republic of the Congo.
